Natural Waistline Mode Is a Line That Won't Go To Waste This Fall

There'll Be No Radical Changes in New Season's Styles, Says Patou

left to right: A black flat crepe frock with lace touches at neck and cuffs exemplifies Jean Patou's conception of the long-limbed silhouette. Charmingly feminine and enhancing is a pale pink mousseline de soie evening gown whose cut gives a wide, soft girlish effect. By intricate cut, a Patou figured chiffon compliments the slender figure and yet gives the effect of great fullness.

Regardless of what length daytime clothes may develop in the fashion collections for autumn which are about to be shown here, evening dresses and probably wraps, it is generally agreed, will be definitely long.

Ankle length all around is quite likely for the formal evening dresses developed in sheer materials. Hemlines, it is thought will remain erratically uneven, but on the whole they will be placed further down and permit less frequent views of sheer hosiery.

In order to provide adequate covering for the frocks evening wraps, as illustrated by advance fur models must also lengthen their lines.

The result may be a general trend toward the cape-type wrap with circular flounces and godet fullness developed below the hips. Some of the newest and most successful velvet summer wraps have the cape line with shaped flounces much longer in back than at the sides and front.

Specialists in classic tailormades and cloth dresses report little change in the length of skirt, although the tendency for the past six months, they say, has been to very gradual lengthening. Tailors at present should touch the top of the calf of the leg, they give as a general rule.

TAKING STAINS OUT OF LINENS

There are different methods of removal of various stains in linens, but there is one essential principle: Never allow the stain to remain for removal at a later date. Take it out at once.

Meat juice stains are best removed by washing first in cold water and then soap and water. To take out coffee stains, hold the linen tightly and smoothly over a bowl. Pour boiling water through it, holding the water at some height to give force to its fall. Continue this until the stain disappears.

Wine stains should be covered with salt and permitted to remain for a number of hours before washing in lukewarm water. This method will also remove peach stains, but for other fruit stains soak in milk for an hour or two and then pour through boiling water or milk, as in the treatment of coffee stains.

Chocolate stains may be taken out by sprinkling with powdered borax. Soak in cold water and treat as in the case of coffee. Egg stains should be washed in cold water.

LIME CHIFFON

Stunning is a lime colored chiffon dance frock with long points and fluttering ends. One shoulder strap is of brilliant and a bertha of chiffon embroidered in brilliant outlines the low back décolletage.

NEW TONES

Myrtle, wine, turquoise and rose shades are among the "sensitive" shades this fall. That is to say, some of it most beautiful and costly imports feature them.

Collar, Bag and Gloves—All New

This disc of precious wood mounted on gold makes up the original collar shown above. It's by Jean Patou. A smart set of gloves and bag for summer wear is offered by Alexandrine. Both gloves and bag are in soft suede in a delicate shade of pinkish mauve and are trimmed with fancy leather in a matching shade.

CHARMING BATH MAT IN COLORS

For that necessary "color-note" in the modern bathroom, nothing is more attractive than a bath mat in one of the popular pastel shades. And it takes only a few minutes of time and a few cents of money if you follow the simple directions.

"Buy eight wash cloths in any desired color. Carefully match the square cloths in four even pairs or the mat will be too uneven.

"Sew pairs together with double mercerized thread of matching color. Use large needle and a straight loose running stitch just inside of the scallop or hem. Arrange the four doubled squares on a table so that they meet to form one large square.

"Sew squares together down center from top to bottom and side to side. Use two strands of mercerized embroidery floss and sew loosely from side to side, catching first one side and then the other. With scalloped cloth leave space opened in center to allow mat to lie flat. When squares have all been joined on one side, turn mat over and repeat same on other side.

"Using four strands of floss of contrasting color (dark green, for instance, is used on powder blue background), make heavy French knots over the four sewed-together lines through center. Using four strands each of light green and delft-blue floss, make flower petals. Add French knot centers of gold and black. Be sure to pass needle through right and wrong side of mat. A design across the open work center may be made by using four strands of the light green and delft-blue floss and three catching across center space. Fasten long loose stitches together in center with cluster of French knots."

FRIED CAULIFLOWER

Separate the head into small florets. Wash, parboil for 5 minutes and drain until dry. Pour over the cauliflower a French dressing made of 4 parts salad oil, 1 part vinegar, seasoned with mustard, salt, pepper, paprika, chopped parsley and grated onion. Let stand in cold place one hour. Drain. Dip into batter, made according to recipe given below, fry in deep fat and drain on unglazed paper. Serve with tomato sauce, if desired. For the batter: Mix and sift 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add 1/2 cup milk and a well beaten egg. Mix well.

"WOMAN OF IT"

Here's a little story for ambitious secretaries and stenographers. When Clara Ogden Davis was secretary to Governor "Ma" Ferguson of Texas she kept her eyes and ears open. Now she has published "The Woman of It," which is a novel based on the oil well scandals, clan fighting, high pressure politics, and other political phenomena that she observed in her own niche, which was a dandy peep hole to all that was going on.

