Headsman, Bring on the Ax

Before the city council last evening there was read a proposed ordinance regulating barber shops in Klamath Falls. It provides for hours of closing and many other things, including a license fee for barber chairs within the city limits.

It is claimed the barbers asked for such a regulatory measure. Just why the request was made is not quite clear, but one thing is assured, that the city council will go far out of its realm if it passes such an ordinance. If we are to go under such regulations as a community let the headsman appear with his ax. No longer will individual effort count for anything and no longer will any man run his business. For, if the barbers are to be not only put under an occupation tax, but also subjected to drastic rules of opening and closing their places of business, then pray tell why should not every other line of business be regulated as to the number of men who can engage in a certain pursuit, how many hours he shall keep open.

The whole thing is so ridiculous that it is laughable. The barbers should be careful. In giving the city council such powers as they seek in the ordinance the council could go a step farther and set the price of a shave or a haircut. Yes, the council could dictate as to whether barbers having red hair or black hair should work in Klamath Falls. That august body under legislation could dictate to the porter in the shop, his nationality, his shoe shining prices and his moral habits.

And to go a step still farther, what about the cosmeticians employed in many of the shops. They, too, must be regulated. If a girl does not use her lip stick properly she shall not work within the city limits, or if a marcel wave is not exactly up to the standard set by the city council she must cease her profession as cosmetician and seek other employment.

Everyone would like to see the barbers get regulated for they seek it and seek it fervently, but we believe they are making a mistake by attempting to have such an ordinance passed as was read last night. A good barbers' union usually dictates very reasonable ethics and procedure and it would seem that the master workmen of the barbers' profession can establish proper rules for the conduct of the shops of this city better than any form of legislation will bring.

Outside Money Builds Well

A Klamath man returned from Medford yesterday and marveled at the fine country homes in Rogue river valley; he also marveled at the improvement in a general way in the Medford community.

The answer is easy. Medford has been beneficiary of outside money just as southern California has benefited by outside money, except in a smaller way. It is the outside money that builds and builds well. Such wealth is usually in the hands of people of wide experience and travel and they know what they want and are willing to pay for it.

That is the signal to the Klamath basin: Get the outside money. We have the attractions, the intrinsic resources and with it a fine line of industries. Organize and go after the outside people who are hunting up and down the coast for places to make investments. It is the only way to develop quickly and at the same time you give to the man of wealth an investment that he will always be happy with.

Let more people go to Medford and the Rogue river valley—go to southern California and see what can and is being done. Outside wealth can be had, but not by joining the knockers' club and pressing down every project that is started.

EDITORIALS FROM OVER THE NATION

GETTING EVEN
De Laval Monthly: A well-known official of the Illinois Bell telephone company was rudely aroused from his slumber by the ringing of the telephone. After brushing his knees on a chair, he reached the phone.
"Hello," he growled.
"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked the voice.
"Yes, what can I do for you?"
"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at 2 o'clock to answer a wrong number."

charms of woman. Immodest women are not attractive, except transiently, to men; reserve in display and economy in gifts are better weapons in the hunt. Modesty, by sparing its rewards, incites the capacity and courage of the male, stirs him to enterprises of some consequence, and calls out the reserve energies that lie beneath the comfortable level of our mediocrity.

THE GIFT OF MODESTY

F. E. DRAKE JR. LOSES FATHER

F. E. Drake, manager of the Drake Lumber company, was shocked Sunday by receiving a message from Piedmont, Kans., stating that his father, F. E. Drake Sr., had passed on. Only a few days ago Mr. Drake lost his mother through pneumonia. She arrived here to visit her son and in less than ten days she was shipped to Piedmont, Kans., the old home of the Drakes and the mother was buried there Thursday. Yesterday the father died and will be buried by the side of his wife in the family cemetery. The deceased was 63 years of age and was in good health when he left for Kansas with the body of his wife. Pneumonia also was the cause of his death. C. V. Drake, another son, was with the father when he passed away.

F. E. Drake Jr. lives at 127 Hillside in this city. He has the profound sympathy of this community in the loss of his parents.
