

Thoughts We've Been Thinking

If you are playing the stock market, look out. In many months the excited gamblers have been building a mighty structure at Wall street, booming stock prices sky high on stocks that do not earn more than one per cent on the price they ask for them.

By BRUCE DENNIS

This is entirely unsound and every citizen of America knows it. But the gambling spirit prevails with some and they hope to push the stock higher, sell out and make a profit.

A few days ago, however, interest rates were suddenly raised as the federal reserve system needed some of the money out of Wall street to be used in handling crops and for other legitimate business purposes. This raise threw the whole structure up in the air and prices toppled.

Within a short time after the opening of the market millions of dollars of so-called value had been destroyed. But was it actual loss? Not at all. It was purely paper profit held by a lot of silly people who actually think they are doing something in the business world. Those who played on a margin were wiped out entirely.

Yet, actual values and stocks are just what they were before this crash came. Nothing is changed except the figures in Wall street. Nothing is destroyed except a dream of riches which appears in the gambler's mind when he is playing the market. If those high levels to which the stocks reached had been sound nothing could have pushed them over, but they were unsound.

Don't worry about the collapse of the stock market in this country. If money and credit are changed from speculation to business it will be good for us all. God even for the stocks that had been over-boomed and felt the collapse when the federal reserve bank pricked the bubble.

It had gotten so in this country that no one would buy a piece of real estate, preferring to put their money on Wall street.

We saw recently where C. C. Chapman, of the Oregon Voter said, "Portland is very liquid."

Yes, Portland is very liquid, with much of her money back on Wall street in order to gain tremendous interest. This money should be invested in Oregon. That, after all, is just the matter of Portland.

We do not wish to criticize our big city. There is too much of that going on all the time. But if criticism has to come it is plain to anyone who will analyze Portland's situation that the fault lies with their moneyed institutions which see fit to place their money out of the state on "call" at large rates of interest, rather than invest it to extend credit and develop industry, this making Oregon a substantial, industrial and agricultural community.

W. O. SAUNDERS of Elizabeth City, North Carolina, seems to think men will not take up his system of wearing a suit of pajamas on the street. However, he continues to wear his, greatly to the consternation of the police of his home town and to the admiration of the passers-by who visit his city. He thinks the time will come when his custom will be adopted.

An Eastern newspaper commenting on his pajama craze says: "He is right about the conservatism. Who made the law that men must wear coats in restaurants? Men; the managers of the restaurants. Who enforces it? Men; the waiters. Nobody ever heard a woman protest against a man who takes off his coat in hot weather. Wait-

GOVERNORS FOR HOOVER'S PLAN

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 28. (AP)—Representatives of Western states today stood committed to President Hoover's proposal for the appointment of a commission of nine or ten men to study public land and reclamation policies.

Aside from a suggestion to governors of the eleven western public land states to submit the names of three citizens each to the president, for appointment to the five places on the commission allotted to these states, the conference of their representatives in its closing session here yesterday failed to take a stand on the other issues presented to it in a letter from the chief executive.

The resolution was adopted expressing appreciation of President Hoover's proposal that the government should cede to the states surface rights to the public lands within their borders and should turn over the administration of reclamation projects to the states, but did not commit the conference on these matters.

Other resolutions urged increased federal appropriations for federal aid highways and roads across government reservations and other public lands, increased funds for forest, fire fighting and forestry investigations and more money for plant pest extermination and control.

Just before adjournment the conference named an executive committee of three members to designate a time and place for the next annual meeting of the conference, arrange a program and provide for selection of delegates. Governor H. C. Baldwin of Idaho is the chairman and his secretary, Victor Shaw, was named secretary of the committee. The other members are Governor Frank C. Emerson of Wyoming, and Governor John C. Phillips of Arizona.

LAST MAN CLUB HAS TWO LEFT

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 28. (AP)—Death has checked another name from the membership roll of the last man's club. Today only two members survive.

John Goff, 86, of St. Paul, youngest of the trio who for two years have kept the famous organization of Civil war veterans in existence, died yesterday at the Veterans' hospital at Fort Snelling. He was 86 years old.

It was at Stillwater, Minn., July 21, 1885, that 24 members of B company, First Minnesota Regiment which fought in the battle of Bull Run, pledged themselves to a comradeship which only death could dissolve. One by one the ranks have been emptied until today only Peter O. Hall, 91, of Atwater, Minn., and Charles Lockwood, 89, of Chamberlain, S. D., remain. They are expected to attend the funeral of their comrade at Stillwater Friday.

At the first meeting of the club in 1885 a bottle of wine was set aside. It was to be opened by the last man who was to drink a toast to those who had gone before. Two years ago, however, the three survivors opened the wine, the three of them drank the toast. They decided that it would be too great an ordeal for one man alone.

INDIANS LEND COLOR TO SHOW

LAKEVIEW, Aug. 28. (Special)—A tented village of over 1,000 inhabitants where the dusky people gather from near-by reservations will grace an area of land in picturesque style here during the tenth annual round-up, Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2. The Indians, although welcoming visitors, are allowed sole control of their section, having their own officers of the law to govern themselves. Yearly they enjoy dancing, games and songs among fellow tribesmen.

