I WISH TO EXPRESS MY APPRECIATION

to the scores and scores of friends in Klamath County who supported me so loyally in this newspaper contest; also to the managers of the contest for their fair and square treatment; also to the telephone girls who were so patient about placing the hundreds of calls which I gave them during the two months of this contest.

I am happy as a queen with my new Essex Sedan and the members of my family are rejoicing with me. To all who have made it possible for me to win by giving me their subscriptions, I extend most sincere thanks.

Building of Old Mining Town Torn Down; Money Found

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 29. (AP.)—The wrecking of many of the old mining buildings in the old mining camp of Tascara is resulting in more profit to the wreckers than they anticipated. Valuable sums of money in gold and silver coins have been found hidden away in cracks and crevices in the walls of the old structures.

Public Pays $1239 To Educate Single Walla Walla Pupil

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 29. (AP.)—Education costs high in certain school districts of the state, the Columbia county school superintendent has discovered. Last year, according to a report on file, it cost the state $1239 to educate one pupil in the Baldwin school, Columbia county. This was because only one student attended classes during the school year.

The police commissioner of Detroit prescribes music as a cure for crime. Certainly, commissioner, if you can only get them to face it.

Once again the sound of the school bell is about to be heard over the land, and the young people of school and college—some cheerfully, some reluctantly—wend their way to the halls of learning. This plant has anticipated school-opening, and we are prepared to give Prompt Service—Send in the young folks' clothes and you will find that the price will be insignificant compared to the feeling of satisfaction you will have that the young folks are all neat and clean, spick and span for the first day of school.
