Youth Hurt In Hard Football Game May Die

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 8. (AP)—James R. Roberts, 15, may die because he failed to tell his mother of injuries he received in a high school football game, fearing she would order him to give up the sport.

James, for whom more than 20 men have offered their blood, was hurt two months ago. Abscesses and pneumonia resulted and today he lay in a hospital with death imminent.

The boy's mother fears that his failure to tell her he was hurt will cost him his life. "If James only had told me that he had been hurt," she said, "something could have been done and then we surely could have saved his life."

But James failed to inform her of his injuries until he became seriously ill.

A BALL GAME IN THE STATE PENITENTIARY

TAKE YOUR TIME BIG BOY—YOU GOT TWENTY YEARS TO FINISH THIS GAME!

By AL DEMAREE

Former Pitcher New York Giants

My old friend Hays Clark of Chattanooga, Tenn., where I pitched in 1910 in the Southern League, tells me a baseball story that I think is a knockout.

"The story you had recently about a convict hitting the ball over the wall and then remarking as he would like to be riding on it in its flight reminds me about two colored teams in the state penitentiary," says Hays.

"The pitcher for one of the negro convict teams was holding his opponents down to one hit and the last half of the sixth inning was being played. The pitcher, who was serving twenty years for burglary, seemed to be in an unusual hurry in the sixth and was pitching so rapidly that he was in danger of blowing up and losing the game.

"One of his teammates in an effort to encourage him, stopped the game and walked up to him and in a confidential tone of voice said, 'Take your time, big boy, you ain't got no time, you've got twenty years to finish this game!'"

JOHN COOLIDGE TAKES DAY OFF FOR COURTING

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 8. (UP)—John Coolidge took a day off today to court his lady love, Miss Florence Trumbull.

For the first time since he started work in the general offices of the New Haven road here, he failed to report for work. He was too busy courting Miss Trumbull at her father's lodge in the Berkshires, near Pittsfield, to bother about coming to work. Coolidge will return to New Haven Tuesday.

He left Saturday afternoon with Gov. and Mrs. John G. Trumbull, Florence and Dean Trumbull, for a week-end trip to the Berkshires.

At The Liberty

A compilation of laugh-provoking situations in which twin brothers impersonate each other, provides an unusual comedy theme for "Domestic Troubles," featuring Clyde Cook and Louise Fazenda, coming to the Liberty theater for two days, starting this afternoon.

Miss Fazenda scores heavily as the skittish young lady who is the cause of Clyde Cook impersonating his twin brother to prevent the latter's wife from knowing that he had been sent to jail on a speeding charge.

Clyde Cook, who plays the dual role of James and Horace Bullard, twins, who almost lose their respective wives because of Horace's impersonation of James, cause many laughs and reveals Cook as a comedian of the first magnitude.

Others in the cast of "Domestic Troubles" are Betty Blythe, Jess Laverty and Arthur Rankin.

KLAMATH WINS GOOD COMMENT FROM WRITER

State Reporter of Oregon Business Visits Basin Country Recently

Favorable impression made by the Klamath country on the state reporter for Oregon Business, the state magazine, was reflected in an article appearing in this publication for January.

The writer of the article was describing various sections of the state in a rapid motor tour. Here is what he had to say about the Klamath country:

In going to Klamath Falls over the Ashland-Klamath Falls highway, we passed through the new town of Lincoln, being built by the J. H. Henry Lumber company, about 22 miles east of Ashland. The mill is rapidly taking form and will be ready for operation in the spring. A new office, store and several very substantial homes are also being built, and everything has the appearance of permanence. This will mean another large payroll for southern Oregon.

At Klamath Falls, we noted what we term a well-balanced development. Mills are expanding and re-manufacturing plants are springing up to put into finished form the lumber from the mills. It is becoming a large distributing point and warehouses are increasing in number. Many new farmers are coming into the district south of the city and vacant lands are rapidly being taken up. Specialized crops, like potatoes, are being marketed in California. New homes and street improvements are being made in all sections of the city. Hotel facilities are taxed—we had to sleep in an annex. There is an air of optimism and progress in the city.

We went out to see Herbert D. Newell of the Interior Department about the Tule Lake district, which the government has been opening to settlement. He told us all this land had been taken up and it would be several months before additional areas would be ready. This is one of Oregon's most productive spots and Mr. Newell is justifiably pleased with the fine progress which the new settlers have made in carving homes and prospering from the vacant lands. Mr. Newell is a real adviser and friend of the new settlers, and his counsel has helped many toward success.

Going north toward Bend, we anticipated some snow and cold weather, but found none of either. People in Central Oregon, we found, want it known that their section is open the year 'round and travel is maintained during all months of the year on the Dulles-California highway. About 40 miles north of Klamath Falls you enter the famous Wood River valley, known as a cattleman's paradise. Here is one of the most beautiful districts of Oregon, with streams traversing every portion, as clear as crystal, native grasses and clover in abundance, and irrigation possibilities without limit.

At The Pine Tree

The long awaited picturization of the widely read prize novel by Martha Ostenso, "Wild Geese," filmed by Tiffany-Stahl Productions has at last arrived on the screen and was seen for the first time this afternoon at the Pine Tree theater, where it plays again tonight and contrary to expectations the film story follows closely this highly interesting and dramatic story of a phase of American farm life, and can be classed as one of the classics of the screen.

