

PICTURES TELL COMPLETE STORY OF RUTH SNYDER-JUDD GRAY MURDER CASE

Here is a picture story of the tragedy of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, from its beginning to its end.

1—Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, like to stay home evenings. Ruth, his wife, liked bright lights, music, dancing, crowds. She suffered boredom, while Snyder continued placidly unaware of it. 2—Ruth's boredom drove her to seek friends outside their own circle. In a New York restaurant she met Henry Judd Gray, a salesman. It was a "pick-up" meeting; the two became fascinated by one another, and soon were intimate. 3—Gray, like Snyder, had led an uneventful life. He lived in a suburban home with his wife and daughter, and though his job required him to travel a good deal he never was known to go out with other women.

4—Ruth Snyder fascinated him, however. It was not long before the two began making trips together over week-ends, usually by automobile. For a year and a half they continued this. Neither Albert nor Mrs. Gray, apparently, ever suspected the truth.

5—Caught in the toils of their mutual infatuation, the two plotted Snyder's death. The gray concealed himself in the Snyder home one night. Mrs. Snyder plied her husband with liquor; then, when he was asleep, she and Gray crept into his bedroom and killed him with a sash-wire and a loop of picture. Gray then bound Mrs. Snyder and gagged her, so that the crime would appear to be the work of burglars, and left the house. 6—The police speedily broke down Mrs. Snyder's story and the two were arrested. Each testified at the trial, and each blamed the other. Mrs. Snyder's claim that Gray killed Snyder over her protests was not believed by the jury. 7—The courts refused to grant their pleas for a new trial. Each slayer was adjudged sane. Governor Al Smith heard their final plea for clemency, which was based on the ground that, while sane, they had been rendered irresponsible by their mad infatuation for each other.

1ST SEMESTER CITY SCHOOLS NEARING CLOSE

Mothers of Beginners School Superintendent Asked to Notify City

With the beginning of the second semester in the Klamath Falls schools less than three weeks away, principals of the various schools are busily engaged in making surveys of possible enrollments on Monday morning, February sixth. Mothers of beginners are asked to have them ready for school that morning and to advise the principal of the school where they are to attend as soon as possible. "While the city schools are comfortably filled at this time, we feel confident that the increase to be experienced with the opening of the second semester can be handled nicely," City School Superintendent, J. Percy Wells, stated today. Semester tests throughout the city schools will start on Monday morning, January 23, and last throughout the entire week.

Life is puzzling. A rat is something a man spends half his time digging and the other half trying to keep out of.

ONE KILLED AS MINERS PARADE

The fight between the I. W. W. and the state police was precipitated yesterday when approximately 600 strikers who had gathered in the Walsenburg I. W. W. hall formed in the street to parade to the courthouse where the state industrial commission was in session hearing grievances of striking miners. When within a block of the court house, Louis N. Scherf, chief of the Colorado state police, stopped the two men who were leading the parade while Mayor John W. Pritchard, of Walsenburg, warned them that they were violating the city ordinance. In the second attempt to stop the march that Martinez stepped into the I. W. W. ranks and opened fire at Max Lordeman, state policeman. According to Scherf, when Lordeman, who was wounded, returned the fire the I. W. W.'s broke up and barricaded themselves in the I. W. W. headquarters. Soon afterwards Scherf stated, the miners started firing at state police from the second story window of the hall. Klements Chavez was shot and killed during the sniping and hardly had his body fallen from the second story window when his comrades carried him in.

MICHIGAN MAN HUNT STARTED

The Sing Sing death chamber issued a bold black warning to those who assembled there, "silence." The warning was not necessary as Mrs. Snyder, the first woman to be executed in the state in nearly 30 years, came through the door beneath the sign. The 29 newspapermen and seven physicians were silent. Mrs. Snyder wore a black dress with a tan smock as she walked 25 feet from her cell. One of her black stockings, the right, was rolled down. Immediately the black mask hid her face from the lookers-on and four minutes later she was pronounced dead. As soon as the body of the woman could be removed from the chair and the room, Gray was brought in, walking with two guards who barely touched his elbows. Gray was carefully groomed. He was described as referring to Mrs. Snyder in kindly terms.

ROTARY HEARS C. WALKER TO SERVE 5 YEARS

(Continued from page One) the motion is ruled on. Walker will not be taken to the state penitentiary and is out on a $5,000 bail.

This is the second time that Walker has heard a circuit judge pronounce a sentence on him. The first time he was sentenced to the state prison on a statutory charge. He served three years and was paroled, returning to the Klamath basin. GAME SCHEDULED. "DUNLOP CITY"

DUNLOP CITY Throughout the world, the productive Dunlop properties cover so vast an area that—if combined into one place—they would form a "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres

4 times as big as PITTSBURGH

THINK of all the great factories at Pittsburgh, Pa., and yet the 29,226 acres occupied by that city is only about a fourth the area of the productive properties occupied by Dunlop.

Great size proves great quality, Dunlop could never have grown to its present magnitude unless its tires had given outstanding value.

Greater size makes possible greater quality. Dunlop today is making far better tires than in all the 39 years since John Boyd Dunlop founded the pneumatic tire industry.

Until you put Dunlops on your car, you will miss something of economy, comfort and safety.
