

YANKEES HAVE BROWNS' GOAT

Babe Ruth Lashes Out 42nd Home Run; Now Two Up on Gehrig

(By the Associated Press) There have been many baseball hoodlums but that held by the New York Yankees over the hapless St. Louis Browns is one of the most effective on record. The Yankees and Browns have played 17 games this year and the St. Louis team has failed to break into a victory column once. The Hugmen took off the heavy side of a 10-6 score at Sportsman's Park yesterday.

Babe lashed out his 42nd home run of the season to become two up on Lou Gehrig.

Washington Slumps. Washington continued in its disastrous slump that has jolted the team from second to fourth place. The Senators fell before the Chicago White Sox, 4-0, and it was their thirteenth defeat in succession, barring one time game of 15 innings with Detroit.

After seven victories in a row, the Cleveland Indians bowed before the Boston Red Sox, 6-5 in a 11 inning game.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia, after having forged into second place in the American League flag race, strengthened their hold by dropping Detroit again, 3-5.

The National League attractions were rained out.

Fights Here September 5

Marine Rainieri

Marine Rainieri Has Appeared In Many Main Events on Coast

"Who has he fought?" That question, a pertinent and direct one, about Marine Rainieri, Great Falls, Mont., light heavyweight, who meets Hank Rykro, Tacoma light heavy in a 10-round main event Labor Day card here September 5, is answered today by Glen Le Baron, matchmaker, who has Rainieri's record on his finger tip.

Not including the boys he has met in a California invasion, or several fights in the east, including Chicago, Rainieri in the northwest has met Young Jack Dempsey, Lou Rollinger, Young Peter Jackson, Ted Frayne, Eddie Richards, Jack Roper, Harry Dillon, Ernie Owens, Frank Farmer, Joe Boyd, Nell Campbell and many others.

Rainieri, called Marine because he served with the marines in the World war, made a successful, eastern invasion. He was raised in Great Falls, Mont., developed a fine physique in the smelters and after displaying his fistic wares in Montana started out for the bigger time.

He is considered one of the most aggressive light heavies on the coast and is a great audience pleaser. Clean living, always a clean fighter, he is considered a credit to the fight game. He is married and has one child.

Rainieri will arrive here in time to train two days before the fight with Ryker. His manager wired Le Baron today that if Rainieri went over big that the big Marine could remain for several more cards if suitable opponents could be secured.

Although canned, Gene Robertson is back on big league mound duty again. You can't, it seems, keep a good can down.

"Statistics show 20 per cent of the population is one-eyed." Not including the N. Y. boxing commission.

"Paulino has a heart of oak," says his press agent. My, my, there's Jack Delaney rising to megaphone through a pair of battered knuckles. "The good senator has a head of the same material."

BILLY EVANS Says

Two Big Favorites. Looks very much like New York in the American and Chicago in the National for pennant honors at this stage of the race.

Neither of these two clubs has suffered a serious slump so far this year. Rival teams have kept plugging away, hoping some serious handicap would overtake the Yanks and the Cubs, but so far they have been disappointed. When the Yanks enjoying a 13-game lead and only 10 games to play, it would take more than an ordinary slump to jeopardize the club's chances. It would almost require a train wreck to wipe out such a commanding advantage.

While the lead of the Cubs was but six games with 45 to play, that margin should prove sufficient to put McCarthy's team over. However, there is at least an outside chance for one of the other three clubs in the running to go over.

Glory for Managers. If the Cubs go over, it will be more or less of a personal triumph for Manager Joe McCarthy.

As I have often said, a manager cannot get anywhere unless he has worth-while material. He cannot hold the bats of the opposition in check or make base hits for his team.

However, if the material is there, it is surprising how much more work certain managers can get out of the same aggregation of players than others. That is where the handling of men asserts itself.

A victory for the Chicago Cubs would be a genuine surprise but without a doubt a great stimulant for the games. Regardless of whether the Cubs win the pennant or not, I do not believe it is the best club in the league.

As a matter of fact, it is my opinion that pitching excepted, the three teams now trailing Chicago, are stronger combinations. The superior hurling of the Cub staff has been hard to offset.

In the spring it was my belief the National League race would be between Pittsburgh and New York with Chicago simply as a dark horse. It has proved a very lost as well as courageous one. The American League race lost much interest about the first of June. At that time the Chicago White Sox challenged the New York Yanks for the lead. A one game margin separated them.

New York proceeded to assert its class, won three of the first games and sent the Sox into a slump from which Schalk's club has never emerged. Since that time the American League race has simply been a procession, with the Yanks so far out in front they appear to be in another league.

Since the Yanks have been traveling at better than a 700 pace in winning 100 games, they are facing no difficult task to break the games won record in the American League.
