OFFICERS RETURNED FROM PORTLAND

Ted Gillenwaters and Louis Mueller are home from Portland where they spent the past two weeks on official business. Gillenwaters was a special prosecutor for the United States in the cases of Blurton Baker and Perry John, both charged with murder. Mueller was an important witness in both cases.

MR. NELSON TO OPEN 2ND USED CAR LOCATION

H. E. Nelson, proprietor of the Nelson Auto company, has retired from the new car business and is making preparations for the largest used car business in Klamath Falls. It was announced yesterday.

Mr. Nelson now owns a used car lot on Seventh street near Klamath avenue and is opening another lot to be known as Nelson Auto Co. Lot No. 2 at 523 Sixth street.

Before entering the new car business, Mr. Nelson was one of the most successful used car dealers in southern Oregon and being in a position to buy for cash, sell on easy terms and finance his own deals, he has promised to give the people of Klamath Falls the greatest bargains in used cars that they have ever known. All used cars offered for sale will be reconditioned under the personal supervision of Eddie Nelson, Jr., a member of the firm.

Mr. Nelson will make a specialty of auto loans and refinancing of auto contracts and will also handle and sell repossessed cars for several large finance companies.

A cleanup of all the present stock has been announced, and hereafter only a carefully selected line of the best late model closed cars will be handled.

BATTERY TO HAVE CEREMONIES SOON

April 29, R. G. Clavert, managing editor of The Oregonian, Brigadier General, George A. White, Colonel Thomas E. Rilea and staff will visit Klamath Falls. At this time the public will be invited to attend a meeting of Battery D, 249th coast artillery when the Oregonian trophy will be presented to the local men for holding the highest rating of any national guard company in Oregon for the year. Captain Walter Abbey is arranging a public meeting. Several prominent speakers will appear.

TRAMP TO DIAMOND LAKE REVIEWED

In a few days the state game commission will send four men to tramp out to Diamond Lake from Central Point to prepare the coming season of taking rainbow trout eggs for the trout hatchery at the lake. It is a 20-mile trip on snowshoes from Crater Lake highway above Prospect. Food and equipment were delivered at the lake for these attendants last fall before the winter months set in. Early in May, or as soon as the weather will permit, Matt Ruckman, state superintendent of hatcheries, will break a trail to the egg-taking station.

From Langell Valley—

Mrs. J. H. Tickner of Langell Valley spent the day here shopping and visiting friends.

PROGRESS MADE ON RAIL LINE

closer to eastern markets. The new track includes the 279 mile Cascade line, the 155 mile Nevada-California-Oregon line, and the 96 mile line between Klamath Falls and Alturas.

The new lines will not only penetrate territory long known as the "last frontier," but will materially benefit shippers on the Pacific Coast and the Pacific Northwest.

The Cascade line has already shrunk the shipping and travel distance between California and Pacific Northwest points. It has cut the running time of trains to 22 hours between San Francisco Bay points and Portland. Its connection with the Great Northern at Chemult, Oregon, provides the shortest and fastest route between California and Spokane and all points east thereof.

Creates Shorter Route

The construction of the standard gauge track over the Nevada-California and Oregon line and the present construction from Alturas to Klamath Falls will create a route 211 miles shorter than the present route via the Southern Pacific's Cascade and Overland routes. With the opening of the line from Klamath Falls to Alturas, all freight moving either way between Oregon and all points east of Ogden, Utah, will be routed over this shortcut. This route is not only 211 miles shorter than the present line, but it will also permit faster operation since its curves and grades are much more favorable than the present line via Sacramento and Roseville.

The Nevada-California-Oregon railroad was originally a narrow gauge line and was about to be abandoned when the Southern Pacific acquired it in November, 1926. Its connection with the Cascade line via Klamath Falls will practically provide all of northern California and southern Oregon with a new transcontinental line. It will also open this territory directly to San Francisco on the south, and Portland and the Northwest on the north via the Cascade line connection at Klamath Falls.

KERNS PLAINTIFF AGAINST COPCO

John Schrakoff and J. W. Kerns are plaintiffs in a suit filed on Thursday against the California Oregon Power company for alleged damages of $109,776.24. They allege that land and crops were damaged because of water from Upper Klamath lake flooding the property. This is one of a number of suits filed recently with Mr. Kerns as plaintiff.
