

MANY DEAD IN BOAT DISASTER

Suddenly, when a mile out, a rainstorm broke and with it came a gust of wind out of the north-west. As the captain, Arthur Olson, who has sailed the lake 18 years, sought to head his boat into the wind, the passengers rushed to the port side, away from the driving rain. The boat tipped sharply and as the lake water rushed over the decks, turned over.

Children, candles and popcorn still clutched in their hands, fought to free themselves, but the weight of chairs and other encumbrances on deck held them under. Some were thrown free of the boat and many of these grabbed up belts and rafts as the steamer righted itself and sank until all but the roof of the upper structure was submerged.

Twenty-one bodies were recovered before the steamer was raised to be towed ashore. The others were found after the craft was brought to the surface.

Many are Saved.

The five members of the crew escaped and these, all experienced sailors, saved many from drowning by tossing life preservers and rafts to those in the water. The Favorite's two life boats also were unharmed and into these clambered a number of the survivors.

Leo Sobata, an army officer, whose hand was mangled, told of throwing four children into a boat. Sobata related his experience as his hand was being dismembered.

"I got four kids and a woman, the boat was full of water and we couldn't get any more in. A girl started hailing out with a straw hat. I was dizzy. When the Favorite went down she listed—and he swooned."

Opal Helton, 15, of Hugo, Okla., visiting in Chicago, dragged two little girls through a window and held them afloat until a member of the crew pulled them into a lifeboat.

"It was terrible. I wish I had gone down with the boat," Olson murmured as he watched his steamer being raised. At that instant a life guard reached into the first aft deck and dragged out a small boy.

"It's horrible—horrible, I tell you," the boat's master shouted. "I did the best I could—I tell you, man, it was terrible and I had only recently spent a lot of money improving the Favorite."

Boy Saves Father.

Sixteen-year-old George Holmes of Berwyn, Ill., saved his father and attempted to rescue his mother but she died from shock and heart disease. A mother of five children, Mrs. Gertrude Herndt, who also was aboard the Eastland when it capsized in the Chicago river, again escaped death on the Favorite.

Four members of her family, a married daughter, a granddaughter, nephew and sister-in-law, were drowned.

"I said to my husband when we boarded the boat, 'I don't like the looks of this—it has a tendency to lean to one side.' He said 'come on don't spoil the party.'"

The only one of the 27 victims not identified is the small girl, about 8. Authorities believe the child was Rose Polen, daughter of Mrs. Celia Polen, another of the victims. Mr. Polen, who established his wife's identity, was prostrated and unable to go to the morgue where the girl's body is held, but an uncle of the child partially established her identity.

GERMAN ZOOLAGIST PLANS PRESERVE FOR URE-OXEN

BERLIN. (AP)—A vast ure-ox preserve is planned by the German zoologist Dr. Lutz Heck, son of the director of the Berlin Zoological Garden. Dr. Heck has started negotiations with the provincial authorities of Hanover for an extensive area near Springe with this end in view.

This primeval animal is virtually extinct in the free state, the few remaining specimens being confined to various zoological gardens. A preserve, therefore, in which a number of ure-oxen will roam at large in one of the densest populated countries of Europe will prove a unique attraction, Dr. Heck believes.

As a plea for rain the natives of Angola, on the west coast of Africa, cut off a man's arm at the shoulder and plant it in the ground with the hand sticking up.

THE ORIGINAL DOLLAR-DAY STORE SATURDAY, JULY 30th REPEAT SALES

Require something besides the salesforce in the store. They are just one important part of the picture. They blaze the trail and keep it open. The actual merchandise is the thing that counts. Its quality, its real (not boasted) value, its good condition just as ordered—that is necessary to assure REPEAT SALES.

Another thing of vital importance to the people who patronize "The Women's Store" is not HOW MUCH they can get for a dollar, but HOW GOOD, how satisfactory. In our Dollar Day our patrons have recognized our ability to meet their many and various requirements with promptness, care and courtesy.
