

Converts Shark, Man's Friend Into Friend That is Economic Boon

By MILTON BRONNER
KMA Service Writer
LONDON, Jan. 6.—Ripps the beginning of time, when man first ventured on the sea, the shark has been man's enemy. Now an American citizen of Czech origin, Dr. Alfred Ehrenreich, is going to make the shark work for man.

The more sharks that infest the seven seas, the happier will Dr. Ehrenreich be. And incidentally he thinks all men—and women—will be.

For, after long years of study of the shark and after many devices carefully patented, the doctor has found a way to make the shark about 95 per cent commercially valuable.

Many Uses
Here is what he proposes to get out of sharks. 1.—Ripps the leather from the hide, at the same time tough and pliable. 2.—Leather from the big intestine as fine as the finest chamol. 3.—Valuable oils from the shark liver.

Chemicals from the glands for use in tanning. 4.—Pigments from the gall. 5.—Dehydrated flesh which can be sold not only to the Chinese but also to the Hindus, who will not eat the flesh of mammals.

Shark fins preserved and finding a ready market in China, where they are valued as one of the greatest delicacies. 6.—Fertilizer from the refuse. 7.—Moreover this is not theory. It has already been put in practice in his factory at Carnarvon in West Australia, in whose waters millions of sharks are to be found.

Floating Factory
The other day I paid a visit to the Istar, lying in the East India docks. It used to be a private luxury yacht. It is now the only floating factory, tannery and chemical works in the world. I was shown a luxurious dining room and sumptuous bedrooms whose walls were lined with silk brocade. And from those rooms—bang into a factory with whirling machinery. Shortly the Istar is going to the waters of Ceylon and Australia, where sharks abound. It will be one of the busiest ships in the world.

It carries ten motor boats, each equipped with fifteen horsepower Diesel engines. Each boat is capable of holding five tons of sharks. Each boat's crew will put vast hempen nets in the shark-infested waters. Steel nets are no good because the fighting shark would bite through the steel with his powerful teeth and jaws.

Drowning Sharks
The soft hemp proves efficacious. The infuriated shark tries to go forward in the soft net. He only succeeds in entangling his gills—and drowns to death! If he doesn't, the crew hit him a blow on the nose with a small steel hammer and that puts an end to Mr. Shark.

When the haul is made, the sharks are brought back to the ship. Here an ingenious machine invented by Ehrenreich skins the hide off as easily as you would peel a banana. The hide is then immediately salted down and treated with chemicals. Heretofore it has always been difficult to employ the shark hide for many purposes because of its rough corrugated surface, which is also studded with little points of bone. Hence only shagreen, a rough leather, could be made. Under the Ehrenreich process all the rough places are removed and a smooth hide remains.

Rivals Other Leather
The Istar is equipped with all the machinery and vats necessary for tanning the shark leather which rivals for beauty and pliancy any made from cows or sheep. There are some which are just naturally spotted and from which beautiful "leopard coats" could be made.

There is a dye spraying machine there which makes beautiful colored leather. The big intestine is tanned and makes leather soft enough for gloves.

The liver is cut up and a wonderful quantity of oil is extracted and then deodorized. The flesh is cut up into strips and placed in huge aluminum pans which are shoved into a dehydrating plant. In a few hours a perfect dried meat is obtained. All the balance of the shark's carcass is chemically treated and when it comes out of various machines is ready for use as fertilizer.

The Istar can handle thirty tons of sharks per day. When a shark hide is torn the tear displays a very fine thin silky fibre. Dr. Ehrenreich says this fibre can be woven into a silk that will be a boon for the ladies—it will produce a ladderness silk stockings.

No Breeding Expenses
His brother said to me: "The possibilities are endless. Men who are engaged in the industry of converting cattle and sheep into meat, leather, glue and fertilizer always have to count that it is a very long and very expensive process to breed, rear, graze and ship cattle."

"There are the long years when they have to feed on vast grassy plains. There is the freight cost of shipping them to the stock yards."

"We have none of this expense. The shark just naturally breeds in the ocean and do their own feeding. The only expense we have is to catch them and that is easy. The supply of sharks in the southern ocean waters is seemingly endless."

ROY CALL USED CAR LOT MOVED
Announcement of the moving of the used car lot of Roy Call from Eighth and Pine to 727 Commercial street was made today. The cars will be located at the Call plant for the remainder of the winter months.

"With the return of spring and warm weather we will again find a suitable location for outdoors display," Walter Abbey, in charge, stated this morning.

Visited At Boise
Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Clark of 736 Upham street returned home yesterday from a motor trip to Boise, Idaho, where they spent the holidays at the home of Mrs. Clark's brother, William J. Libby.

Mrs. Knight Home
Mrs. C. R. Knight returned last night from Ogden, Utah, where she was called by the death of her mother, Mrs. Nye on December 23.

The U. S. Government and 32 Universities have also tested this remarkable light and have data as to its wonderful quality, efficiency and economy. Readers sending their name and address on a post card to V. M. Johnson, 161 North Union Ave., Portland, Ore., will learn full particulars as to wholesale prices and how to get one free by showing it to friends and neighbors. Mr. Johnson also wants men and women to act as distributors. Exclusive territory given.—adv.

Debates To Be Held
Debate teams of the Klamath county high school will vie with Ashland high representatives tonight both in Ashland and Klamath Falls. The subject will be: "Resolved, That Child Labor Amendment Should be Adopted to the Federal Constitution." One side of the debate will start at 7:30 o'clock in this city at the high school when Herbert Mumsell and Alexis Lyle will debate with the visitors from Ashland, Robert Clay and Helen Cofer will represent the local high at Ashland tonight.

Almost one-third of the deaths caused annually by fire occur in rural districts.

Mrs. Lindbergh Reaches Mexico City

Citizens of Mexico City displayed nearly as much enthusiasm over the arrival of Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh as they did a few days before over the arrival of her famous son. This photo shows the scene at Valbuena flying field when Mrs. Lindbergh landed. The big Ford plane that carried her is shown surrounded by cheering throngs in the foreground, and in front of it, are Mexican army escort planes.

Farm Lighting Problem Solved

Professor Finds New Oil Light That Excels Electric

Portland—An eminent professor in a leading scientific institute has completed a very interesting test on a most remarkable new white light for home use. The test shows that this wonder light is superior to electric, is cheaper than common oil light and is the closest to sunlight of any artificial light.

A leading eye specialist says this light is a boon to country people where poor lights are causing much damage to eyesight. The fuel used is common kerosene and the lamp is so simple and safe that a child can light it. It burns without odor or noise, no pumping up.

The U. S. Government and 32 Universities have also tested this remarkable light and have data as to its wonderful quality, efficiency and economy. Readers sending their name and address on a post card to V. M. Johnson, 161 North Union Ave., Portland, Ore., will learn full particulars as to wholesale prices and how to get one free by showing it to friends and neighbors. Mr. Johnson also wants men and women to act as distributors. Exclusive territory given.—adv.

4 times as big as SAN FRANCISCO

DUNLOP CITY

Throughout the world the productive Dunlop properties cover so vast an area that—if combined into one place—they would form a "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres.

WITH all its greatness, San Francisco occupies but 26,880 acres. "Dunlop City"—with over 100,000 acres—is more than four times as big!

And Dunlop City has grown for just one reason—the uniformly supreme quality of Dunlop Tires.

Great size brings great responsibilities. To protect the good name of "Dunlop City," every set of Dunlop Tires must be uniformly supreme.

The manufacturing advantages which Dunlop's great size have brought, make this quality possible—at lower prices than ever. You can expect more of Dunlops.
