SEALS RETAIN COAST BANNER BY HALF GAME

California Teams Battle Hard For First Position

(By the Associated Press) The San Francisco Seals, after the most intensive week's play of the 1929 season, today led the Pacific Coast league with a half game margin, trailed by the Hollywood Stars.

The Stars and the Seals split yesterday's double header, thus enabling the Seals to retain their slight lead, gained in a victory Saturday after what had been a neck and neck race throughout the week, first one winning, then the other. The home team won in the morning, 9-5, and the visitors took the afternoon fray, 8 to 5. Jacobs was master on the mound in the first game, striking out six men. Hollywood batsmen claimed the victory in the second game.

Oakland took both ends of the Sunday double-header from the Sacramento Senators. The Acorns won the morning game at Stockton, 5 to 3, and bagged a 1-to-0 game in the capital city in the afternoon. Buss Aristi delivered the final punch in the afternoon contest, sending one of Louie Vinich's fast curves high over the left field fence. Sacramento won the series, 4 to 3.

Los Angeles captured the week's series from the Mission Reds, 5 to 0, by taking the first game of a double-header in the southern city, 14 to 4, and coming from behind to win in the second, 4 to 4. The first battle was a walkaway for the Angels, who scored six runs in the third to take a lead. Sing Tolson pounded out a homer, scoring three with him. In the second contest 17-Reds scored all four of their tallies in the third, when Ike Boone homered for the sixth time in the week. An Angel rally in the fourth tied the score. A double-header with Portland-Seattle playing on the Indians lot was postponed due to rain.

HOTEL DAMAGED BEFORE POLICE CHUCK "CHUCK"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19. (AP)—Chuck Wiggins, veteran local heavyweight boxer, and known to thousands of ring fans as the "Hoosier playboy" because of his antics in the ring, tried out his flat prowess on a large part of the Indianapolis police force last night—and took the count. As a result he may not be able to go through with his scheduled 10-round bout with Al Friedman, Boston heavyweight, here Tuesday night.

Wiggins was badly beaten before he was finally felled. The trouble started when his machine struck a police car. After knocking down the officer who attempted to arrest him, Wiggins was cornered in a hotel lobby which was badly damaged in the ensuing fight. The emergency squad had to be called before he was subdued.

Wiggins was charged with drunkenness, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, resisting an officer, assault and battery, failure to stop after an accident, and vagrancy.

POPULAR ATHLETE KILLED

CORVALLIS, Ore., Aug. 19. (AP)—Glen Gordon, Oregon State college student, was killed Saturday in a logging camp accident at Vernonia, Ore.

He was a prominent freshman athlete and one of the most promising sophomore football prospects. Coach Schissler possessed. He was an exceptional track man and had speed as a halfback.

Lou Gets Rations If He Makes Hits

By AL DEMAREE (Former Pitcher N. Y. Giants)

A ball player's reaction to a game is extremely acute. They are up in the clouds when they're winning, and down in the dumps when losing.

Even as great a hitter as Nap Lajoie used to get all down and out whenever he went a couple of days without a hit. "Well, if I don't get a hit some of these days," he would say, "I guess I'll be driving a garbage wagon soon."

Fred Toney used to break up the water bottles in the club house after he was defeated, and Eppa Rixey smashes up the chairs.

Ball players have peculiar ways of punishing themselves for defeat. I used to know a pitcher who was a great eater. After he had lost a game he would go back to the hotel and order all the best foods he liked to eat, and then sit there and not eat a thing, saying to himself, "You lost that game, and now you can't eat."

Lou Gehrig, who always calls up his mother after the game for a chat, went into quite a slump recently. "Well, I see by the paper you didn't get your hits today," Lou's mother would say. "You can't eat tonight."

Then one day Lou snapped out of his slump with a double that won the game. "I'm eating a big meal tonight, mother," he said over the phone.

ABERDEEN BOY TANGLES WITH MICK TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—At the municipal stadium, Philadelphia, tonight Mickey Walker, king of world middleweights, tangles in a 10-round bout with Leo Lomski, the deadly body-puncher from Aberdeen, Wash. Mickey's crown will not be involved but the bout may go far toward determining the next light heavyweight champion. Tommy Loughran, matched with AJK Sharkey in the big heavyweight battle of the fall, says he is to relinquish his 175-pound championship and Walker already has let it be known he intends to claim the crown. Lomski long has been considered a less-than-challenger for that title.