Sport Frock Is Right on the Dot

There's a youthful charm to this sports model by Redfern. The skirt is of wool serge and the jacket is yellow with navy polka dots. The blouse also is yellow.

Stanley Ham Serve Six (With Bananas)

- 1 slice ham, one inch thick.
- 12 whole cloves.
- 1-4 teaspoon paprika.
- 1 teaspoon mustard.
- 1-2 cup dark brown sugar.
- 1-2 cup vinegar.
- 1-2 cup water.

Wipe off the ham with a damp cloth. Stick the cloves in the top and spread with the paprika, mustard and all but two tablespoons of sugar. Fit into a small baking pan. Add the vinegar and water. Cover and bake in a slow oven for 1-3 hours. Baste frequently. Peel and split the bananas and lay on top of the ham. Sprinkle with the rest of the sugar and the lemon juice. Bake uncovered for 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

Better success will be had with this dinner dish if care is used in selecting a slice of ham from one which has been especially cured for summer use. The Silver Bow brand hams sold at the best markets in Klamath Falls, have this advantage over hams shipped in from the east which are heavily cured for all climates and conditions.

Cheese Eggs for Sunday Tea, Serving Six.

- 1-4 teaspoon salt.
- 1-3 cup yellow cream cheese.
- 6 poached eggs.

Spread the toast with the cheese and salt. Heat in a moderate oven until the cheese has melted. Top with the poached eggs and garnish with slices of tomatoes and parsley. Serve at once.

FRUIT CARRIERS

If taking plums, apricots or other crushable small fruits along on picnics you can keep them in perfect condition by carrying them in egg cartons.

FRUIT'S TANG

When serving a chilled fruit cocktail to begin a meal, do not sweeten as if for dessert but, rather, add a bit of mint or lime to give it an appetizing tang.

ICE SAVERS

If you wrap your ice in newspaper it will last longer. Iced tea and iced coffee use little ice, if made in advance and allowed to cool.

PRETTY CENTERS

Fill either cantaloupe or grape fruit with fresh, ripe cherries with their stems on, and you have a piquant change.

SPIRAL CUFFS

A new way to introduce fur trim on cloth coats for fall is the spiral cuff. Sometimes a strip of fur is inserted to wind its way up to the elbow. Other times a narrow circular ruffle of fine fur makes the grade.

NUBBED TWEEDS

Wine and lightweight nubbed tweeds are excellent this fall. A blue-grey suit has a three-quarter coat and a skirt with a circular flounce introduced very low.

ASTRAKAN TRIM

A black coat for an older woman is handsomely trimmed with cushion collar and deep, pointed cuffs of astrakan.

A red felt hat for fall is trimmed with an ostrich bow in two tones of fuchsia on the long side.

Sport Frock in Light Blue

There's summery chic in this light blue crepe de chine sports frock, with a tie of the same material. The jacket is white, belted, and pink roses are worn upon the shoulder. The outfit is from Worth.

TWO BELTS ARE MUCH CHIC-ER

New belts are being worn in pairs. However strange it may sound, leather, alligator, snake and other animals are used to make two identical belts with identical buckles. They close in opposite directions, one buckle on the left hip and one on the right or else one buckle in front and the other at the back. If you do not like the idea there is another way very preferable. It is that of a wide, very wide belt, laced up with a round cord, finished at the ends with bright metal edgings.

SUN TAN IS AMONG BEST COMPLEXION REMEDIES

"A judiciously measured sunbath is a very important part of the cure of pimples and other eruptions," says Phyllis Wray, beauty expert. "Not a burn, really, but a good, gradual tan. The greatest dermatologist prescribes it, in their treatment of acne and other skin troubles."

"Synthetic specialists administer it artificially in the form of ultraviolet lights in their clinics. You can have your face outdoors for a while each day and deliberately tanning yourself. Take just a few minutes' treatment a day, at first if your skin is sensitive, for you must not irritate your skin by burning. Get a deep, gradual tan. It will help your skin troubles marvelously."

She Has a Pet to Match Coat

If this fashion becomes popular, young ladies soon may be seen going about the streets with cows under their arms! The idea is, a pet to match the coat, as shown above by Mrs. Edith Beggs who returned from a European trip the other day on the Berengia, carrying a leopard to match her coat. Thus, if seawater coats are popular, one simply must carry a bovine.

SOME MUFFIN SECRETS OUT

- 3 cups flour.
- 4 teaspoons baking powder.
- 2 tablespoons sugar.
- 1-2 teaspoon salt.
- 1 egg.
- 1 cup milk.
- 3 tablespoons melted shortening.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat the egg until light and add to milk. Add melted shortening to liquid mixture. Turn liquid ingredients into dry and stir vigorously until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased muffin pans about 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 to 25 minutes.

Date and Nut Muffins: Follow standard recipe. Add 1 cup chopped nuts and dates, cut in small pieces, to dry ingredients. Apple Muffins: Follow standard recipe and add to batter 1 cup chopped apples just before turning into pans.

