BOOTLEG BUT NOT DOPE

CORONA, Calif. June 12, (UP)—Mrs. Gertrude Mustel, 33, today explained the fatal shooting of her husband, James Mustel, 39, in their home here yesterday by saying she "didn't want the kiddies' father to join a dope ring" and they quarreled over the issue. Mustel had been a bootlegger for some time, she said, but she "wouldn't stand for drug peddling."

Local Newspaper Advertising Supports National Campaign

Recently Montgomery Ward & Co., nation-wide merchandising and chain store organization, has announced a series of national advertisements to be run in the leading weekly magazine in the U. S. A., and as a result, great interest has been aroused in the advertising world.

The retail world sees in this a far-reaching step, significant of the development of a retail expansion program, begun about two years ago, when Montgomery Ward & Co. announced its intention of opening 1,500 stores within five years. The company already has put into operation almost 400 stores, and the new national advertising program is seen as a wise business move to develop additional business and customers in the new trade centers in which those stores are located.

Commenting on this new development, Mr. B. A. Newman, manager of the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store, said: "With our expansion into new retail fields, we recognize the entire country as a market for our merchandise. The appeal is general, reaching urban as well as rural residents—in fact, it extends to all classes of our entire population."

"Our national advertising," says Mr. Newman, "will in no way change the local advertising program, but will assure more than ever the use of the local newspapers as profitable advertising media. Our advertising in The Klamath Herald will feature the same items described in the national series at the same time the magazine advertisement is released. Local papers are most essential to us for a complete advertising tie-up."

"We realize, as do all up-to-date merchants, that there is no substitute for timely messages concerning our merchandise in the local daily papers. From 27 years of experience we are firmly convinced that advertising pays when the merchandise and prices are right."

The outstanding theme of the company's national advertising is quality, which, since the beginning, has been a foundation stone of its policy. Quality is deemed necessary to the universal guarantee of satisfaction, which has been given by Montgomery Ward & Co. throughout its entire existence.
