

The Evening Herald

T. E. MALARKY Editor F. K. ENGLISH Business Manager Published every afternoon except Sunday by The Herald Publishing Company at 192-194 South Fifth street, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Klamath Falls, Oregon, on August 29, 1906, under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

By Mail One Year $1.00 Six Months .75 Three Months .50 One Month .25 Delivered by Carrier One Year $1.50 Six Months 1.00 Three Months .75 One Month .50

ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION

Member of the Associated Press The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1929

Mr. Budd Incognito

NEWS reports today state Ralph Budd was in Rogue River Valley incognito May 6, ostensibly inspecting a proposed extension of the Pacific and Eastern railroad from Butte Falls into the Klamath basin.

If this report is correct—there is no reason to suppose otherwise—it is just another indication that it is the Great Northern which is the motivating force behind the extension of the Pacific and Eastern railroad, not the Owen-Oregon Lumber company, as had been announced.

When the smoke screen is dispelled by time, we would not be surprised to see a rather close alignment between the Owen-Oregon Lumber company, the Great Northern railroad and the Weyerhaeuser Timber company.

As to the route of its proposed new line, we can not help but believe that the Pacific and Eastern extension will connect with the Weyerhaeuser Timber company's railroad—it is too fine a line to call a logging road—into western Klamath.

A Mark Twain Story

KANSAS CITY STAR: One of Mark Twain's hobbies was the subject of telepathy—in which he firmly believed.

"Why," said Mark Twain to 'the boys' in the printing office at Hartford, Conn., "not so long ago I ordered some shirts and they promised them to me on a certain day and the — things didn't come. Well, boys, in a little while I wrote that shirt maker a letter * * * you know the kind of letter I can write. Blasting! Blasting! But you know, too, that I never send that kind. Give them fits, that's all right, but put the letter with the fits in a desk and never mail it. * * * That's what I did with the shirtmaker's letter. Put it right away in the desk. And along about dusk, what should arrive but those shirts! How's that for proving the truth about telepathy?"

EDITORIALS

From Over the Nation

"YOU'D ADORE HER IF YOU REALLY KNEW HER" Lloyd Mayer in Life: She—I can't understand why you don't like her. She's really terribly brilliant and awfully amusing. He—Is she? Somehow I've never gotten along with her. She—Well, you ought to get to know her, because I know you'd adore her if you really knew her. She's really an awfully sweet girl. He—Well, she must be if you like her so much. She—She honestly is, my dear. I mean I admire her terribly because she's got an awfully good mind. He—Well, I've heard other people say so, too. I've probably been mistaken about her. I'll take your advice and try to know her better. She (enthusiastically)—Will you honestly? I wish you would, because she's just the type that would interest you tremendously because she's so bright and all! He—Yes, I certainly will. I've certainly got her all wrong. She—Of course she's peculiar, sort of, I mean you mustn't mind the unconventional sort of things she says and does sometimes. He—I don't think they'd scare me off. She—No, I don't think they would, either, but of course loads of people don't understand her, sort of, and get the wrong impression about her. do you know what I mean? He—Oh, of course; that's quite natural but I don't think I would. She—No, I don't think you would, because you're broad-

QUILLEN'S QUIPS AND QUIRKS OF AMERICA

Pointed Satire Intermingled With Broad Humor Gives Conception of the Best and Worst Sides.

BY ROBERT QUILLEN The new Cabinet is interesting, if only as a revelation of Mr. Hoover's standard of perfection.

The doctors say any swelling may become a cancer, but you seldom see a cancer above the ears.

Yet getting a divorce in six months for want of love is like cutting corn in three weeks because it isn't ripe.

The Salvation Army will live on in a new guise, but recent history indicates there's no more salvation in democracy than there is in an army.

The chap who thinks girls want to marry him for his money seldom has over $75,000—which isn't enough to justify marrying a fellow like that.

The hand that rocks the cradle doesn't show any nicotine stain.

Alibis aren't necessary in the south. The jury can see the fellow's skin is black.

Churches report a new interest in their work, so the recent shake-down in Wall street did some good.

Preparedness will prevent war, they say. You've noticed how peaceable gangs are since they got machine guns.

