START FUND FOR POOR MOVIE FOLK

Players Pledge Millions To Hungry Actors In Their Wills

Money to Be Paid Into Big General Fund When They Die

IT SEEMS to me that each age has its certain type of beauty. I think of the beauty of youth, radiant like the budding rose, then the beauty of maturity, the flower in bloom, and then there is old age, the flower withered; no doubt, but still possessing a quiet refinement and charm apart from that beauty of youth. We must always remember that beauty is not merely a physical condition, regularity of features and the other commonly accepted attributes. It is not something that vanity and primping can fashion.

Sometimes our elderly friends possess a charm far rarer than the vivacity of their lost youth. Life and the kindly way which they walked on with the years, have fashioned a look of beautiful character on their countenances. When you stop to think, don't you know just hundreds of such characters as this.

Delta Gamma Chapter to Meet

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 21.—At last the highly paid film celebrities have found a good and rapid way of spending their immense salary checks — after they die.

Millions of dollars have been pledged by leading members of the celluloid colony to the Motion Picture Relief Fund. But the money isn't to be paid over until the donors pass on to the next world. In other words, the movie leaders have altered their wills, adding the Motion Picture Relief Fund as a beneficiary.

Like Stage Fund. The stage, for years, has provided a means for aiding improvident players of the legitimate drama. From low on, poor and hungry movie actors also will be cared for as they should. The new plan, according to Joseph Schenk, who has headed the movement, will insure ample funds for the erection of hospitals in New York and Hollywood especially for the needy of the picture colony. In addition, there will be a surplus for charity to those who really deserve it. Headed by Joe Schenk, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Dolores Del Rio, D. W. Griffith, Norma Talmadge, Cecil B. DeMille and other big figures in the film world, the entire celluloid colony is lining up behind this movement.

Dolores Del Rio helped to start fund for improvident movie actors.

"I believe that more than $25,000,000 will be pledged by our legacy plan," declares Schenk. "Practically all of the production chiefs in Hollywood already have pledged a share of their estates and we are confident that the players who have not already done so will follow their executives within a very short time."

Mary and Dolores. The Motion Picture Relief Fund has been one of the closest interests of Mary Pickford and Dolores Del Rio for some months. Despite their activities before grinding cameras, both having just finished their latest films, they have worked hard to establish the fund. Both of them could often be seen visiting high executives of rival studios—with the idea of changing their wills. These actresses were wise in one respect. They approached the producers first, knowing that if they fell in line, the players would follow.

Minister Is Chairman. It is the sincere endeavor of the fund to obtain the novel will clause from every person in the industry who can afford to make such a specification," says Rev. Neal Dodd, chairman of the Hollywood branch of the organization. There is only one drawback. There are a lot of hungry actors in town and the life insurance rates are quite apt to be raised on those who change their wills.

Woodcraft Holds Its Installation

ON WEDNESDAY afternoon, January 18th, the neighbors of Woodcraft held an installation meeting. The following members were installed: Marie Davenport, guardian neighbor; Bertha Hult, advisor; Maud Shuey, magician; Grace M. Owen, clerk; Anna Hill, banker; Anne E. Roome, attendant; Ida Mochettez, captain of guards; Bernice Stitch, inter-sentinel; Mary Flanary, outer sentinel; Lillian Hayden, correspondent; Grace French, musician; Nell Bruner, Mary Bliss, Minnie Grizzle, managers; Sarah Smith, physician.

Mrs. R. D. Eller Has Hot Springs Bridge

MRS. R. D. ELLER presided as hostess on Wednesday to the members of the Hot Springs Bridge club. Luncheon at one o'clock was served at the individual tables which were prettily appointed with pastel shaded sweet peas. Mrs. Claud Davis was awarded the prize for high score at the end of the play.

Mrs. Nora Hagen of Portland, who is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Slater, was a special guest for the afternoon. On February first, the next regular meeting of the club members, Mrs. R. D. Browne of Hot Springs will preside as hostess.

Members of the club include: Mesdames C. B. Browne, R. D. Eller, Claud Davis, R. F. Durbin, Fred Dunbar, Glenn Jester, B. L. Hardenbrook, A. E. Whitman, E. G. Wisecarver, H. D. Lloyd Stewart, Jack Slater and R. E. Dewese.

Keep On Keepin' On

IF the day looks kind of gloomy
And your chances kind of slim,
If the situation's juzzlin'
And the situation's awful grim;
If perplexities keep pressin'
Till hope is nearly gone;
Just bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

Frettin' never wins a fight
And fumin' never pays;
There ain't no use in broodin'
In these pessimistic ways;
Smile just kind of cheerfully,
Though hope is nearly gone,
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

There ain't no use in growlin'
And grumblin' all the time,
When music's ringing everywhere
And everything's a rhyme,
Just keep on smiling cheerfully
If hope is nearly gone,
And bristle up and grit your teeth
And keep on keepin' on.