As America's Tennis Queens Recaptured the Wightman Cup

American women reign supreme in international tennis again. Ranking stars of this country regained the coveted Wightman Cup in nip and tuck play with the invading British team at Forest Hills, Long Island. It was invincible Helen Wills, shown in action at the left, who clinched the trophy for the United States by winning the final deciding match, 8-6, 8-6. But 18-year-old Betty Nuthall, right, gave the American court queen her hardest fight in three years. In the center, Mrs. B. C. Covell, left, captain of the losing British team, is shown giving the flower-laden trophy, symbolic of world tennis supremacy, to Mrs. George W. Wightman, captain of the American team.

LODGING HOUSE FIRE FATAL TO SIX OCCUPANTS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 19. (AP)—Six persons were burned to death and several others injured or burned in a fire in a rooming house here today.

Explosion of a gas cooking stove started the fire, which trapped the victims in their upstairs rooms. The house was a 14-room frame structure and the blaze spread rapidly through it.

The dead are: Samuel J. Archer, 17; Hurman Evans, Martin Kapp, Frank Hart, San Strange and Frank Matthews. The house consisted mostly of railroad shop employes.

The explosion occurred while the landlady, Mrs. E. L. Daragh, was preparing breakfast. Her face and hands were burned. Some of the roomers were downstairs waiting for breakfast, and escaped easily, but the seven or eight still in their rooms upstairs were burned fatally or injured by the fire and in leaps from windows.

ENTIRE FAMILY WIPED OUT BY GAS AND FIRE

ROYAL OAK, Mich., Aug. 19. (AP)—Hens Peter Nielson of Royal Oak killed his wife and four children with gas fumes and took his own life with poison after setting fire to his house here early today. Firemen who broke into the flaming house found Mrs. Magdeline Nielson and her four children, Niels Hans, 9; Bertha, 8; Paul, 6, and Bodell, 3, dead in the bedroom. Every gas jet in the house had been opened.

Nielson's body was found in the bathroom. Over the bodies of his wife and children the father had thrown naphtha. Following this he apparently entered the bathroom, took poison, soaked his clothing in naphtha and then set fire to himself.

The house was only slightly damaged. The body of Mrs. Nielson was burned, but those of the children were untouched.

New Oregon State Journalism Head

Charles D. Byrne

Two new members have joined the staff of the department of journalism at Oregon State college. Charles D. Byrne, for the last four years head of the department of printing and rural journalism at South Dakota State college, will arrive late in August to take the position as head of the department left vacant by the resignation of Maynard W. Brown. Fred M. Shideler, formerly of the staff of the Wichita Eagle, succeeds Frank L. Snow, now publishing a California paper.

Professor Byrne's career, starting on a farm home in Wisconsin, has included both training and experience in technical journalism, daily newspaper work, publicity and teaching. He holds both bachelor and master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin where he won student honors in agriculture, journalism and scholarship. He formerly was agricultural editor at Pennsylvania State college and also editor of a national dairy breed journal.

The situation in the standing of the clubs remained the same as the Yankees permitted Ted Lyons to pitch and bat the White Sox to a 3-to-2 decision.

Fox's two drives, each made with the bases empty, were his 29th and 30th of the season, and placed him second to Ruth in the American league scramble.

Herb Pennock was the victim of Ted Lyons' pinch single which broke up the game at Chicago in the ninth, but turned in a good game—good enough to win by an Irish mile with the usual Yankee batting support. Babe Ruth was forced to depart from the game with a sprained leg, but expected to return to the lineup today.

Ed Morris turned in the eighth successive complete game for the Red Sox pitching staff by hurling the Bostonites to a 5-to-4 victory over Owen Carroll in 11 innings at Detroit yesterday. This constitutes a season's record for the major leagues.

Cleveland fell upon Garland Braxton with great force in the fourth and sixth innings to trim the Senators by 5 to 1 in the series opener in the Ohio city. Willis Hudlin turned in his usual brisk game.

POPULAR PUGS RETURN HOME

Frank Church and his team of scrappers, Frankie Warneke and Eddie Edelman, have returned to Klamath Falls after a season spent in California, where the mitt artists chalked up several notable victories.

That the boys may not grow stale, Mr. Church has arranged for some local matches, the first of which will take place Wednesday evening, August 21, at Chiliquin. Warneke, in the middleweight class, will take on Ray McQuillen, a colored flash from Seattle. Edelman is to meet the pride of Chiliquin, Jack Davis.

The boys are in fine trim for the ring and also express their pleasure at being among their Klamath friends again.

FOREST EXPERT VISITS HERE

Southern Oregon has one of the best stands of yellow pine in the northwest, even though this section of the state is the "joining place" of many kinds of forest trees which find their principal locations in other parts of Oregon.

E. J. Hanslik, Portland forest management office, connected with the forest service is authority for the above statements. Mr. Hanslik is the author of "Trees and Forest of Western United States," which is just off the press.

