O'GRADY LUCKY TO GET DRAWN IN MAIN EVENT

Johnny Spencer Outpoints Eddie Edelman; Monroe Wins Special

The judgment of two ringside judges and the referee was that Gene O'Grady, Ashland, and Danny Lenhart, ex-navy champion, fought ten rounds to a draw in the main event of the fight held at the Legion Memorial hall last night.

Opinion of this writer, however, was that Lenhart outpointed O'Grady by virtue of taking the eighth and ninth by decisive margins—this opinion was reached in spite of the fact that the writer had any prejudice, one way or the other, it leaned toward O'Grady.

Consensus of opinion of many of the fans who had not wagered on either Lenhart or O'Grady, seemed to be that Lenhart won the fight; some said by a narrow margin, others by a large, but all seemed to agree that the sailor was too clever for Gene.

O'Grady Tied Up
O'Grady was helpless during the eighth and ninth. The canny sailor tied him up in knots nearly every time he unleashed an offensive. He would flail away fatly, but whenever his fists went, Lenhart's glove, shoulder or elbow was there first. The fight was simply an exhibition of a strong, willing, fighting, slugging youngster being outsmarted by a crafty, courageous ring general.

The fight started slowly enough with O'Grady leading. In the third Lenhart opened up and jarred O'Grady with a sudden battery of right and lefts to the head—that was the only time in the entire fight he hurt the Ashland youth.

Both boys opened up in the fourth and fifth and exchanged sledge hammer blows. In the sixth O'Grady almost tore Lenhart's head off with a terrific uppercut that went home to the button. But Lenhart, while staggered, kept on fighting at breakneck pace.

Seemed To Tire
In the seventh, O'Grady seemed to tire, while Lenhart began to forge into the lead. This lead lengthened in the eighth and ninth. The last round was about even with both fighters wrestling and hammering each other from one side of the ring to the other.

To one who had not witnessed many fights, it might have appeared that O'Grady outpointed the sailor. But from the ringside it was quite apparent that his murderous left hooks, his right crosses and uppercuts, were not finding their mark. And when they did go home they usually found Lenhart rolling away from the blow. O'Grady fought a fine fight. He stung Lenhart occasionally and landed the hardest blows; but the sailor piled up a lead on straight left jabs, alternated with right crosses and an occasionally assault to the body. If the fight had been six rounds, O'Grady would have had the shade; but the last four rounds, according to the judgment of the press, gave the sailor a slight edge.

Good Drawing Card
Insofar as natural fighting ability is concerned, O'Grady is one of the best ever seen in Klamath. He has hardly ever stepped inside a gymnasium, has had no training, no expert instructions and has yet to meet defeat. With his physique, his fighting heart and his intelligence, an experienced man could mould O'Grady into a great fighter—until that happens he will never be any better than he was last night; just a willing slugger with a chin of iron. He puts up a great show and is a fine drawing card.

In spite of the altitude which, it seemed, affected his breathing, Johnny Spencer, high school sensation, lived up to his reputation last night by giving Eddie Edelman a neat pasting in the semi-windup. Spencer looked good; he hit Edelman at will. A match between him and Earl Foras would be a good fight.

Spencer danced in and out, on his toes all the time, and lashed Edelman with rights and lefts at will.

Frankie Monroe, Chiloquin lightweight, demonstrated his superiority once and for all over Mabra Rymars, Lakeview, by winning decisively in the four round special event.

Straight Left Wins

Jackie Lewis, Marshfield and Billy Robinson, fought four rounds to a draw. Lewis had the edge but not enough to give him a clear margin.

Buddy Randall and Shrimp McDonald fought four battering rounds to a draw in the first regular preliminary.

MISSIONS BEAT SAN FRANCISCO

Reds Win 4 to 2 Pounding the Great Mails for 14 Hits

(By The Associated Press)

Struggling desperately to maintain their slight lead in the Pacific Coast league standings, the San Francisco Mission Reds yesterday defeated the hard fighting San Francisco Seals for the first time this week. The Seals had won three straight, threatening to displace the Reds in the lead.

The Reds won by 4 to 2, pounding the great Mails for fourteen hits and a home run by Ike Boone. Herman Pillette, on the mound for the Missions, allowed their rivals nine hits, thoroughly scattered.

Ending Oakland's winning streak of eleven straight games, the Seattle Indians batted the visitors' four hurlers hard to win the game 9 to 3 on their home lot. "Buz" Eriet, Oakland fielder and former pitcher, finished the game on the mound. The series stands 3 to 1 for Oakland.

Sacramento won from Portland in the northern city 4 to 3, chiefly because the ducks never were able to overcome a home run in the third by Rohwer with two on. Measurement of the ball park yesterday credited Charley Bates, Portland centerfielder, with 375 feet instead of 325 feet as first announced, on his amazing throw from centerfield over the catcher's head in Thursday's game.

The Hollywood stars trounced the Los Angeles Angels on the latter's home lot, 6 to 2, due mostly to Augie Walsh's fine work in two good innings.

RESORT Now Open

You, Too May Have a Position Like This

Howard Marks graduated from high school and set his course to get into business by the quickest route. He figured—and rightly—just the Northwest resort would be the most direct. In a few months, we graduated him and placed him in his first position. He made good. The other day he came in, in his face absent. He had just been appointed credit manager for a million dollar organization, and wanted us to know the good news. You, too may be just as successful. Let us send you particulars. Speed Up the Haying With Farmall Power

HAYING progress continues, with the combination of the FARMALL and McCormick-Deering Hay Tools responsible for the latest big improvement in speed and efficiency. With this all-purpose tractor on your farm you can hook up to new combinations of tools and turn your alfalfa, clover, or grass into crisp, air-dried hay in quick time.

You can mow with the 7-foot Farmall mower, and hook another mower on, too, when you're in a rush; you can mow and rake your alfalfa in one operation by putting a side-delivery rake back of the Farmall and Farmall mower; you can pull two or even three self-dump rakes back of the Farmall pulling the rack wagon and hay leader; and you can convert your loose hay into easily handled, marketable bales by belting up the Farmall to a hay press.

All of these fast, modern haying operations can be done with the Farmall and the McCormick-Deering Hay Tools we sell. They save valuable man labor at a season when every minute is worth real money. They give you the profit edge on the man who clings to older methods. Let us tell you more about the new machines and methods we have to offer you.

Thrilling Speed

and flashing acceleration!

Among all the delightful performance characteristics of the Outstanding Chevrolet—none is creating more widespread enthusiasm than its thrilling speed and flashing acceleration!

The great new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine responds to the accelerator with an eagerness that is literally amazing. Touring speeds are negotiated with such smooth, silent, effortless ease that you almost forget there's a motor under the hood. And when the throttle is opened wide—the pace is faster than the most experienced driver would care to maintain!

Back of this exceptional performance is a brilliant array of engineering advancements—typified by a high-compression, non-detonating cylinder head . . . automatic acceleration pump . . . hot-spot manifold . . . semi-automatic spark control . . . and a heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced.
