

RAISE HORSES FOR SHOW USE

To raise blooded horses for the moving pictures, for use on polo fields, and for fancy saddle use, is the objective of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Telford, Peleian Butte farm on the Lake of the Woods road, who have recently added to their holdings a fine stallion, "Tomboy Tom," which is a cross between a standard bred horse and an Exmore pony.

Telford is a noted authority on wild life in southern Oregon and northern California, and is recognized as an expert on horses. Mrs. Telford has also had much experience in raising horses.

In addition to raising polo ponies, movie horses, show horses, and saddle horses, Mr. and Mrs. Telford contemplate, as a side issue, renting saddle ponies during the summer, starting July 1. Camps will be established at Lake Harlette, Four Mile lake and Blue lake in Blue canyon where parties will be taken on two, three and four-day vacation tours.

The stallion which will be the sire of the finer type of horses raised on the Telford ranch was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Telford in Los Angeles and brought to Klamath Falls on a truck.

HOMESTEADERS ARREST SOUGHT

PORTLAND, Ore., June 13. (A. P.)—Carrying orders to arrest E. H. Best and Emory Davis and move their families from the ground they occupy in the forest reserve in the Fish Creek desert, near Roseburg, Loren Cochran, United States deputy marshal, left here last night for Douglas county.

Recently the government was informed that Best and Davis were still occupying the land from which they were ordered last year because it was not open to settlement.

Best and Davis were cited for contempt of court last year for failure to observe a court order directing their removal from the land and later each served a twenty day jail sentence. On their release they promised to move their families out in the spring.

Both are disabled ex-servicemen. Best is a World war veteran and Davis served in the Spanish-American war. Cochran carried a wad of posse slips to swear in help if needed.

George M. Taylor, official of the Southern Pacific with headquarters in Dunsmuir is in the city transacting business today.

E. B. Row of Eugene arrived in the city late Tuesday afternoon and is transacting business here.