The Lakeview show yearly attracts thousands of spectators from all over the Pacific coast. Situated as it is in the heart of the pioneer country, Lakeview is rich in the lore of the days of '49. Steer wrestling, racing, broncho-busting, roping, and many other feats displayed by world famous cowboys and cowgirls will feature the daily entertainment in the arena.

Special rates on railways leading into Lakeview will be offered through the courtesy of the Southern Pacific company during the days of the celebration. Many new and distinctive features are being inaugurated in the 1929 show, all helping to fulfill the slogan, "Something Different Every Second." The Lakeview Round-Up association, now a member of the Rodeo Association of America, is offering nearly $7,000 in prize money. With $1,025 offered as a bucking purse, bronco riders from all over the west will be present to receive championship ratings.

Their final thrill is "the three-ring squirrel cage," in which three sets of planes loop the loop independently, each plane chasing the tail of its predecessor less than 100 feet ahead. The fine planes are shown above with Lieutenant L. E. Gehres, flight leader, in the inset.

BIBLE LAW BASIS FOR JUDGMENT

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. (AP)—From the book of Leviticus, 21st chapter, 14th verse, Judge Joseph B. Davis yesterday took authority to annul the marriage of Louis Leon, 61.

Leon told the court he was a descendant of Aaron, brother of Moses and the first high priest. Under Jewish orthodox law he is a "Cohen," a title inherited by all male descendants of Aaron. As such, he told the court, he is governed by the special laws of his faith concerning priests, though by profession he is a tailor.

Through his marriage to Mrs. Rose Davis, 50, widow and a divorced woman, he lost his title. He was barred from worship and forfeited the privilege of burial in hallowed ground—a crushing degree for an orthodox Jew, he explained.

It was not until after his marriage last February, he said, he learned she had twice married before, her first husband dying, her second having been divorced. Thus, he told Judge Davis, he had twice violated the Mosaic law as laid down in Leviticus. "A widow, or a divorced woman . . . These shall he not take but he shall take a virgin of his own people to wife."

LOCATE ROUTE FOR NEW ROAD

A meeting of highway engineers and county officials of two states was held at the California line yesterday, at which time the matter of locating a definite route for the Weed-Klamath Falls highway was discussed.

California has agreed to build the road up to the line, and it was necessary to decide upon the point where the northern and southern sections will join.

Work is to start soon south of the line, California building the state line to Dorris section first. This is good news to Klamath Falls, as the present road to the south is in poor shape. The new route will be in charge of J. F. Waller, locating engineer for the bureau of public roads.

The meeting was attended by C. C. Seeley, maintenance engineer of the Oregon state highway department; E. B. Henry, Klamath county engineer; Silas Obenchain, county commissioner, and F. R. Goddard, county judge.

The California party was composed of J. B. Rohrer, county supervisor of Siskiyou county and president of Joint Highway District No. 11 of California; Geo. C. White, engineer of the bureau of public roads; Mr. Waller and J. D. Obermuller, assistant engineer of surveys and plans of the California highway commission.

GOTTA DO WHAT THE UNION SAYS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. (AP)—The Union forever, hurray, boys, hurray, was James Cummings' argument to Magistrate James Feron in Oak Park.

Cummings had been peddling bills without a license, which is against Oak Park law. He told the magistrate he distributed the bills because "you gotta do what the union says."

"If the union told you to come out here and shoot me, would you do it," the court demanded.

"I gotta do what the union says," repeated Cummings.

"And I," said the magistrate, "gotta do what the law says. Two dollars and costs."

JERUSALEM, Aug. 28. (AP)—Moslem uprising throughout Palestine, Syria and Transjordan with attendant horrors of fire and sword loomed today as a possibility unless British power in the middle east could crush quickly the rising spirit of unrest among fanatical tribesmen.

It was considered certain that facts rapidly being assembled did not (Continued on Page Eight)

MOISTURE NEED BECOMES ACUTE

PORTLAND, Aug. 28. (AP)—The United States department of agriculture, weather bureau, in a summary of weather and crop conditions for the state, week ending Aug. 27, states that water for irrigation is insufficient in some localities and that there is still some shortage of water for range stock.

"There was considerable cloudiness," the report stated, "and rain fell in the northwest section and along the entire coast."

The report continued: Cereals: Harvest and threshing of winter wheat are practically completed in the more advanced sections, and much spring wheat has been cut and threshed. In most elevated districts harvest will continue for some time. Irrigated corn is maturing well, and the same is true of some well cultivated fields in unirrigated sections.

Fruits: Peaches, Bartlett pears, and prunes are being picked and shipped, and some early apples are on the market. There is a heavy crop of prunes in some localities. Apples are ripening well, but some sunburn is noted.

Meadows, pastures and ranges: Except late cuttings, hay has been cut and stacked, and much haying has been done. Rains have benefited pastures locally, but most domestic pastures are still very dry and short, and range feed is becoming dry in most places.

Live stock: Stock is showing some effect of short pasturage, but many lambs and cattle are being shipped in good condition.
