

HUGH JENNINGS IS NEAR DEATH

Famous Baseball Star and Manager Chats Cheerily With Relatives

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 31. (AP)—There was no change noted in the condition of Hugh Jennings, famous figure of the baseball diamond. He spent a restful night, but his general condition was not changed and is still very grave, said a bulletin issued by the four attending physicians.

Jennings has been conscious much of the last 15 hours and chatted with physicians and relatives at the bedside briefly. He seemed cheered by a cablegram received last night from his old friend and team mate John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, who is in Cuba, Jennings and McGraw played with the Baltimore Orioles in 1914.

German Runner Is Annoyed at Yankee Delay

Chicago, Jan. 31. (AP)—Dr. Peltzer, the German runner, is annoyed at the delay in the foreign relations committee of the amateur athletic union in granting him permission to compete on American track meets during his present stay.

"Their actions are a puzzle to me," Dr. Peltzer said last night after a workout on the indoor track of the University of Chicago.

"I have agreed to all the rules of the A. A. U. and the chairman of the foreign relations committee is to handle all of my expenses, to be paid by the three clubs where I run. I cannot believe there will be any difficulty in the committee's sanctioning my petition to run in this country."

Dr. Peltzer was bound for New York today to meet the committee.

Jack Dempsey Expects Better Luck From Horses This Time

By NEA Service

TIA JUANA, Mex., Jan. 31.—In addition to being a rather well known ring figure, a prosperous hotel owner, a Hollywood social personage and a nice young fellow, Jack Dempsey is ambitious to become a big horse man on the track.

Several years ago he started the organization of a racing stable on a small scale but his luck wasn't so good and he cleaned out the stalls and started over again.

One of the most promising youngsters in his stable now—and a classy looking one—is a two-year-old by Wildair-Joyce that is being trained by Johnny Coburn. And his name is—Jack Dempsey.

SPORTSMATTER

By Frank Getty
(United Press Sports Editor)

Tony Canzoneri, a bouncing young spaghetti-eater from the wilds of Brooklyn, has an excellent chance of winning undisputed possession of the world's featherweight championship tomorrow night.

The chubby little Italian's opponent in Madison Square Garden will be Benny Bass of Philadelphia, who reached the top of the division by disposing of "Red" Chapman of Boston.

Canzoneri is a spickety youngster, utterly lacking in punching power, but a fast and fairly skillful boxer. Bass is the better hitter of the two, but Tony is the cleverer, and this is likely to count with the judges in New York.

Bass is recognized by the National Boxing Association as king of the 126-pounders. Canzoneri, who recently grew out of the bantamweight division on a diet of spaghetti and "red ink," defeated Johnny Dundee last year and consequently claimed the title.

It did seem a bit far-fetched to maintain that Johnny, because he retired undefeated, from the featherweight ranks, remained champion of the division. Dundee is a natural featherweight at the moment, but he boiled and baked himself down to 126 pounds for Canzoneri. In order to make the affair take on the semblance of a championship bout, it turned out to be a farce, since Johnny was too weak at the weight to do more than defend himself. Canzoneri punched until his arms were weary, but he couldn't put the old man away.

It is one of the minor tragedies of the ring that Johnny Dundee finds it necessary to go on fighting. They do not make them any gamer, nor much cleverer, than the "Scotch Wop."

Johnny has taken part in more than 300 ring battles. He gave Benny Leonard several tough fights when that consistent young business man was lightweight champion. He has fought bantamweights and welterweights, a range of 30 pounds. He has made several hundred thousands of dollars with his fists.

Yet Dundee is not well-to-do. Horse racing took a lot of his earnings, although Johnny himself is not overaddicted to gambling.

Fighters today are better advanced than those of a previous generation.

Nowadays, you find youngsters seeking their earnings into glit-e-dged securities with the same vigor that they apply to seeking their opponents.

The featherweight division has been in an uncertain state since Lou Kid Kaplan retired, also undefeated.

Plugging the proper successor to the Meriden Kid proved too much of a task for the New York State Athletic Association. Finally, the National Boxing Association.

At The Orpheus

The Orpheus theatre, this week presents one of the most fascinating, thrilling and interesting pictures it has been our pleasure to see in many a day. "The Cat and the Canary" adds another success to the list of Universal Special Productions, produced in the past year.

The story was taken from the famous stage success of the same name, by John Willard. It concerns the adventures of a group of six people who are gathered together in an abandoned country mansion, at the hour of midnight. They had been brought there by the reading of a will left by a wealthy reclusive. The attorney reveals that the testament names Annabelle Wray, played by Laura La Plante, as the chief legatee.

GARDNER SAYS HIS GOLF FORM IN POOR SHAPE

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. (AP)—Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, four times captain of the American Walker golf cup team, says his game is so poor that he does not even expect to get on this year's team, to say nothing of the captaincy.

He said he believed Bobby Jones of Atlanta would be selected to lead this year's team.

The third Dempsey-Tunney engagement is in the making. Probably this one will be card-indexed by Mr. Rickard as Series A. No. 20, Outdoor. Tex ought to have some system to keep these events listed.

association, never bashful, took a hand and named Benny Bass.

The little Philadelphia is an able fighter, but it will be just as well for him to mind his P's and Q's when he gets in the ring with Tony Canzoneri tomorrow night.
