"The Dream"

MY DREAM was such a humble thing compared to that which came.

I dreamed a low gray cottage, and a wide hearth's evening flame.

The soft light from the open door flung path-like to my feet.

And in the starlit garden dusk the flower-breath stirring sweet;

Myself upon the grass-trimmed flags in cotton gown of blue,

With work-worn hands and weary lips that bravely smiled for you.

Forgotten all the long day's toil, the small things gone amiss,

To find fresh peace within your arms, and heaven in your kiss.

My dream was such a humble thing compared to that which came.

A low, gray cottage clasped with vines, a hearth's red evening flame.

The rush-lit pewter gleaming bright, the kettle on the crane,

And hawthorne branches white with stars against the latched pane.

My cottage turned a mansion high, where stone-gray gables raised,

Where peacocks gem the terrace-turf, and antlered vagrants graze.

And all my dream-sweet poesy beds of pinks and mignonette

Are grown to many-acred bloom in gleaming marble set;

And I, I wait your coming, dear, when starts the evening light,

All clad in robes of shimmering silk, with still hands soft and white.

With clasping pearls about my throat, and bound within my hair—

Perhaps you might have kissed me, dear, were not the servants there!

My dream was such a humble thing compared to all that came.

The little vine-hung cottage, and the hearth-stone's evening flame.

And yet I wonder why at dusk, when I am quite alone,

I only see the soft light fold a cottage lintel-stone.

THE P. T. A. of Pelican City school will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at three o'clock.

Mrs. Ann Klover, teacher of Pelican City, will have charge of the program.

ONE of the loveliest and most delightful functions of the week was the bridge afternoon on Thursday, presided over by Mrs. John Harvey Houston, Mrs. James Elmer Hosking and Mrs. Engelbert Matthew 1st at the Hotel Willard.

Spring blossoms in fragrant beauty, carrying out a color note of lavender and yellow were artistically intermingled in vases placed about the room. In the center of the room a floral cascade of spring flowers, palms and ferns added to the effective decoration.

Silver candelabrum held glowing yellow tapers which cast a soft light over the room where 40 tables were in play.

Dainty refreshments, served at the individual tables, carried out the same color motif as the decorations.

Music entertained the guests while refreshments were served. With the close of the play Mrs. Ernest McCollum, Mrs. Leslie Rogers, Mrs. Gary Cosad and Mrs. Edward H. Pike were awarded prizes.

A clever idea was the presentation of a gift to the guest holding low score at each of the individual tables. Dainty dolls, costumed in frocks of yellow and lavender crepe paper were presented by the hostesses.

Throughout the afternoon Mesdames R. E. Dewesse, Percy Murray, Fred Murphy, Fred Houston, Claude Davis, Paul McKinley Noel, Weber Arnold, J. Royal Shaw, William Lorenz, R. H. Schmidt, T. Greene, Cecil Matt and Miss Elina Jensen assisted the hostesses.

The hours were from two until five.

A CHARMINGLY appointed hostess birthday dinner of Thursday evening was given at the home of Mrs. Henry A. Runde on North Second in courtesy to Mrs. David R. Vandenberg and Mrs. Gail S. Newsum.

The perfectly arranged table was centered with a bowl holding sweet peas and roses, carrying out the pastel shades. Pastel shaded tapers in silver sticks were placed at either end of the table.

Covers were laid for Mrs. David R. Vandenberg, Mrs. Gail S. Newsum, Mrs. J. Byrne Noud, Mrs. O. L. Williams, Mrs. J. F. Daley, Mrs. Samuel Miller, Mrs. John Selmons, Mrs. Henry A. Runde, Miss Effie Richards and Miss Jean Van Fleet.

Mrs. H. M. Manning will give a paper on "History of Linkville."

THE St. Rita Bridge club members met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Howard at her home on Pacific Terrace.

Mrs. H. R. Crane presided as joint hostess with Mrs. Howard.

Five tables were in play. At the close of the afternoon's play Mrs. H. R. Crane received high score.

Miss Bernadine Hannon was delightfully surprised during the refreshment hour, when a birthday cake with lighted tapers was placed before her, the occasion marking her birthday.

On the evening of April 12th the Friendship club will sponsor a box social at the Hotel Willard to which all members of the club and those interested are cordially invited.

The affair is being given in the evening so that the men will have an opportunity to attend. Women calling will bring boxes, each of which will be sold for fifty cents.

Eight o'clock is the hour.

A CHARMINGLY appointed luncheon of Friday was that over which Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, Mrs. Charles F. Stone and Miss Marie McMillan presided when they entertained a large circle of friends.

