SOMETHING FOR HIS MOTHER

OFTEN it's an apple, with a bushel in the house. Sometimes it's some berries, with the stains upon his blouse.

Maybe it's a pebble, that he's certain may be gold—
Something for his mother that his little hand can hold.

"Child, we have a bushel!" and his little face will fall,
When he brings the berries, never see the stains at all.
Though it's just a pebble, just a bit of common dirt—
Mother, please remember how a mother's laugh can hurt.

Though his gift is little in the sum of human things,
Yet I think it richer than the jewels brought to kings.
May no boy's lip quiver, may no boy's eye dim—
Something for his mother means a mighty lot to him.

FINE as friendship is, there is nothing irrevocable about it. The bonds of friendship are not iron bonds, proof against the strongest of strains and the heaviest of assaults. A man by becoming your friend has not committed himself to all the demands which you may be pleased to make upon him. Foolish people like to test the bonds of their friendships, pulling upon them to see how much strain they will stand. When they snap, it is as if friendship itself had been proved unworthy. But the truth is that good friendships are fragile things and require as much care in handling as any other fragile and precious things. For friendship is an adventure and a romance, and in adventures it is the unexpected that happens. It is the zest of peril that makes the excitement of friendship. All that is unpleasant and unfavorable is foreign to its atmosphere; there is no place in friendship for harsh criticism or fault finding. We will "take less" from a friend than we will from one who is indifferent to us.

A GREAT deal of the joy of life consists in doing perfectly, or at least to the best of one's ability, everything which he attempts to do. There is a sense of satisfaction, a pride in surveying such work—a work which is rounded, full, exact, complete in all its parts—which the superficial man, who leaves his work in a slovenly, slipshod, half-finished condition, can never know. It is this conscientious completeness which turns work into art. The smallest thing, well done, becomes artistic.

RHEARSALS have been started for the sacred concert to be given at the First Christian church on the evening of May fifth, which marks the first day of the National Music Week.

The concert is to be given by the choirs of the First Presbyterian, Baptist, First Methodist, Mormon and the First Christian churches.

The program will consist of numbers by each individual choir and two numbers by the combined choirs.

MRS. DAVE McAULIFFE and Mrs. Arthur Bryant were joint hostesses on Wednesday evening at the apartment of Mrs. McAuliffe in the Linda Vista to group one of Sacred Heart church.

Four tables were in play.

Mrs. L. Andrew Towey received high score. Mrs. Orlando Easterly received consolation.

The McAuliffe apartment was attractively decorated in spring flowers.

Refreshments were served at the individual tables.

GROUP three of the Eastern Star Social club will meet on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Lester Kimble of Shaw Bertram. Ladies are asked to be at 8:30 and Pine promptly at two o'clock where cars will be in waiting to make the trip.

Mrs. E. C. Knight is secretary of group three.

OF social importance for late April is the annual banquet and frolic of the First Presbyterian church to be held in the banquet room of the Hotel Willard on Monday evening, April twenty-ninth.

The committee in charge met this past week to outline plans and arrange for a program which promises to be most unique.

Each circle of the church will have a "stunt." The executive board will present a clever play. Friends of the members of the First Presbyterian church are invited.

Final arrangements will be made at a meeting to be held the early part of this week. Following this meeting tickets will be placed on sale.

LESS than one week remains until Eulonia chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, entertain with the annual Colonial Ball.

This year the delightful affair, which is looked forward to with much pleasure by Klamath Falls society, will be held in the spacious ball room of Hotel Willard.

The committee in charge of arrangements have a delightful program outlined for the evening's entertainment, to be presented before dancing at 9:30 o'clock. Dance tickets will admit guests to the programme at 8:30 o'clock. An admission of fifty-cents is to be charged for each person.

A special feature of the program is the Virginia Reel to be danced by six couples in costume. Mary Alice Reed, Mrs. Alice Moore, Miss Goldie Lewis, Miss Helen Abbey, Miss Margaret Bowness and Miss Daisy Parks will be costumed as gentlemen.

