FRANCE TAKES THE DAVIS CUP ANOTHER YEAR

Henri Cochet, Star, Undisputed Hero of Series.

PARIS, July 29. (AP)—Thanks chiefly to that little tennis machine, Henri Cochet, the Davis cup, emblem of world team supremacy will remain in France for another year.

The pick of United States' talent, hopeful of recapturing the cup lost to the tri-color in 1927, stormed the French tennis ramparts when they appeared weakest, only to fall back, defeated almost single-handed by Cochet's mastery.

In a challenge round decided by three matches to two, Cochet accounted for two of the three French victories and walked off the courts of Roland Garros stadium the undisputed hero of the series.

With the score standing two matches to one against them, the Americans had no more than an outside chance to pull the series out of the fire when the final day's play began yesterday. Big Bill Tilden, himself a heroic figure in many a Davis cup combat, came through in gallant fashion, trouncing Jean Borotra, weaker half of the French team, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

The tall Philadelphia's victory squared the series and left the issue to be decided in the final singles match between Cochet and George Lott, 24-year-old star from the University of Chicago, playing in his first Davis cup challenge round.

In a crisis like this, Cochet was unbeatable. He stormed his way through Lott's defense for a 6-1, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3 triumph.

Lott fell before Borotra in his first singles match on Friday. American supporters obtained their chief thrill perhaps, on Saturday when they saw the young Americans, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, Wimbledon, trounce Cochet and Borotra in the doubles in straight sets. With Lott, Allison, Van Ryn and other youngsters improving rapidly, some American experts have hopes that the cup will return to the United States within the next few years.

But the chances are that France will do little worrying for some time to come—not at least as long as they have Cochet, Borotra, Rene and others to depend upon.

LIBRARY VAN COMPLETES FIRST WEEK

The library book van is proving a popular innovation in Klamath Falls, having just completed its first week of service. The van is the property of the Klamath County Library and was acquired recently for the purpose of carrying books to the sub-stations of this library which are located in the country communities.

Yesterday, Miss Margaret Nye, special children's librarian and story teller, accompanied by Miss Mildred Olsson, county librarian, made a trip to Chiloquin, Fort Klamath, Klamath Agency and other country library stations. A story hour was held at Chiloquin for the children. Miss Nye has taken special training in this work at the University of Washington and has taken a position here for this special work. Friday a story hour will be held at Fort Klamath and the following Friday another at Chiloquin. Wednesday afternoon will be story hour for the children of Modoc Point.

The work is proving very popular in Klamath Falls and will be carried on indefinitely. In addition to the story telling held in the various communities the book van carries about 200 books which are exchanged with those at the sub-stations regularly, giving the country people a much wider distribution of reading material.

Max and Otto May Swap Heavy Socks

MAX SCHMELING (Former Pitcher New York Giants.)

Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey and Otto Von Porat now comprise the big "3" of the heavyweight division with the possibility of old Jack Dempsey, if he ever makes up his mind to fight again.

Most of the critics think the German heavyweight is a cinch to stop Sharkey if they ever meet. Sharkey can smack as hard as Paulino Uzcudun, but he doesn't have nearly the wallop Von Porat has now, and that Dempsey may still possess.

For plain hitting, a match between Schmeling and Von Porat would be a "natural."

But "Herr Max" will go probably for the "big shots" and his next fight will be either with Sharkey or Dempsey if the latter can be lured out of retirement by the call of "heavy money!"

MOVIE ACTORS WAR LOOMS IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, July 29. (AP)—Tension in the employment situation of talking motion pictures had tightened today as a result of two distinct developments yesterday, a physical encounter at a Hollywood studio, and a court citation against a producing company, both of which were outgrowths of the attempt by the Actors' Equity Association to establish closed shop in the industry.

Two men were dragged from an automobile and several hundred feet of film destroyed by war veterans working in a picture at a studio when alleged sympathizers with Equity created a demonstration by booing and hissing 150 ex-service men as they were leaving the lot.

Charles Adams, head of the motion picture division of the Central employment bureau for veterans, who had engaged the ex-service men, was in the studio when the demonstration occurred. He said two of three men who hissed the workers were taken from their machine, while the third, a man in advance age, was unmolested.

When he obtained the names of the three men they admitted, he said, that they were members of Actors' Equity association. The ex-service men took a camera from the car, which the trio had used to film their departure from the studio, and destroyed the film in it.

Charles R. Miller, resident agent of the association, said he had heard nothing about the disturbance.