The beautiful dining room of the Hotel Willard was the setting for the twelve-thirty o'clock luncheon. Baskets of spring flowers in the pastel shades were artistically arranged about the room and on the luncheon tables.

Following luncheon the guests were entertained at a theatre party at the Pelican, "Canille," featuring Norma Talmadge, was enjoyed.

More than ninety-five guests were present at the luncheon and party.

MRS. J. H. Carnahan entertained members of the Pioneer Schoolmates club, recently organized by a number of women from the old and prominent families of the county, at her home on Friday evening.

Corinne Griffith's Voice Is Insured for a Million

One million dollars is the sum that the Commonwealth Casualty company of Philadelphia, Pa., has agreed to pay to First National Pictures, Inc., of New York, against loss or damage resulting from the total and permanent loss of the voice of Corinne Griffith. Corinne recently was awarded a new five-year contract which stipulates that each of her productions will be 100 per cent dialogue picture with Vitaphone accompaniment. Since her new contract has gone into effect Miss Griffith has filmed a Vitaphone version of the Maxwell Anderson play, "Saturday's Children," which is a full-length dialogue picture. The insurance contract extends only to cover the total and permanent loss of voice.

AT a beautiful church wedding, Tuesday morning, April second, at eight o'clock, Miss Katherine O'Sullivan became the bride of Mr. Dennis T. Murphy.

Rev. Father A. F. Looser performed the impressive rite ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a frock of white satin and accessories to match. She carried an arm shower of lily of the valley and rosebuds.

Miss Bridget O'Connor was bridesmaid. Her frock was of rose beige with hat and accessories in keeping. Miss O'Connor carried Russell rosebuds.

Mrs. Murphy is the sister of Mrs. William Falvey of 1435 Johnson avenue.

A MOORE Male Chorus is to be organized in Klamath Falls Tuesday evening when members of the order meet at the home of L. E. Brown, 727 Lincoln street.

Mrs. Brown, one of Klamath's vocal teachers, is to direct the chorus and Mrs. Fred Cofer will preside at the piano. It is the intention of the Moore lodge to organize its vocal ability into a chorus that will command attention and while it will not confine its singing to its own lodge but will partake in all civic matters, nevertheless the chorus will be an interesting feature of the lodge social activities.

Men who are not members of the Moore lodge are acceptable in the chorus, but it will carry the name of the Moore as an institution.

MRS. J. Byrne Noud entertained at her home on North Ninth Tuesday evening, in courtesy to members of her bridge club.

Mrs. A. Peterstetter held high score for the evening's play.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the play.

There were three tables of bridge.

MRS. L. Kohlmeir and Mrs. Grey of Algoma were hostesses at a pretty party on Monday, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Renfeld of 1240 Lakeview avenue.

A color scheme of yellow was effectively carried out in spring flowers. The afternoon hours were spent in games.

Dainty refreshments were served late in the afternoon. The place cards, tapers and other table decorations also carried out the color scheme of yellow.

A shower of dainty handkerchiefs cleverly arranged, fell at the place of the honor guest.

The guests included Mrs. C. Renfeld, Mrs. F. Hagelstein, Mrs. John Hagelstein, Jr., Mrs. John Hagelstein, Jr., Mrs. George Hagelstein, Mrs. Quilich, Mrs. Westzel, Mrs. G. W. Hoffmann, Mrs. H. Mrs. Fred Peterson will be hostess to the club at the meeting in May.

THE Ladies of Mooseheart made a very strong impression on their husbands and other members of the Moose lodge Thursday night when they surprised them with refreshments and a program immediately after the regular lodge session.

Serious members of the order who had been taken up with work in the lodge room smiled and relaxed when they saw the ladies. Following refreshments served by the visitors, a very pretty program followed.

The Hawaiian instrument trio by Sydney Sherwood, Hal Cooper and James Morgan was well received and took the audience to dreamy Hawaii with its silvery moon and lovelorn shores.

Miss Betty Zimmerman in her pianologue, with Miss Harriet Hunter, accompanist, gave the story of a buggy ride in a way that caused everyone to enjoy a laugh. Miss Betty's talent as a monologist is gradually being known in the different social circles.

Mrs. W. E. Palmer's two selections from Riley, rendered in her inimitable way, closed the evening program which was under direction of Mrs. Minerva Brown.

MRS. William Long presided as hostess on Friday evening at her home, honoring members of the Degree of Honor lodge. At the close of the regular business meeting bridge was enjoyed.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Herbert Melana assisted.

MRS. Harry Hill will entertain members of the Wednesday Bridge club at her home, 430 North Third on April tenth.

A chaperone felt with long back is trimmed with a charming little flower conceit of white and orange daisies.
