A new French Process Powder called MELLO-GLO does these things. MELLO-GLO is truly wonderful. You will simply love it. Underwood's Pharmacy—Adv.

Little Girl, 10, Eats So

Much Mother Amazed
"My 10-year-old daughter had no appetite. Then we gave her Vinol, and now she eats so much we are surprised." — Mrs. W. Joosten.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver, peptone, iron, etc. The very first bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. Whitman Drug Co.—Adv.

Educational Chats

By Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall
President, University of Oregon

We are constantly preparing. Everything we do, every thought we think, every victory we win and every battle we lose tends to prepare us for the struggles that are ahead. If we cultivate habits of ignorance, slovenliness and indifference, we are preparing for failure and defeat.

If one is to prepare successfully in this world he must first develop habits of industry, perseverance and mastery.

The man of industry, the farmer, the storekeeper, or the doctor succeed to just the extent that they bring to bear upon the performance of their duties these splendid habits which result in mastery and achievement.

Then, too, if we are to prepare for material success we must learn to think, to plan, to use our heads. We must study the problems of life, the problems of our business and our profession and bring to bear upon the solution of these problems not only industry, but a keen intellect and an open mind.

We must work into this foundation of material success, good health and physical fitness. No man is equipped to grapple with the problems of life, and particularly with the strenuous problems of this strenuous age, unless he has learned to keep himself physically fit, to conserve his energy and to come to his task in the prime of physical and intellectual vigor.

To succeed today a man must also win the confidence and friendship of his personality. He must learn to win the confidence and friendship of men, he must learn to make friends, he must learn that one of the elements of material success is to be a leader of his fellow men.

There has never been a period in our history when there has been such a dramatic call for service to the best ideals and purposes of our democracy. To prepare ourselves for this service we must mobilize our spiritual resources for our country. We must develop a passionate love for liberty, for righteousness and for justice until we find our deepest pleasure and our greatest exaltation in sacrificing for these noble aims.

This means we must cultivate our instincts of human sympathy. We must learn to recognize that we are our brothers' keeper. We must come to the vital, vivid realization that in a democracy the burden of securing justice and enthroning righteousness is a burden that belongs to everyone.

If the citizens of our democracy can build for material success upon these great corner stones and in addition, if they can develop a genuine dynamic patriotism one that will marshal their forces and their hopes and their aspirations to the defense of America and all the great things for which it stands, we will have prepared ourselves for citizenship and built an impregnable basis and bulwark for democracy against which the forces of anarchy, lawlessness and bolshevism will beat in vain.