Outstanding from a cast of superior players is the remarkable and never-to-be-forgotten portrayal of Amelia Gaze by Belle Bennett. As the crushed and hopeless wife of a stern and cruel husband, Miss Bennett reaches histrionic heights that class her as one of the foremost screen stars of the day.

In addition to Belle Bennett the cast includes Anita Stewart, Russell Simpson, Eve Southern, Donald Keith, Jason Robards, Wesley Barry, Reta Rae, Evelyn Selbie and a host of others.

The five acts of vaudeville present a pleasing ensemble that incorporates new kinks and turns and also displays to good advantage a very good dog act.

Speak-Easies Are Raided In Dorris Monday

The small mill city of Dorris underwent a thorough house cleaning yesterday when prohibition violators paid fines into the city treasury aggregating $1,700.75. Eight liquor dispensaries were "knocked over" and their respective proprietors brought before a court for sentence.

Those arrested and fined were as follows: E. W. Pearl, $200; Robert O'Farrell, $200; Lawrence Johnson, $200; E. Gustafson, $200; Ross Lundvick, $200; H. E. Anderson, $200; J. A. Aldrich, $200; Mrs. Josephine Robinson, $200. The remaining $100.75 came from an Oregon peddler who staged a "whoopie" and was fined for his troubles.

RACKET COURT HOLDS SESSION IN WINDY CITY

Purpose Announced To Handle Racketeering Cases Exclusively

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (UP)—Somewhat similar to the false legend which reported the inventor of the guillotine was one of its first victims, the creators of Chicago's new racketeer court today found its first "racket" within its ranks.

The first victim of the court, Daniel Sammons, a bailiff, learned that Chief Justice Harry Olson's new municipal branch extended within its own portals in its purpose to eradicate racketeers from Chicago and to relieve the federal court dockets of minor liquor cases.

"Our first case was against a bailiff of our own court," Judge Olson said after receiving the day's developments. "Imagine a racket inside our own racketeer court." The complainant, John W. Jones, charged he paid Sammons $600 on a promise to get him released on probation. A warrant was issued against the bailiff for obtaining money under false pretenses.

"It reminds me of the case of the inventor of the guillotine. He was the first to have his head chopped off after the instrument of death was accepted for executions. Our first victim, of course, did not get such a penalty."

The old legend concerning Guillotine gained much credence several years but in later years, official records showed the inventor of the death block died a natural death in 1813.

HERALD CLASSIFIED ADS BRING RESULTS

Precautions against colds and "flu"

Do these two things:
1. Protect nose and throat
2. Keep system in good condition

There's no need to get panicky because the papers are full of news of an influenza epidemic. There's no use in isolating yourself because a lot of other people are sick with it. If you take two simple precautions every day—and then don't worry—the chances are you will throw off any cold or "flu" germs you are exposed to, and keep well.

We're not recommending that you dose yourself with a lot of medicines, either. Just observe two common-sense health rules which can be easily followed.

FIRST of all, make sure your system is in first class order. Don't let it get slowed up or sluggish. See to it that it functions perfectly. The easiest way to get run-down and in a condition to pick up disease is to neglect this all-important matter.

Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are therefore prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way.

Nujol can't possibly upset you or disagree with you. For it contains absolutely no medicine or drugs.

Get a bottle today at your nearest drug store and start taking Nujol tonight as an easy way to keep fit and to protect yourself against influenza.

That's the best precaution. Now for the second. Keep your nose and throat well protected with Mistol.

When you get a bottle of Nujol, get a bottle of Mistol, too.

Dr. David says: "I'm advising all my patients these days to keep Mistol on hand and use it regularly. The first thing in the morning before you go out. And again at night when you come home. Don't be afraid to use it freely. It will do no harm. And then stop worrying. You've done all you can to safeguard yourself."

"Put Mistol up your nose. There's a special dropper that comes in every package that makes it very easy to use. Just tilt your head back and drop it in your nose until you feel it in your throat. You'll notice the pleasant, cleansing effect as once inhaled clears your head and makes breathing easy. It has a healing, soothing effect on the membranes and relieves any irritation or inflammation. It helps dry up a running nose. Use it, too, as a gargle. Mistol is good for a sore throat or lancing cough. And above all, protects the nose and throat against germs."

"Don't wait till you begin to sneeze or your throat aches. Take my advice and get a bottle of Mistol today. Every druggist knows it."

The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against influenza. Start this winter with two-fold precaution. Don't delay.

Nujol and Mistol are both made by the same famous laboratories, of the finest quality materials and with the greatest skill possible. Both preparations are harmless. As all druggists. Aren't they worth trying?

"I know an easy way to keep from getting fat Light a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

THE modern way to diet! Light a Lucky when fattening sweets tempt you. That's what thousands of lovely women are doing—successfully. The delicately toasted flavor of Luckies makes them a delightful alternative for fattening sweets. Toasting does it. Toasting removes the impurities and improves the flavor of the finest tobacco. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Men who pride themselves on keeping fit discovered this long ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition—many prominent athletes have testified to this fact. They discovered, too, that Luckies don't irritate the throat—a fact subscribed to by 20,679 physicians.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

"It's toasted" CIGARETTES

No Throat Irritation—No Cough. Coast to coast radio hook-up every Saturday night through the National Broadcasting Company's network. The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra in "The Tunes that made Broadway, Broadway."
