Co-Eds Gasp as Star Is Thrown for Pants Loss

NOW ALTOGETHER, FELLOWS—A REAL YELL FOR PECK OWENS WHO GAVE HIS PANTS FOR DEAR OLD VANDERBILT!!!

By AL DEMAREE
(former pitcher New York Giants).

"I've seen a lot of peculiar plays in football," says Jimmy Stahlman, "but I only saw one man who made the supreme sacrifice and really gave his pants to his dear old Alma Mater."

"Vanderbilt was playing University of Virginia, I believe," says Jimmy, "when 'Peck' Owens, a famous Vanderbilt player, got away with an open field ahead of him and only one of the enemy in pursuit."

"As they neared the goal line the tackler made a last despairing dive at 'Peck' and just succeeded in getting a hold on the waistband of Owens' football pants. As 'Peck' wouldn't stop and the pants did he crawled over the line for a touchdown minus those very necessary articles of adornment."

"Freshmen and Sophs wept."

and hundreds of co-eds were thrown into wild hysteria at Peck's embarrassment and magnificent gesture of self-sacrifice. "To this day at Vanderbilt University they date football history from that fateful day. 'That Peck Owens gave his pants for dear old Vanderbilt'."

VON PORAT WILL FIGHT TONIGHT

Basque Woodchopper Is Favored by Bettors To Win Bout

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Otto Von Porat, Norway's contribution to the heavyweights, will have a chance tonight to demonstrate whether his punching prowess is all it's cracked up to be. The Norwegian meets Paulino Uzcudun, chunky Basque woodchopper, in a 19 round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Otto has been gaily howling over everything fired at him in Chicago rings but he has yet to battle anyone as tough as Paulino.

Paulino has met hitters before and outside of a grunt or two the Spaniard never seemed particularly bothered by them. The chances are Von Porat will see more elbows tonight than he ever saw in one ten-round fight before. The experts think that if there is any wood-chopping done, Paulino will do it and are backing their opinion at from 5 to 5 to 2 to 1.

The semi-final brings into one and the same ring Tiny Roebuck, Choctaw Indian behemoth, and Arthur Dekuh, of Italy, who grosses around 220 pounds. At that Dekuh will be "conceding" about 20 pounds to Roebuck.

SNOW BLANKET NEAR CRATER

The brilliant sunshine, which for the past several weeks has allowed people of the Klamath country to enjoy perfect autumn weather, failed those who motored to Crater Lake on Sunday for a last glimpse of the beautiful spot before winter sets in.

The woods with their rich autumnal robe of gold and purple which stretches for miles and miles into the park can be enjoyed by motorists, but their beauty as people approached the lake to find it cold and drab. Several stars of Klamath Falls people stopped at the lake, rushed over took one last look at the water and the threatening clouds
