

ART NEWTON LEADS RACERS BY SIX HOURS

Bronze Briton Jogs Into Oatman, Ariz., From Needles, Calif.

OATMAN, Ariz., Mar. 12.—The rugged Black mountains of Arizona, stood today as a barrier before the hundred-odd runners and walkers facing the tenth lap of the 3400-mile marathon from Los Angeles to New York City.

Some six hours advantage was held by Arthur Newton, the sun bronzed ex-entrant from Rhodesia, South Africa, in total running time for the 216.9 miles covered since the race got under way. The lanky and sinewy Britisher jogged into this little mining community from Needles, Calif., a distance of 20.5 miles, in four hours, 43 minutes and 39 seconds, to set his elapsed figures at 48 hours and 51 minutes.

Ed Gardner, Seattle rooster hooper, finished second in yesterday's stretch in the time of 5:03:40.

NEW YORK, March 12, (AP)—Whatever "logic" there was in Tex Rickard's campaign to produce a logical contender for Gene Tunney's title was swept out of Madison Square Garden today by the clemency shown with whatever hopes Jack Sharkey had of some time ruling the crowning heights of pugilism.

Theoretically, Johnnie Risko, the pucky Austrian baker of Cleveland, stands out today as the foremost challenger for the title the big marine won and defended in two battles with Jack Dempsey. Almost on a par with Risko stands "Honest Tom" Heenan, the plugging Blacksmith of New England.

From the opening round, the round shock absorber a veritable balloon-tire of a man, leaped and plunged into Sharkey, belaboring him constantly with a left hook to the body that hurled up from his heels. The Boston sailor man boxed his rival and still the left hook zoomed out of nowhere to smack into his mark. Sharkey worked in close to evade the punch, grabbed the left arm, pulled both elbows to his ribs and tried every defensive trick of the game, but still the left hooking went on.

Some ball clubs pay the laundry of the players during the spring training trip. The Phillies, although they were about the hardest outfit in the world to get money out of, used to do that and follow like "Dode" Pisker saved up their laundry through the winter to pile $9.00 of it on the club.

"Duke" Kenworthy, former manager of the Seattle club, used to carry his wife's electric iron on trips and iron his shirts in his room at the hotel. "Dumbie" Strunk of his room, washed the shirts out in the bathtub, and "Duke" ironed them on the dresser.

Every ball player used to pride himself on his silk shirts, and if you were a good friend of Kenworthy, he would iron your silk shirts for you.

SAYS COLUMBUS RETURNED TO HIS WIFE IN SPAIN

LONDON, March 12, (AP)—Christopher Columbus did not stay in America because his wife was not with him. It was suggested here by Lady Astor who was putting in a good word for wives generally.

"The more I see of men, the more I believe in women," Lady Astor observed at a dinner of the Three Towns Association.

"As for those famous pioneers of history we have heard about, they would not have stayed a week in other countries if their wives had not been with them."

"Why did not Columbus settle in America? Because he had not brought his wife along with him."

"I am an unrepentant believer in women. If you are to stop wars women must stop them. Men have too much rubbish in their minds about patriotism and war and that sort of thing, and they may on that account bring about the ruin of the world."

1 Minute Interviews

HOB ZUPPKE SAYS:
After statistics over the last legislation of the football rules committee, I am more than ever convinced that I am right in advocating a "rate-makers' holiday." The game will be benefited when there is a halt to this annual tinkering.

I advocate a meeting of the rules committee for legislation every third year. A smaller committee can meet annually to interpret the rules when necessary.

When I criticize anything the committee has done, it is not to be cantankerous, but constructive. I have high regard for Mr. R. K. O'Connell and his colleagues and realize the time and thought they give to this work. But I do believe that often the changes in the rules reflect somebody's whim and not the majority voice of the students of football.

There was an approach to more democracy this year when they gave the coaches' association an opportunity to utter its opinion. However, if I remember correctly, the coaches advocated letting the 1927 shift rules alone, but the committee made a change.

Everybody agrees that the job of the officials is being made tougher every year. The goal should be to simplify their duties instead of piling more responsibility on their shoulders.

This year it looks to me as if the committee had merely shifted the responsibilities of the officials, lightening them in some parts of the game and increasing them in others. I am afraid that

KLAMATH MEN BUY CREAMERY

YREKA, Calif., Mar. 12.—Harry Richardson, who three years ago established the Yreka Creamery, closed a deal for its sale to E. A. Simmons and J. D. Ferguson, both experienced creamerymen from Klamath Falls, who have already taken over the business.

E. A. Simmons, wife and little girl, J. D. Ferguson, wife and three children motored over from Klamath Falls Sunday and are now comfortably housed, the Simmons in the Meamber cottage on Miner street just west of the fire house and the Fergusons in one of Mrs. W. A. Frost's houses on Second street, just back of the Yreka Steam Laundry. The children in both families are young and are in the grammar school.

The new Yreka Creamery proprietors plan to improve and add to the present equipment, that they may handle more cream from local parties and from Scott Valley.

In retiring Mr. Richardson did not state his future plans, though Mrs. Richardson and the daughters will at least remain until spring when they expect to return to Klamath Falls, where they own their home.

Mr. Massey, the Canadian minister, calls a high brow "one whose learning has outstripped his intelligence." We apologize to the ladies who try to out-talk one another in picture shows—the other day we called them lowbrows.

The new rate on the shift and backward lateral pass makes the job of the officials more complicated and difficult. Perhaps I am mistaken; I certainly hope so. I am for everything that will add interest and effectiveness to the sport.

P.A. and a pipe—that's all I ask

I DON'T mean that I am easily-satisfied. As a matter of fact, I'm as critical as they come about smoking-tobacco. There are certain things I demand in a smoke, and I declare here and now that P.A. has 'em. Has 'em and to spare, if you ask me.

Fragrant as spring blossoms. Cool as "The boss wants to see you." Sweet as "I'm going to raise your pay." Mild and mellow and long-burning, with full satisfaction in every wonderful puff. It seems that there are not enough hours in a day to suit your Prince Albert program. You'll start in early and stay with it far into the night.

But all this conversation won't do you any good, unless you try out the tobacco itself. When it comes to speaking for itself, P.A. is the best little talker you ever listened to. Go get yourself a tidy red tin and get some of this pipe-joy I've been picturing.
