charges of use of fire arms which might be placed against them.

While the treasury probably will call the order limiting the use of fire arms to the attention of agents again it was said that there was no hought of making it more drastic. Officials believed that the present order was as drastic as could be issued and expect its law enforcement squads to adequately perform their duties.

Lowman said the official report of the shooting at International Falls, Minn., was enroute to Washington, having been mailed last night.

TALLMAN SEEN, LABORER SAYS

closely with Tallman.

Boards At L. A.

Tallman boarded the steamship Admiral Benson at San Pedro, June 4, shortly before the body of Mrs. Patty, beaten to death with a brick, was found in an apartment in Los Angeles. The owner of the apartment identified photographs of Tallman as the man who had rented the apartment under the name of "W. C. Johnson."

Police thought Tallman might have jumped from the Admiral Benson as it passed within a hundred yards of the Astoria waterfront and swam ashore.

Drenched

The night watchman said the man told him he had been drenched while walking in the rain. He carried a small bundle of clothes and the watchman permitted him to remove his soaked apparel and dry it by the office stove.

Then the man departed after telling Pekuri he was going to seek friends at Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12, (AP)—The report that a man answering the description of William Tallman, suspected slayer of Mrs. Virginia Patty in Los Angeles, had been seen in Astoria, did not spur Portland or Astoria police to any unusual activity today. They have investigated, they said, nearly a dozen such reports within a week. While considered it possible that Tallman might be in the vicinity, the probability, they declared, was remote.

Woman Held

LOS ANGELES, June 12, (AP)—A mystery woman, whose name police refuse to divulge, was added to the already lengthy list of those who have been interrogated in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Virginia Patty, wife of a Portland, Oregon, business man. The woman's name was found yesterday, scribbled on a crumpled piece of paper in the apartment of Mrs. Patty, located in the Wilshire district.

After questioning the mystery woman, police announced that she had denied ever knowing either Tallman or Mrs. Patty. She had been unable, they added, to explain how her name appeared in the apartment. She was known, police said, to have been a resident of a hotel where William Tallman, missing radio operator suspect lived for a time. She will be kept under surveillance and further investigated, Captan Al Slaten, in charge of the murder investigation, said.

Prints To Be Compared

Slaten said that copies of finger prints of Tallman taken while he was in the marine corps service had not yet reached Los Angeles from Washington, D. C., but were expected within a few hours. On arrival they will be compared with photographs of fingerprints taken in the room where Mrs. Patty was slain.

NEW SAWDUST PLANT PLANNED

With so simple a working formula to guide them, Mr. Doyle says he or anyone else is able to get full efficiency out of his men and equipment.

Unhampered by red tape and not being compelled to fill out endless and useless report blanks, Doyle says his blacksmiths just go ahead and weld the breaks and when the boys do an especially good job, soon comes a nice letter from headquarters commending them. And the company refrains from a razzing when something goes wrong that could not be helped, said the master mechanic.

Use 8 Locomotives

Eight locomotives, numerous caterpillars and jammers are kept in repair at the car shops here. Equipment is installed that would do credit to many railroad division points.

Huge laths, planers and shapers are to be seen, as well as two drill presses. In the blacksmith shop are the hammers, oil furnaces, etc.

Master mechanic's assistants in the Tennant shops are: J. F. Duffy, shop foreman; L. Doriand, in charge of repair work on cats and tractors.

Tom Durrant and Sherman Pennell have supervision at the power plant which is one of the neatest places of its kind anywhere.

A 168 horse-power poppett valve engine generates the electrical energy for lighting the town and to turn the plant machinery.

Runs For Six Years

This smooth-running engine has been operating constantly for six years except for a recent layoff of only a few hours when an oscillating arm broke.

As an evidence of the skill of Mr. Doyle and his helpers it might be noted that the broken arm was soon replaced by a junked part taken from an old caterpillar. And the town folk soon had juice again.

The Tennant shop crew recently converted a saturated steam locomotive into the super-heated type, which gives an idea of the efficiency of the workmen as well as the range in possibilities of the equipment installed.

Harmony Circle To Meet—

FIGHTERS WORK OUT FOR CARD FRIDAY NIGHT

Double Main Event Will Be Attraction of Legion Program

With all boxers working out every evening, the boxing card which will be held in Legion Memorial Pavilion Friday evening should attract one of the largest crowds of the year.

A double main event occupies the center of fans' interest at this time but fans who have watched the training bouts each evening are figuring on the prelims as great bouts. The six-round semi-match between Earl Forse and Eddie Edleman is expected to prove one of the evening's banner attractions. After battling through four torrid rounds on the last card, after which Edleman won the decision, both fighters expressed the wish for a battle over a longer distance. They were accomodated and a slambang setto should be the result.

In the other two preliminary bouts Mars Rymers of Lakeview will meet Frankie Monroe of Chiloquin and Jack Lewis will mix with Eddie O'Connor. Though both battles are scheduled for four rounds each there is some doubt that the limit will be reached.

Rymers in the last few months has developed into the idol of Lakeview fans by virtue of a knockout punch which has proved too much for his opponents. In Monroe he is meeting a boy who has never taken the sleep producer. This bout, according to all dope, looks like a natural.

Jack Lewis showed fans plenty of heart last week in his bout with Spud Murphy and with an added week of training is expected to show his best. His opponent, O'Conner, is a rough Klamath Falls lad who is working for bigger bouts and action should cram the contest from the opening bell.

Frankie Warneke and Ray Huffman, the two speed boys, are rounding into wonderful shape for their coming 10-round battle which will comprise half of the double main event. Fans who witnessed the two fighters battle to a six-round draw last Friday, are equally divided as to who will be the winner over the longer route. Both boys are divided also, each believing that he will score a decisive victory.

The other half of the top attraction will send two boys into action who have met the best in the country, Jess DeMotte, pride of Merrill and Malin, will battle Sailor Lenhart, who last year held the service championship as a light-heavyweight. Both of the men are working hard every evening and the bout should show fans more glove throwing than has been witnessed here for some time.

Advance reports indicate a large ticket sale and the pasteboards may be purchased at the Mecca Billiard Parlor up to Friday evening.

Mrs. Campbell Home—

Mrs. Paul Campbell accompanied by her son Junior and her sister in law, Miss Alice Campbell have returned from an enjoyable visit in Portland and other northern points with relatives and friends. They made the trip by motor.

WHAT IS FAIRHAVEN?

BANK OFFERS NEW SERVICE

asked to call at the bank and have officers or tellers explain and demonstrate the service.

Cash receipts of business houses can be deposited through this system, which will relieve the patrons of worry and danger of theft. In other words the bank will never be closed.

The new service permits deposits being made at any time into the safe, the outer door of which is located on the outside of the bank building.

To use the night deposit service, the patron deposits the money in a strong canvas bag, furnished by The American National Bank. A padlock is given the patron, the only key which will open the bag.

After unlocking the outer door of the night deposit safe, with the key provided, the patron then pulls forward a hinged receptacle, and the canvas bag is deposited. The closing of the hinged receptacle causes the deposit bag to pass through the heavy metal chute into the night deposit safe inside the bank. Special devices in this metal chute prevent the contents of the safe from being withdrawn from the outside.

Electric contacts in these special devices flash a red bull's eye light in the left panel of the outer door frame showing that a deposit has reached the safe.

On the morning of the next business day, the deposit bag is removed from the safe by the officers and held intact pending the arrival of the patron making the deposit when the bag is unlocked and the deposit is made in the regular manner.

Interior of The American National Bank has been completely re-decorated.