BOOKS THAT WE LEND AND LOSE

"I MUST gather up all the books I've borrowed," said a girl recently, "and return them to their owners. The trouble is, I've had most of them so long I don't know the people they variously belong to. I wish people would write their names in their books."

"I do and it doesn't do much good," I replied impatiently. "Well, I've made a New Year's resolution not to borrow any more books, she said. 'They're more nuisance than they're worth.'"

"You're right," said I. "I have made a New Year's resolution not to lend any. They're worth too much to lose."

A member of my family wrote a book in the spring. It has been one of the year's best sellers. I bought two copies at two dollars and a half apiece, for, contrary to popular belief, authors are not given their own books, nor members of their families. Now I have none, both copies are gone—their places in my book shelves are empty.

We were talking of Margaret Kennedy's new book, "Red Star in the Morning." I wished to refer to "The Constant Nymph," her former popular book, to make a comparison. Gosh! And I know not how many others.

I dare not look at my book shelves any more. Always I am discovering a new tragedy. What is to be done?

Miss Miller to Wed L. Deichman

MR. and Mrs. Alfred D. Miller of Centralia, Wash., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lorena Thompson Miller to Mr. Charles Leonard Deichman on Tuesday evening, February ninth at St. John's Episcopal church in Centralia. The bride-elect is well known in Klamath Falls where she formerly made her home and was a popular member of the younger set. Mr. and Mrs. Miller and daughter made their home in Hot Springs while in Klamath Falls. Mr. Deichman is a prominent young business man and a graduate of O. A. C.

Music Members to Meet Thursday Eve

BECAUSE of the illness of several of its members, the meeting of the Klamath County Music Teachers Association which was scheduled for last Thursday evening was postponed. The members will meet this coming Thursday evening at the studio of Mrs. Willard Johnson at 420 Main. The same program which was to have been carried out this past week will be given. All members are asked to attend.

Society to Meet

THE Helping Hand Society of Shasta View district will meet at the home of Mrs. Emma Wilson on Wednesday afternoon, January twenty-fifth. All members are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Elks Dance Wed. Evening at Temple

MEMBERS of the Elks lodge are looking forward with interest to the dancing party of next Wednesday evening, January twenty-fifth, to be held in Elks Temple for members of the order. The Jack Bowring orchestra will provide the dance music. This dance is one of a series which the members have planned for the late winter and spring months.

Annual Parents Night On Thursday Evening

MEMBERS of the Order of De Molay have completed plans for the entertainment of parents on next Thursday evening, known as annual parents night. Each member of the local chapter of De Molay is urged to bring his parents. A program has been outlined for the evening.

Costume Party at The Miller Home

THE JOLLY NEIGHBORS club is looking forward with interest to the hard time costume party which will be given at the attractive new home of Mrs. C. W. Miller on Wednesday afternoon, February first. Guests will come in costume and a judge will preside at the door. Awards will be made.

'Anger' to be Subject At Meeting Friday

"ANGER" will be discussed by the pre-school study group of the American Association of University Women on next Friday afternoon, January twenty-seventh at the home of Mrs. Hal H. Ogil on North Tenth street. Mrs. A. R. Dickson will lead the meeting and Mrs. F. M. Glog will give a special talk on children's books and stories. A special shelf has been prepared at the city library for the use of this group and all members and others interested in its work are urged to look over the material placed at their disposal.

Bridge Party Told. Mass Meeting to Be Held Tuesday

ANOTHER outstanding social event which marks the calendar for this month is the card party over which the Eastern Star Social club will preside on Tuesday evening, January thirty-one, at the Masonic temple. It is planned to have at least thirty tables in play.

Methodist Ladies To Meet Thursday

MEMBERS of the Methodist Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. T. R. Skillington on North Tenth on next Thursday afternoon for the regular monthly meeting. The meeting has been announced for 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Edna Frank Wemett, Earl Templar and Mrs. T. R. Skillington will preside as hostesses for the afternoon.

Bridge Afternoon At Parish House

ONE of the most delightful bridge afternoons of the winter months was that of last Saturday, when the Wednesday Club of St. Paul's Episcopal church were hostesses at the Parish house. More than one hundred guests attended throughout the afternoon hours. At the close of the play awards were made to Mesdames Joseph Shirk, Edward Pike and M. Powers. During the afternoon twenty-three tables were in play.