Americanism: A hick town, with six homicides annually among 25,000 population, feeling

RURAL SCHOOL STATUS POOR

(Continued from Page One) education, he is coming to realize that efficiency in financial administration will yield a larger return than will riotous enthusiasm in spending. Far-sighted taxpayers will do well to associate and co-operate with school administrators in the interest of establishing order and efficiency in school expenditure and distribution of the school tax burden. Groans and obstruction are not enough.

The voter calls attention to the Umatilla rural school status and ventures the assertion that "Umatilla is so far out of line that its taxpayers probably will find it to their interest to institute a searching inquiry."

Hardly better is the rural school situation in Klamath county, the Voter indicates and proceeds to comment as follows:

"That the county unit system is not a solution of the problem of rural school taxes is suggested by the circumstance that in Klamath county, where all the territory outside of Klamath Falls is organized into one unit district, the tax cost per census child is relatively nearly as far out of line as is the case with Umatilla, area and density of population considered. A survey of Klamath conditions might be found profitable for taxpayers.

"Klamath's situation ought to be easier to handle than Umatilla's however, by virtue of the unit system, for the entire rural elementary school system is under one management—with an extraordinarily capable superintendent. It will be interesting to note whether under unit control financial progress can be made in the interest of the taxpayer. That some taxpayers are uneasy under the present method of spreading rural school costs in Klamath county is evidenced by the tax suits brought by timber interests. The burden of a unit system on unpopulated timber districts is always high, and invites taxpayer resistance which occasionally culminates in serious upset of educators' plans. "In the order of their tax cost efficiency for rural districts, areas and density of population considered, the following counties rank highest in the order indicated: 1—Josephine 2—Benton 3—Wallowa 4—Grant 5—Gilliam 6—Malheur 7—Curry

"This does not mean that the per child tax cost of rural schools is 1 cent in those counties, but it does mean that, taking area and density of population into consideration those counties relatively make the best showing in that respect. "Furthest out of line in the way of high per child rural school district tax cost, or making the worst showing relation to area and density of population, the following counties rank in the order named, the rankest ranking as 1, next to rankest ranking as 2, and so on: 1—Umatilla 2—Klamath 3—Covos 4—Multnomah 5—Clatsop 6—Clackamas 7—Harney

To be ready for the morning's work—eat QUAKER OATS The Nation's Breakfast

YOUNG SLAYER IS NEAR DEATH

(Continued from Page One) attorney said a formal charge of murder would be filed against the boy and that his case would be remanded to the court of domestic relations.

With that court will be the responsibility of either returning the case to circuit court or sentencing Finke to the state reform school until he is 21 years old.

If the case goes back to circuit court the boy will be treated as an adult and, if convicted of first degree murder, may be hanged or sentenced to life, the district attorney said.

Today, barely conscious, Finke was unable to speak. Hospital attendants said he apparently realizes little of the tragedy he provoked.

Police today questioned Mildred Knott, 14-year-old high school girl, whose attentions were sought by both Finke and Beem. She said that "a half dozen times at least," Finke had threatened to kill her if she did not stop going with Beem.

"He threatened to kill Herbert, who he had never seen," the girl continued. "Then he told me he didn't mean it. But every time I saw him he started quarreling about my friendship for Herbert. I told him that if he felt that way I never wanted to see him again."

Yesterday afternoon Finke went to Jefferson high school and talked with Miss Knott. "He talked in such a crazy fashion that I ran out into the hallway and up to my class room while one of the school secretaries kept him in the office," the girl said today.

Finke left the office and during the afternoon wandered about in the corridor. "When I came out of the room at the end of the sixth period I met Herbert in the hall," the girl said. "I did not see Walter until he walked up to us and asked if this was Herbert."

"Then he fired!" Hundreds of students were rushing through the hallway to and from classes. Prompt action by the principal averted a panic. Girls became hysterical, as Finke shot and Beem slumped to the floor. As the last shot rang out and Finke fell, a boy fainted, and the students ran for exits.

The coroner said today no inquest would be held until it could be ascertained whether Finke would live.

THOUGHTS ON U. S. AFFAIRS

(Continued from Page One) a lot of unfinished palaver. If we are going to deal with the railroads on these bonds, let us deal and make it clean-cut, understandable and decisive.

LARGE CLASS IN ATTENDANCE AT INSTITUTE

Close to 150 business and professional men and women of the city attended the opening class of the Arnold Sales Training Institute last evening at the city library auditorium.

Perry B. Arnold, president of the institute, delivered an interesting address discussing at length "Personality."

Monday, Wednesday and Friday of this coming week will include the institute.

