At the Pine Tree

For the last times today, "The Great Gatsby," starring Lois Wilson, Warner Baxter, Nell Hamilton and others, concludes its appearance here. This is a wonderful photodrama of the Kentucky Hills and is one not to be overlooked.

On the stage tonight, the third Charleston dance contest will be presented. From the first two-seven winners have been selected and with the three chosen tonight, all ten will compete in the semi-finals next Friday night, August 12th to select the champions of Klamath Falls.

Interest in these contests has grown to a tense pitch during the past few days and from all indications the contest tonight is going to produce some fast-stepping Charlestoners, some new dancers that will be a surprise to the patrons, even better than those you have already witnessed and lest you forget—remember, that on Friday night, August 12th, when the selection of the champions of Klamath Falls will be made, the two young men who have caused no small amount of publicity to the readers of the News, will decide just which one is the best Charleston dancer.

This is to be a special dance prior to the contest and some ality stepping is going to be done between these two chaps, so don't miss it—for it will be a treat in itself. Be there and boost your favorites to win.

At the Liberty

Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, in a story of the Arizona desert, "Tracked By the Police," is being shown at the Liberty for the last times today. The supporting cast includes Jason Robards, Virginia Brown Faire, Tom Santschi, Nanette and others. This is the Rinty picture you have been waiting for! Greater than his greatest!

Jackie Coogan in "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut" will be the feature attraction for Tuesday and Wednesday.

In an air-tight glass case in the library of Jackie Coogan's home in Hollywood reposes a large lock of the golden hair known to men and children the world over. Jackie's bobbed hair has been a trade-mark worth more than its weight in gold, and when he grows to manhood he will have in addition to his memories a substantial memento of his babyhood.

When it was announced that Jackie's hair was to be cut in his new production, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut"—letters and telegrams from all over the world poured into the Coogan headquarters in Hollywood requesting a lock of his hair. To have obliged all of the souvenir hunters Jackie would have needed thousands of hair-cuts. The actual cutting of the most famous hair in the world will be seen at the Liberty theater, where the young star's new picture will be shown for the first time.