Mrs. A. J. Voge, Mrs. G. Terrill, Mrs. Thelma Bradley, Mrs. Fay De Spain, Miss Betty Ramsby and Miss Virginia West will be costumed as ladies.

Mrs. J. E. Branton will sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold" during the evening.

A clever jazz number, "The Varsity Drag," will be danced by "Gertie" and "Trillie."

Mrs. Glen Terrill and Mr. D. Chambers will dance "The Minuet."

Solo, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told"—Mrs. F. R. Olds.

MRS. H. A. RUNDE was the honor guest on an enjoyable evening of bridge on Thursday, when Miss Jean Van Fleet entertained at her home, 840 Pacific Terrace. The occasion marked the birthday of the honor guest.

After bridge the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Mrs. Samuel Miller held high score. Mrs. John Siemens, Jr., received the consolation.

Those enjoying the evening were: Mrs. H. A. Runde, Mrs. Etta Richards, Mrs. G. S. Newson, Mrs. John Siemens, Jr., Mrs. J. Byrne Noud, Mrs. J. Daley, Mrs. P. D. Schroeder, Mrs. David Vandenburg, Mrs. Samuel Miller and the hostess.

IN courtesy to her daughter, Miss Pauline Swinney, Mrs. N. F. Swinney entertained with a prettily arranged birthday party on Monday at the Swinney residence, 2205 Darrow street.

Games were enjoyed by the guests for several hours. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

Guests included Aletta Harnby, Joyce Mosby, Betty Ann McCluskey, Jackie Bowlin, Francis Fisher, Virgie Andrews, Mary Tavern and Pauline Swinney.

MISS Ida Ramona Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Stout, became the bride of Mr. Wilfred Edgar Carter at a simple yet impressive wedding, Thursday evening, April eleventh. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends of the young couple at the manse of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. D. V. Haight officiated.

The bride was attractive in a beige and green ensemble with accessories in keeping. Her bridal corsage was made of Ophelia rosebuds and sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wintrout were the attendants.

Mrs. Wintrout wore an ensemble costume of rose and black. Her flowers were Russell rose buds and violets.

A wedding dinner was served the bridal party immediately following the ceremony at the Pelican Grille. Later the party enjoyed a theater party at the Pelican.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter will be at home to their friends at 1503 Worden avenue.

IN courtesy to Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, first lady of the state, who will visit Klamath Falls on Friday, May third, with her husband, Governor Isaac Lee Patterson, Eulonia chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will entertain at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Willard.

Governor and Mrs. Patterson will be special guests at the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce on that evening at the Hotel Willard.

Mrs. Patterson is one of the most active workers in the D. A. R., having presided as state regent of the Oregon state chapter. Mrs. Patterson is ex-vice-president general of the national society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. E. J. Goodrich, vice regent of Eulonia chapter, will preside over the luncheon.

Mrs. Charles Joseph Martin, active worker in the local chapter, has charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt has charge of the program.

A SILVER musicale will be held Monday evening, April fifteenth at the attractive home of Mrs. J. Lawson, 1069 Pacific Terrace for members of the First Presbyterian church and their friends.

A delightful program has been arranged for the evening. The spacious living room of the Lawson home makes it most ideal for such an event.

Members of the church and their friends are cordially invited to call during the evening.

MRS. HARRY HILL was a hostess of Wednesday, entertaining at her home on North Third to members of the Wednesday Bridge club. Three tables were in play.

Vases of brilliant red tulips and daffodils were placed about the rooms.

At the close of the play Mrs. Clyde Thompson held high score. Mrs. Robert Sloan held consolation.

Tempting tamales which the hostess had sent from Spokane, Washington, were served at the individual tables at the close of the play.

MRS. V. A. RAJNUS of Malin was pleasantly surprised on Sunday, by a group of her intimate friends who motored out from Klamath Falls to spend the day at her home, the occasion being her birthday.

