AT THE THEATRES

AT THE PINE TREE

All of the ingredients for a thrilling mystery play have been injected into the Universal picture.

HOLMES HERBERT in "The Charlatan" at the Pine Tree Theatre Sunday.

From the opening sequence in the salon of the famous magician "Count Castiglioni"—played by Holmes Herbert, until the final fadeout, the picture is filled with tense excitement and interest.

Perhaps the greatest directorial achievement in this production is the use of a crystal as the medium for introducing a flash-back, and George Mifflord, the director, is to be complimented on the subtlety with which he has given the past history of "Mrs. Talbot's" life as a circus acrobat to an interested audience. In her role as the dissatisfied wife, Margaret Livingston gives a brilliant performance.

AT THE LIBERTY

Surrounded by an excellent cast and with a story ideally suited to him, Hoot Gibson, Universal's irrepressible cowboy hero, will appear on Sunday in "Smilin' Guns," at the Liberty theatre.

The picture, in which the lovable Hoot portrays a reckless and devil-may-care cowboy who suddenly decides to become a polished gentleman, is a typical Hoot Gibson production, replete with hilarity, drama and action.

The story of "Smilin' Guns" is a screen adaptation from a popular magazine story by Shannon Fife, prepared for the silver sheet by George Morgan, known screen writer.

Heading a well chosen supporting cast is Blanche McHaffey, beautiful and talented young actress portraying the role of a society girl with whom the dashing Hoot is enamored. Miss McHaffey's beauty and histrionic ability go far toward making "Smilin' Guns" a splendid picture.

AT THE ORBITERS

Two of the screen's most compelling interpreters of the soft past are Ellie Dove and Antonio Moreno who appear in the former's starring picture for First National, "Adoration."

which comes Sunday to the Orpheum theatre.

There are numerous scenes of puerile action in this story of revolution and afterwards. They are a prince and princess of Muscovy, they are torn apart when the red tide flows over the land and through an error, he believes her unfaithful. In the end it all results in happiness, even when the luxuries to which they have been accustomed have been stripped away.

But in the moments of love, there is a realism that reaches sublime heights of passion and stamps the beautiful star and the handsome leading man as perfect exponents of emotionalism in pictures.

Frank Lloyd directed the picture, and the cast are Lucy Dornan, eminent European star of UFA, Nicholas Boucsein, Nicholas Bela, Winifred Bryson, Emilie Chantard and others.

AT THE PELICAN
Universal has made a college picture in sound and dialogue. It is "College Love," made with Hollywood's most popular young screen personalities. It epitomizes on the screen the spirit of American sporting youth.

"College Love" will be shown at the Pelican theatre starting Sunday. The synchronization includes all the noises, songs and music that made college what it is. Screen fans will find it a perfect depiction of college life as it is lived today.

From the college hero to the fat boy and from the beautiful co-ed heroine to the college widow, the players all talk. The "effervescent," "smart crack" conversation that patterns back and forth on the campus, in the fraternity houses and sometime in the classroom has been written into the story in the form of dialogue.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., the screen's youngest production executive, was the producer of "College Love." Nat Ross, the director, is in his middle twenties, and his assistants were younger than himself.
