

Loreman Starts Well, Needs Capital and Experienced Men, Interests R. H. Nix, T. J. Haley

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles designed to acquaint the readers of the paper with the work now being done two and one-half miles southeast of Bonanza by the Southern Oregon Oil Company. The first told of the findings of J. E. Loreman, geologist.

In 1927 Mr. J. E. Loreman founded the Southern Oregon Oil company and started operations at a site two and one-half miles southeast of Bonanza near the apex of the Bonanza anticline, which he discovered, a structure impervious to any fissures which might indicate that oil pocketed there, the site of an old shoreline, could not have escaped.

Loreman Starts Well
After investing all of his ready funds in the project and after having put a well down 200 feet Mr. Loreman found that his company needed more capital and also that an experienced operator and crew was necessary to successfully sink the well.

Last August, 1928, Mr. Loreman went to Los Angeles, Calif., where he met Mr. Edward McClaran, an oil driller, through Arthur Collins, of Klamath Falls. Mr. McClaran introduced Mr. Loreman to R. H. Nix and T. J. Haley.

Nix, Haley Experienced
Mr. Nix has been in the oil producing business in Oklahoma, Texas and California for the past 20 years. Mr. Haley is also an experienced oil production manager. After thoroughly going over Mr. Loreman's statement of the structure at the Bonanza location Mr. Nix visited the site with another geologist who could find no faults in the structure as examined and explained by Mr. Loreman.

SOLID TIRE ON TRUCKS HIT BY HIGHWAY BILL

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 21. (AP)—Solid tire trucks will not be permitted on the Oregon highways after July 1, 1931, if house bill 514 which passed the house Wednesday morning, becomes a law. The bill passed by the house, originated in the two roads committees of the house and is the result of several years study by Emmitt Howard of Lane, chairman on the roads and highways committee, and of several other committee members. A similar bill passed the house in 1927 and was defeated in the senate.

thing on all other lines and branches in the Klamath country. Only by the Southern Pacific compelling the Great Northern to build a second line paralleling its construction for forty miles will there be duplication on railway tracks.

Opposes Duplication
"As to unnecessary competition, I am unalterably opposed to noted geologist in the oil business to Klamath county and after a thorough examination he also stated that it was a perfect structure, and that according to the findings in other fields should be oil producing.

Bring Crew, Equipment
Subsequently Mr. Nix and Mr. Haley came to Klamath Falls and took over the active management of the Southern Oregon Oil company. They brought with them their experienced crew of workmen and a large amount of additional necessary equipment and agreed to invest as much of their funds as available in the project.

Harry Phillips, known to be one of the best drillers in the business and a man with 20 years of experience and Edward McClaran also a capable driller and two tool dressers came with Mr. Nix and Mr. Haley.

Find Promising Strata
After installing additional equipment drilling was started where Mr. Loreman was forced to abandon the work.

Mr. Nix stated that his operating force is one of the most capable in the business and that steady progress will be made until oil producing strata is reached.

Mr. Loreman is chief geologist for the company and all of the various kinds of strata that should be found in an oil producing region is being found as the drills pound through the earth.

Tomorrow the kinds of formation found will be described, and the present drilling operations will be told. A later article will tell of the pre-historic materials found which are on display in the office of the Southern Oregon Oil company in the Williams building.

P. JACKSON IS AT CONFERENCE

Paul T. Jackson, principal of the Klamath Union high school left Wednesday for Corvallis where he will meet with a group of more than 30 Oregon high school principals and superintendents chosen to cooperate with the Oregon State College faculty in "humanizing education" during the Sixth Annual Educational Exposition at the Oregon State campus this weekend.

The group will interview freshmen students from their high schools to find out just how the college could have done more for the students.

Principals will study the progress of the freshmen since entering Oregon State College and will question them in order to make constructive suggestions to guide the college faculty in helping students in the future.

"This step is linked with, but is supplementary to the vocational guidance program of the Educational Exposition," explained Mr. Jackson before leaving for the north. "Getting a man into the right field of endeavor is the main purpose of the exposition, but this program aims to do the most possible for the student after he is in his chosen field."