While in southern Oregon Mr. Hanslik is devoting a week to the study of Crater national forest.

Chicago Fans Treated to A Rare Pitching Battle

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Swadows of another baseball era were recalled at the polo grounds yesterday by the finesse of two of the young set with a lively ball, sniping at batters from a distance of 50 feet and six inches. It will be many an afternoon before major league fans see a better pitched game than the one Perce Lay Maloney and the Cubs won from Larry Benton and the Giants by a margin of 1 to 0.

The Chicago speed-baller held command of his game at all times, and after he finally received the support of one run in the seventh, he actually seemed to have an impregnable lead.

In games of interest chiefly to the cities concerned, Brooklyn entertained Flatbush with a 3-to-2 victory over the fallen Cardinals and the Braves just outstaged the Reds to win by 10 to 5 at Boston. Watson Clark outpitched Jess Haines in the Flatbush battle, and Johnny Frederick batted home the winning margin with a homer and two doubles.

Harry Siebold got credit for the victory at Boston, where almost all of Jack Hendrick's pitching staff was involved on the losing end. Hank Gowdy, star of the Braves' 1914 world series triumph but inactive for five major league seasons, took the bench for a day to pound Cincinnati pitchers for four hits.

The Athletics will have to do with a 13-game lead over the Yankees for at least another day. Two home runs and a double by Jimmy Fox failed to save Moose Grove in a pitchers' battle against Sammy Gray at St. Louis yesterday, and the Browns won by 4 to 3.

CLOWN ALLEY

There is probably no livelier spot on the circus lot than "Clown Alley," that part of the huge dressing tent where the hundred fun-makers of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus dress.

Here the merry-makers have their trunks in long lanes on either side of the dressing room, and it is here that many of the clever ideas for costumes and "gags" that convulse audiences twice daily are conceived. It is here too, that a clown spends most of his leisure time while on the circus lot. A trouper's trunk is his "home," practically when on tour and aside from his circus wardrobe, it always contains many personal effects that are dear to his heart.

There are a hundred "Joys" with the Big Show, and many of them are internationally known. All will be on hand with the new crop of laugh-provoking stunts when The Big Show exhibits here Saturday, August 21st.

Motorists' Paradise Runs North to Bend

Lengthy Verdure Bordered Avenues Through Thinly Settled Region Strike Poetic Chord in Breast Of Wandering Scribe

By ZEKE SQUEKE FROM FORT KLAMATH to Bend is the motorman's paradise. Roads that have been marked out with a straight edge, have a surface so smooth and hard that no dust disturbs the pleasure of the trip.

GIANT PINES line the thoroughfare much of the distance and cast a kindly shade over the right-of-way, resolving the larger part of the journey into that greatest of all pleasures—a trip through the forest.

IN SOME places one can see the highway so far in advance that it dims away into the distance until in perspective the broad, oiled surface resembles a glistening spider web.

TRAVEL IS light and there are no houses for long distances. How much better it would be if pleasure seekers selected this route instead of the traffic-jammed roads to other destinations!

THIS IS also the way to southern Oregon's principal summer resorts. Signboards along the way call attention to diverting branches leading to Diamond lake, Crater lake and Odell lake.

AMONG THE elevations off to the west of the roadway many tall mountains are seen and in the group Crater Lake mount towers well into the sky. Its bleak sides giving no hint of the fact that within its conic walls one of the rarest gems of the Cascades beckons sightseers to its secluded shores.

BUT ON up the highway the traveler speeds. Only an occasional service station breaks the monotony or requires the driver to twist his head from the six feet of oiled way directly in front.

AHEAD, AN endless gray streak seems to extend clear into the Dominion of Canada. Rounding a far-off bend one is confronted with another vast expenditure of state highway funds which should easily bring the driver out pretty close to the north pole.

FINALLY, ONE sees where the landscape has been boarded up with some new lumber and a stop is made at the town of Chemult.

HERE SOME progressive spirits have built an oasis in the trip where the traveler can sleep or eat and the jogger from the near-by camp may flutter in the bright lights by way of a change from the forest routine.

EIGHTEEN MILES from Chemult is Crescent, the farthest north town in Klamath county. It is a pleasant little place and is the junction point for the road leading to Odell lake.

ON THE return one comes down the long grade of Sand Creek mountain, from which one of the most gorgeous views in creation is disclosed.

LYING BEFORE you, the Wood River valley stretches forth like a great lawn while silvery streams glisten and disappear in the distance. The scene ends in a panorama of hills, leaving the beholder without adequate words to describe the beautiful picture.

Yours truly, ZEKE.
