The New City Of West Klamath

which fronts on the Ashland-Klamath Falls Highway on the North, and adjoins the great Weyerhaeuser mill site which is situated on the Klamath River to the South, is now being thrown open to the public.

After months of preparation, during which time no effort has been spared in planning a Model City, with its broad thoroughfares and fine business and residential districts; this modern City of the Future is now ready for its initial development.

3,000 PEOPLE

and more, are soon to be employed in the vicinity of this beautifully situated townsite, destined to become almost overnight, one of Oregon's thriving industrial Cities, with hundreds of new and modern homes, and the most up-to-date business houses to be found anywhere.

No jumble of shacks will be permitted to despoil the beauty of this City in the making, and in keeping with this idea, we have worked out a plan which will provide homes for the residents of WEST KLAMATH that are well worthy of the name.

are now open to the man of vision who aspires to cater to the law of supply and demand, for when payrolls beckon, workmen heed the call and shrewd business men profit according to their ability to visualize the development which must inevitably follow.

Hotels must be erected; Grocery Stores, Restaurants, Confectioneries, Mercantile establishments, Garages, Service Stations and Theaters will spring up to meet the demands of the public.

IN THE CITY OF WEST KLAMATH

all of these lines and many others will be represented. Several of them are needed now! And, when it is realized that large loan companies have already placed the seal of approval upon this townsite for the purpose of granting assistance to builders of homes and business houses, no doubt need be entertained as to the future of WEST KLAMATH.