The project is new on the Pacific coast and has been attempted only once before at the University of Michigan. The plan proved successful in the east and has been adopted to broaden its work among the students of Oregon high schools.

K. F. RETAILERS CUT GAS PRICE

Portland, Ore., Feb. 21. (AP)—Back of the suit filed today by the General Petroleum corporation against the Richfield Oil company of California, Portland gasoline men saw a possible solution to the price slashing war which has entered motor fuel down to 16 1/2 cents within the last 24 hours.

The complaint charges that the General Petroleum corporation entered into an agreement with Cornwell, service station operator, whereby he was to sell their gasoline exclusively until 1935.

On February 16, the suit complains, Cornwell refused General Petroleum's fuel and began receiving Richfield products. The plaintiff states that no amount of damages will compensate its loss and asks a restraining order prohibiting Cornwell from selling Richfield products pending settlement. Cornwell and the Richfield Oil company are named as defendants.

Gas dealers said today they believed it a test case and a forerunner for a series of similar court actions.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 21. (AP)—Two things were certain in Portland's "gas war" today—gasoline at the General Petroleum corporation's filling stations was selling at 16 1/2 cents a gallon and motorists were happy.

Following the announcement of the General Petroleum corporation here last night that beginning today their brand of motor fuel would retail at 16 1/2 cents, the Portland Retail Gasoline Dealers' association went into a huddle this morning. Up until a late hour members had made no decision on what price they would advertise.

The Richfield Oil company said "there are no price changes yet" but that changes were "coming in every 15 or 20 minutes."

The Texas company "hadn't received official announcement of reduction but policy was to meet competition."

Union Oil company officials said they would stick to the 19 1/2 cent a gallon price until officially notified to meet the General Petroleum slash.

Efforts to get at the bottom of the war between major oil companies proved fruitless, officials saying they were "in the dark" as far as the actual cause is concerned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21. (AP)—A variety of prices for gasoline was offered to motorists of the Pacific coast today as the result of the entry of the larger companies into the "gas war."

The price at San Jose finally was stabilized at 14 cents yesterday after it had been forced as low as ten cents. All major companies except Richfield were selling it wholesale at 11 cents a gallon.

There were few signs of a settlement of the price squabble here. The Texas company had a ten cent quotation on wholesale gasoline while other major companies pegged it at 11 cents with the exception of General Petroleum. The latter concern fixed a retail price of 17 cents and the wholesale quotation at 13 cents.

In Los Angeles all the major oil companies followed the lead of General Petroleum by fixing the wholesale price at 12 1/2 cents. The retail price there ranged from 13 to 14 1/2 cents.

A retail price of 16 1/2 cents was fixed at Portland by General Petroleum although it sold as low as 14 cents at service stations in Vancouver, Wash., across the river from Portland.

BEWARE THE COUGHS THAT FOLLOW FLU!

They May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. If you have fever, or think you may have the flu, see your doctor immediately. (adv.)

"Every Old-Timer knows that the HEART-LEAVES make the smoothest smoke"

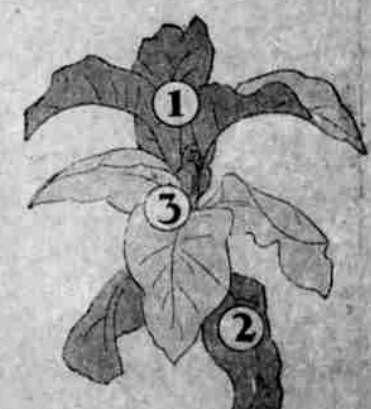

[NO. 3 OF A SERIES . . . As told by Tobacco Planters of the Sunny South]

"Round here in the foothills of the Blue Ridge, we've been raisin' tobacco since my grandpap was a boy. We grow the makin' for all the leading cigarettes.

"Well, Suh, a few years ago an OLD GOLD man came through here and said: 'I don't want any of your sleazy ground-leaves. I don't want any of your gummy top-leaves. I only aim to buy your heart-leaves. And I'll pay the price.'

"Now every old-timer, down in his heart, knows that the top and bottom leaves may bite the throat. And he knows that the heart-leaves make the smoothest smoke.