"If such a thing occurred," he said, "it was not inspired by any member of our association. Our campaign has been conducted in a dignified manner, and we expect to continue along that line."

this Jones Baby Has Famous Ancestors in Sport

Wearing the odd name of two Bobby Joneses, too, the famous golf champion and the ball player. Something about his face also reminds you of Tad Jones, well known coach for years at Yale. He is said to be quite a pitcher, as well, and probably gets this from his ancestors Sad Sam and Percy. The Biff Jones strain is there, too, as the youngster announces he'll go in for football this fall. The sensational Jones really is one of those brain children of the photographer's dark room, however, and owes his existence to a clever composite picture of all the great Joneses shown above. The artist took the combination picture of all the great Joneses, touched it up a bit, and, lo! there was a brand new Jones!

THE YANKEES RUNNING WILD

Philadelphia Athletics Playing Good Baseball.

(By HERBERT BARKER) (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, July 28. (AP)—The New York Yankees, whose runaway victories in the American league were the despair of all rivals, are getting a taste of their own medicine these days and it's a bit doubtful if they like it.

In the last three American league pennant drives, contenders used to play .700 baseball only to find that not only could they not gain an inch, but actually lost ground to the Yankee steam roller that over long stretches could play at better than an .800 clip.

The same thing is holding true again this season except that the Yankees have yielded their accustomed "Simon Legree" role to Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. The Yankees of 1929 pull up half a game one day only to watch the A's increase their lead by winning a double bill or by winning while the Yankees lose. It's all most disheartening to Miller Huggins just as it was to managers of would-be contenders when the Yankee machine was running wild.

Through the enforcement of the Athletics, the Yankees found an opportunity to whittle away a little of the A's lead yesterday and just barely took advantage of it. It took a home run by the one and only George Herman Ruth to enable the Yankees to down the St. Louis Browns, 7-6, in 12 innings and cut the Athletics' lead to ten games. With the score tied at six-all in the 12th, Ruth, the first man to bat, drove the ball into the bleachers for his 24th homer of the season. Lou Gehrig had hit his 25th homer in the first inning with one on.

A four-run rally in the sixth gave Cleveland a 9 to 6 triumph over the Washington Senators. It was the Indians' third in a row over the Senators.

Aided by a home run and two singles by Marty McManus, Detroit's rookie pitcher, Kyle Graham, won his first game in the American league, beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-3. Graham gave up only nine hits and blanketed the Sox after the third inning.

In the National league, the Chicago Cubs increased their lead over Pittsburgh to two and a half games by trouncing the Phillies again, 7 to 2 for their seventh successive victory. Guy Bush won his 14th game of the season against a single defeat, giving the Phils six hits. The Cubs won the game in the third, bunching four hits with a base on balls and an error for six runs. Riggs Stephenson drove in three of the runs with a long home run.

John McGraw's New York Giants pounded Alexander, Frank House and Hallahan for 19 hits and beat St. Louis, 10-5. Mel Ott got his 28th homer of the season.

(Incinnati ran its winning streak to five by beating Brooklyn in both ends of a double bill, 4-3, and 7-5. The Reds bunched their five hits off William Watson Clark to good advantage in the first game. In the second Dazzy Vance was hit hard and retired for a pinch batsman after pitching the first seven innings.

AKRON, O., July 29. (UP)—A glider piloted by W. H. Franklin, 20-year-old Michigan University student, was towed to a height of 2,000 feet above Akron airport by the Goodyear blimp "Vigilant" today, then cut loose.

SEALS HOLDING LEAD ON COAST

Redskins Defeated Twice in One Day; Seals Take 21 Out of 29 Games.

By The Associated Press Pacific Coast league standings today showed the San Francisco Seals holding down a comfortable lead, with 21 victories out of 29 games, with the Hollywood stars second and the Los Angeles Angels third. A sudden and decisive change in the leadership lineup from yesterday's doubleheaders.

The Seals lost the first series in thirteen weeks of play when the Oakland Oaks won the first encounter of the day, with a score of 14 to 6. The Seals won in the afternoon 3 to 2. Both games were played at Recreation park. The Oaks enjoyed a regular field day in the morning, plucking the feathers of four Seal pitchers, collecting twenty hits.

The Portland Ducks rallied after a loosely played first game which they had dropped to the San Francisco Mission Reds 9 to 4, and won a thrilling second contest by a 3 to 2 count. The visitors from the bay city collected 15 hits in the morning affair, while the Ducks were held to 3 scattered hits. In the afternoon the Portlanders gathered only 6 while their rivals bagged 11.

Hollywood wound up a big week at Seattle by soundly thrashing the Redskins twice in the day, first by a score of 6 to 5 and later by 12 to 5. The stars won the week's series by six out of seven.

The reviving Sacramento Senators, after dropping 13 games in a row before defeating the Angels in the southern city Saturday, stepped out and won both games yesterday. The scores were 5 to 3 and 6 to 2. The Angels won the series, however, four games out of seven. John Cano, youthful Senator recruit let the Angels down with four hits in the second game, and pitched shutout ball after the first inning.

The largest and oldest tree in the United States is said to be the "General Sherman" tree in Sequoia National Park. Its height is 280 feet and its diameter is 34.5 feet.