DEPUTY LEAVES TO BRING BACK GOOD TO CITY

Deputy Sheriff Ross Brown was today on his way to Spokane where he will take into custody D. J. Good, alias E. J. Goodrich, charged here with bigamy. Good will be returned to Klamath Falls for trial.

Good left here several weeks ago after a warrant charging him with bigamy had been sworn out. He is alleged to have married a prominent Klamath woman while still married to a woman in Ohio. Good was at one time a minister but sold automobiles and real estate in Klamath Falls.

The Rev. Frank L. Wemott, pastor of the Methodist church, and the Rev. D. V. Haight, pastor of the Presbyterian church, are the complaining witnesses.

RACKETEER OF CHICAGO SHOT

CHICAGO, May 21. (AP)—A man partially identified as John Hand, alleged racketeer with a long record, was found shot to death in an automobile in Cicero, a suburb, early today. Hand was questioned after the slaying of "Big Tim" Murphy, notorious labor leader and racketeer, last year.

Hand was at liberty on bond pending an appeal from his recent conviction in the federal court for violating the Sherman Anti-Trust law. He was one of the defendants charged with and convicted of intimidating candy jobbers into joining an alleged racketeer organization.

MISS KLAMATH CONTEST WILL BE HELD SOON

The executive committee in charge of the American Legion's Fourth of July celebration and Indian Congress announced yesterday that details were being worked out for a Miss Klamath contest that will select one of Klamath's fairest daughters to preside over the celebration, act as Goddess of Liberty of July 4th, and represent the Legion during a two week's stay in Hollywood during which time the successful candidate will be given a screen test at the leading studios of movieland.

TRAGEDY ENDS CLASS BATTLE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 21. (AP)—The annual pajama rush, last of the year's interclass battles at Rutgers University, ended tragically in the drowning of a freshman in the Delaware and Raritan canal.

William L. Farrier, 19 years old, of Jersey City, sank in the muddy waters of the canal when with a half dozen other freshmen he leaped into the stream to escape pursuing sophomores last night.

He was pulled out unconscious five minutes later by classmates and died without regaining consciousness. On an average head there are about 1,000 hairs to the square inch.

H. E. Roskamp BUILDER of QUALITY HOMES for 20 Years Phone 572

LIGHTING FIXTURES I have just received a shipment of new, up-to-date lighting fixtures. Before buying fixtures for your home look this stock over. DAVIS' ELECTRIC SHOP "Electrical Contracting" PHONE 1118 120 North Seventh St.

MUST BE S-O-L-D A 6 room modern home, close in, 3 bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen, bath, screened back porch and nice front porch. All extra large rooms. The closets for the bedrooms are three times the size of the average closet. This house is completely furnished. In the back is a 1 room cabin that is furnished and can be rented for $15 per mo. Room for 2 cars in the basement. Garden space, fruit trees, shade trees, lawn, flowers etc. THIS HOUSE MUST BE SOLD AT ONCE AND IS PRICED SO THAT IT WILL SELL. $3800 Will accept as small a down payment as $500.00 and the balance like rent. Favell-Utley Realty Co. Phone 1144 615 Klamath Avenue G. J. Walton, Mgr.

Carbonic GAS in Carbonated Bottled Drinks is good for him" —SAY DOCTORS Mother's milk contains carbonic gas to the extent of 10% by volume—a medical fact that you can verify by asking your physician. Carbonic Gas is, therefore, one of the first Aids of Nature—a mild digestant, a natural stimulant of the circulatory organs and the stomach. Carbonic Gas is also germicidal in effect, in carbonated bottled drinks, for which your children like to spend their dimes and nickels. So, while sterilized in bottling, the presence of carbonic gas is double certainty of the purity of these good drinks. Pure, carbonated bottled drinks are advocated by physicians for these reasons. They help also to make up the 8 glasses of water daily that doctors say we need. They make these 8 glasses easier to drink by providing attractive flavors. Keep a case at home, therefore, to insure the benefits not only of this extra liquid, but of carbonic gas as well. We use the highest grade carbonic gas obtainable—Red Diamond. Made by The Liquid Carbonic Corporation. Big Weiner Roast Tomorrow Night—See Bulletin in Contest Headquarters. in the BIG CASH Golden West Coffee Junior Sales Contest

Big Weiner Roast Tomorrow Night—See Bulletin in Contest Headquarters.