The Parish house was beautifully decorated with orchid and pink blossoms intermingled with poited ferns.

Mrs. Walter B. Penwarden and Mrs. Samuel P. Miller received the guests.

Among the social matrons who reserved tables for the afternoon were Mesdames Harry Poole, B. Hardenbrook, C. I. Reckard, H. W. Bathiany, Paul Sharp, G. Cozad, Harry Hill, Linas Brewer, George Myers, J. Andrew Towey, Emil Dreher, H. A. Runde, David R. Vandenberg, L. Ash, Thomas Watters, John Boyle, Leslie Rogers, J. Redden, J. Reed, E. D. Lamb, W. Sanders, E. H. Lawrence and Miss Pearl Blehn.

Dr. and Mrs. Dietsche Entertained Jan. 15th

ON SUNDAY evening Dr. and Mrs. E. Dietsche again proved themselves delightful hosts when they entertained at their home on Jefferson with dancing and music. At midnight a buffet luncheon was served. The rooms of lower floor of the Dietsche home were attractively decorated with flowers and ferns. The lights were shaded with pastel shaded lanterns. The guests for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Runde, Dr. and Mrs. Paul McKinley Noel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knowles, Mrs. Edna Mae Lyons, Miss Francis Clarke, Mr. L. Lowe, Mr. Richard Hovey of San Francisco and the host and hostess.

Following the regular lodge session and initiation, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Jones will preside as host and hostess to the members with a banquet in the banquet room.

Mrs. Robert E. Wattenburr, newly elected worthy matron will preside over the first initiation since taking office. All members of the Eastern Star are most cordially invited.

Lavene McCollum Has Birthday Party

A DELIGHTFUL birthday party of the week was that of Tuesday afternoon, January seventeenth, when Mrs. George McCollum of Crescent Avenue invited a coterie of little ones in to spend the afternoon with her daughter, Lavene, who had reached the age of six years. During the afternoon the children played games and at the hour of four o'clock, Mrs. McCollum served dainty refreshments. The birthday table was prettily centered with a birthday cake with six lighted tapers. A color scheme of pink and white was used throughout the rooms. The guests included: Helen, Mary Audrey and Tommy Radcliffe, Nancy Gammon, Jean Dixon, Dorothy Teed, Eleanor and Richard Collier, Melvin McCollum and the honor guest, Lavene.

Bridge Afternoon February Seventh

A SOCIAL event which marks the social calendar for Tuesday afternoon, February seventh is the bridge which members of St. Mary's Altar society have planned. The affair will be held in the library with close to fifty tables in play.

Mesdames B. Hardenbrook, R. E. Dewese, Byron Noud and Leon Crawford will act as hostesses for the afternoon. Mrs. H. A. Runde is general chairman. Mrs. Joseph Shirk has been appointed chairman of the refreshment committee.

Reservations for the bridge can be made through calling Mrs. Runde at her residence, phone 1262.

Informal Evening At Holloway Home

IN COURTESY to the members of the First Presbyterian choir, Mrs. Bert Holloway, Miss Francis Beatty and Miss Ruth Miner presided as hostesses over a prettily appointed party on Wednesday evening at the Holloway home on Crescent. At the close of the social evening light refreshments were served. The guests numbered thirty-five.

Luncheon Today At Linkhaven

MEMBERS of the American Association of University met at Linkhaven today for the regular monthly gathering. The members first enjoyed a prettily appointed luncheon at one o'clock after which the brief business session was held. The Child Study group had charge of the program as follows: "The Retarded Child" by Mrs. Myrtle Helm; Mrs. E. T. Hunter sang a group of children's songs; "Basis of Emotion" was the interesting topic of Mrs. T. D. Case. Mrs. Hal Ogil gave an outline of the work of the pre-school child study group.

Bridge Afternoons At Sanders Home

TWO of the most delightful bridge affairs of the week were those of Thursday afternoon and evening at the Sanders home on North Ninth, when Mrs. Herman Foster and Mrs. W. L. Sanders presided as joint hostesses. Both afternoon and evening found seven tables in play. At the close of the afternoon play Mrs. J. Harden Carter held high score; Mrs. H. W. Bathiany second, and Mrs. E. M. O'Neil consolation.

The evening play found Mrs. Fred Dunbar holding high score at the close of the play; Mrs. C. H. Browne received second high score while the consolation was awarded Mrs. E. B. Hardenbrook.

Early spring blooming plants and ferns artistically arranged about the rooms carried out an attractive decoration. Refreshments were served at the daintily appointed individual tables.

Invitations were issued to ninety of the social set.