Whole Wheat Honey Muffins: Follow standard recipe, substituting 1 cup whole wheat flour for 1 cup of the white flour. Sweeten with 3 tablespoons honey instead of sugar and add 1 beaten egg with milk. Reduce baking powder to 2 teaspoons. If desired 1-2 cup chopped dates may be added.

BE KIND TO THE NEW RUG

A new rug, when delivered, should be entirely too dry and may not be swept for two or three weeks so that it can absorb the necessary moisture and have a chance to mat. The short fibers in the wool yarn will fall out if too dry and years of wear will be lost if heavy broom or suction cleaner is used when the rug is first laid down. Crushed pile and shading—that optical illusion caused by reflected light from the side of the pile—are also aggravated by lack of moisture. A container of water on the radiator during the winter months will help remedy this condition. The woolly fuzz which accumulates on the surface of a new rug or carpet of deep pile is only the loose ends of the nap, accumulated in the pile during the shearing.

BEST DRESSED HAD 800 GOWNS

Every now and then the papers find a new "best dressed woman in the world," but that title still dates back a century to Napoleon's empress, Josephine.

And well it might, Josephine not only was originator of the empire gown, a style which influenced women's dress for half a century, but she also was probably the most extravagant woman of all time where her wardrobe was concerned. At one time, according to the French archives, she owned between 700 and 800 gowns, some 500 e-s-m-les, 850 pairs of shoes and slippers, and more than 500 pairs of silk hose.

Her stockings alone, costing $70 a pair in a day when silk was truly a luxury, would be worth $42,000, the complete wardrobe near a million.

ANOTHER NAME

A woman who weighed 240 pounds and who hoped to reduce was a member of Dr. George Huntley Aron's "uplift pilgrimages for the better and higher things of life" to Peaceful Valley, Col. The road Dr. planned a 90-day fasting period which would do everything from lifting faces to curing corns.

YOUTH WINS

It takes youth to attempt, and sometimes get away with, that which sober age would never dare attempt.

Here's Miss Mary Van Rensselaer Cogswell, of New York, who decided to visit Soviet Russia on the spur of the minute. She offered a calling card instead of a passport. They let her in, too.

Sometimes a fresh nation is less bound with fol-de-rol red tape than an older one, too.

An interesting new necklace for evening is made of two strands of crystals caught at the shoulder with a clasp of bagnette crystals.

Ford Predicts Passing Of Kitchen—All Wrong

"Let a young man turn his mind toward inventing a kitchen that will feed a hundred people," says Henry Ford. The old kitchen seems to be going, going, almost gone already. Think of the kitchen of grandmother's day, large enough to contain a whole apartment of the size favored by the moderns. The living of the whole family was done very largely in the kitchen. Grandmother spent her time there because her time was so completely occupied by the household tasks that must very largely be accomplished in the kitchen. There were candles to dip, preserving and canning to be done; laundry work centered largely there because of its convenience; cooking, baking, churning and a thousand and one other things to be done there. And the family centered there because mother was there and because it was warm there, no small consideration in itself. Even mother's kitchen was a generous affair. The fireplace was supplied by an enormous kitchen range. The spinning and weaving and candle dipping had disappeared, done more economically and efficiently by machinery and by new methods. But the cooking, the baking, the canning and much of the family routine still remained. Our own kitchens are smaller, more compact, and less the center of family life than ever. Our electric ranges are beautifully clean, but Bobby warms his fingers on cold winter days by the living room fireplace. Most of the more primitive parts of home making we have resigned long ago, except as recreation. How much longer will it be until some youthful mind will conceive the kitchen of Henry Ford's dream? For it will require a youthful mind to turn our kitchens into community affairs, capable of feeding a hundred people. The older ones of us will hope that the genius of the new generation will decide instead to keep this precious bit of the original family hearthstone. There's an aroma of crisp bacon and fragrant coffee in the morning, a spicy smell of fruit cakes and cookies on November afternoons, there are warm, fruity odors of summer days that curl about our memories like friends that we hate to lose.

A Turban in the Mode

THIS SNUG-FITTING AND EYE-REVEALING HAT OF THREE COLORS TAKES A BOW IN THE NEW STYLE

Alluringly new is the Marcelle Lyly turban that lifts its black felt self off Milady's forehead and fits very snugly, in the season's eye-revealing manner. A new version of the popular tricolor scheme is exemplified by the use of black, red and white velvet ribbon, plaid in a striking Tartan design. This velvet makes a smart sailor's knot low on the left side, with the ends flaring out in the fisherman's hat silhouette.

WARM CHESTNUT

The new brown which fall features is a warm chestnut. Rust, orange and other bright tones are used to fleck or trim many worsted suits.

BLUE PURET

Susy makes a beret of medium blue velvet, stitched all over in a lattice design and draped to the back. A knot of blue ribbon holds the draps.

LEAF TRIM

A stunning bottle green coat from Paris has a border of leaves made of the fabric, with fine velvet lines making the leaves' veins.

Married women are banned from working outside their homes in Dallas, Texas.

A new variation of the grass-grain band on felt hats for fall is the use of two bands ending in a bow at the side. This hat is of black felt with a fold in the crown and with longer-in-back brim.