Mrs. George Thrasher, Mrs. Louis Boldschair and daughter, Miss Louise, Mrs. James Ottoman and children, Mrs. Charles S. Stenwell, Mrs. J. V. Ragans and Gladys Anderson were among the guests.

AGNES applies beige tweed flecked with red on a bright felt hat in an interesting way. A red leather and tweed belt around the crown buckles in front.

Earl Whitlock's "History of Oregon" is always interesting, and often instructive.

Looking ahead, however, is as necessary to the funeral director who would keep his service ahead of the mediocre majority.

New Queen of Gotham Beauty

If you were invited to a party and could choose your hostess, whom better could you pick than she? And Miriam Stuart, above, Broadway actress, really is going to be a hostess—at the National Beauty Show, in New York. It was her large blue eyes that slew the judges who chose her from among more than a hundred candidates.

First Lady Of The Land Not Beauty Parlor Patron

(By Martha Strayer)

Washington, April 13.—Gather around and listen all you pretty little office girls who eat drug store lunches to save money for that regular beauty massage, finger wave or permanent.

The very First Lady of the Land, according to Washington beauty doctors, has no traffic with these modern aides and abettors to feminine pulchritude.

If Mrs. Herbert Hoover finishes her residence at the White House without resorting to professional facial or marcel, she will be the first mistress of that historic mansion in the past 20 years with such a record. She never has been a beauty parlor patron up to the time her husband became president, and local beauty artists who've been keeping an ear to the ground around 1609 Pennsylvania avenue to find out which establishment, if any, was getting her trade, throw up their hands and admit frankly that she's nobody's customer. No clever-fingered masseurs or marcel artists are making regular or irregular calls at the White House in Mrs. Hoover's behalf.

Such was not the case under the previous four administrations. Almost the very last thing Mrs. Coolidge did in the White House, the morning of March 4, was to receive a call from the young woman who had waved her hair regularly during the Coolidge regime.

Mrs. Harding was another good beauty parlor patron. She wore her hair in a flat marcel and had it done frequently.

The second Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is lucky enough to have a natural wave which needs no beauty assistance. But she did have a beauty parlor attendant come in for shampoos.

The first Mrs. Wilson also had shampoos and waves, but not as many. There were three daughters to be waved and shampooed, as well, and the Woodrow Wilsons weren't rich.

Mrs. William Howard Taft was the best White House beauty

Fashion Hints

LUXURY JACKET
The suede jacket has graduated from sports to street wear. Pastel colored suede ches come tailored in fine cloth and are charming over white or matching colored frocks.

COAT DRESSES
There's a vogue for coat dresses for street and travel. But they are from the matronly coat dress of yore. One of decided princess lines is cut simple, with an extra flare to the skirt and is fashioned of gorgeous dark red faille. Topped by a tan hatband hat and worn with tan accessories, it is very neat and stunning.

GREEN LINGERIE
Pastel green is the best spring lingerie shade. A dainty matinee is made of this green in crepe de chine, with its raglan sleeves inserted with wide beige lace and its lower edge finished in the same.

NEW NECKLINES
The latest daytime modes have close to the throat necklines. All manner of novel organdy, seersucker and lace touches bring this about. The collar of self-fabric that stands up for itself in the back and has a light touch of white, cream, pink or pale yellow in the front is very good.

PETTICOATS AGAIN
The slip yields to the petticoat inch by inch. Dainty little trifles in glove silk, made in wrap-around fashion and hung from a fitted yoke, are the very newest petticoats. The lower edge is apt to be scalloped or hand-hemmed. The petticoat comes via a de luxe route.

CHIFFON HANDKERCHIEFS
No evening ensemble is quite complete without one of the very large decorative, colored chiffon handkerchiefs to contrast with or pick up the dominant tone of the gown.

FRAMES—
Often a photograph is made or marred by its frame. Now is the time to make a careful selection. We will be pleased to show you our complete line of new mouldings and frames.
