er hotel, where he has established temporary headquarters. He found waiting for him there is his first caller, F. K. Heath of Chicago, national committee man for Illinois, with whom he was closeted for half an hour.

Mr. Hoover expected to receive visits from congressional leaders including Senator Borah of Idaho.

The president-elect told inquirers he still adhered to his intention of having a very simple inauguration.

Irvine L. Lenroot, former senator from Wisconsin, and one of those active for Hoover in both the pre-convention and general campaign, was the second caller at headquarters. He remained with president-elect for nearly an hour.

Senator Edge, of New Jersey, and Senator-elect Kean, of the same state, also called. Senator Edge said they simply desired to pay their respects. He is one of those who favor passage of the McNary farm relief bill and deferring of an extra session of tariff revision until the late fall.

The president-elect also had an engagement to see Senator Moses of New Hampshire, president pro tem of the senate, and Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the house rules committee, who together constitute the congressional committee on inauguration arrangements.

Former Senator Lenroot said after his talk with Mr. Hoover that the president-elect had entered upon a period of listening, not as to acquaint himself fully with the situation and obtain the ideas of his supporters on a variety of subjects.

As to the cabinet, Lenroot said he did not believe Mr. Hoover had made up his mind as to his selections.

"I think he will appoint men who are eminently capable of performing the jobs for which they are selected," the former Senator declared.

MR. PELLET IS PROUD GRANDPA

"Grandpa" Pellet, the Klamath Falls contractor, former bandman and general all-around good citizen, is walking down the Esplanade with his head high in the air. Justification for all of these youthful antics is found in the announcement made in a San Jose newspaper which reads as follows:

"Santa Claus left a new doll for Justin, 4, and Elinore, 2, to play with in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Swift, 361 North Ninth street. The new doll does not say 'Ma, Ma' yet, but it squeals and cries and no doubt will learn to speak in time. A baby brother—that is the new 'doll.' The stork ran a close race with Santa's reindeer in delivering the doll. It did not arrive until 5 p. m. Christmas day but when it did arrive Santa Claus and the bespangled tree were forgotten."

The mother is the only daughter of F. E. Pellet, of Klamath, and the proud daddy is a well known Klamath Falls young man who resided here from boyhood, but recently located in San Jose where he owns a soft drink stand.

If slow starting were the only penalty

... "WET" gasoline might do

"WET" gasolines are not "wet" with water but with heavy fractions of petroleum. They'll cause you trouble in starting—plenty of it. You use up more battery, you delay yourself, you flood the carburetor and waste gasoline every time the engine gets cold. But that's not all.

The most serious waste and damage, you never see. Cold "wet" gasoline that can't vaporize is sucked into the motor. It runs down the cylinder walls and washes away the protecting film of oil. Down into the crankcase it goes, thinning your oil until within a few days your lubricant is likely half gasoline!

BLOW your breath on a cold mirror—see how the vapor settles. The same thing happens in your car; "wet" gasoline won't stay mixed with air when it hits the cold manifold. "Dry" Shell 400 overcomes this—it stays vaporized.

Such a needless waste of fuel, of oil—useless damage to your car! Shell 400, the "dry" gas, overcomes the winter starting problem and in doing that it naturally overcomes all these other things. Careful refining eliminates the "wet" parts; the result is a "dry" gas that burns cleanly. You start quickly on half choke with Shell 400. You drive in winter just as you would in summer, free from the thin oil menace. Shell 400 is costlier to make, of course, but you pay the same price for it as for ordinary "wet" gasolines. All Shell yellow and red pumps sell it—it is the only Shell gasoline sold.

Carbon deposits come from burned motor oil. If you would avoid the clogging destroying damage of hard carbon, insist on Shell Motor Oil. It forms no hard carbon—only a little soft soot that blows away

QUICK STARTING

The "DRY" GAS

In winter five hundred miles of running often dilutes your oil 50% to 60%. If you use wet gasoline, but with "dry" gas a full thousand miles shouldn't thin it more than 10%.
