FARM BOARD IS PLANNING HELP FOR MARKETING

CHICAGO, Aug. 29, (AP).—Farm leaders representing the federal farm board and the Northwest Farmers' co-operatives hoped today to perfect organization plans for the gigantic grain marketing corporation agreed upon at yesterday's closed conference.

A subcommittee of three sat up most of last night drafting plans to be submitted today. The committee consisted of C. E. Hough of Salina, Kan., national president of the Farmers' union; chairman; S. J. Collington of Stanhope, Iowa, of the National Farmers' Elevator Grain company, a co-operative; and John Manly of Enid, Okla., head of the southwest wheat pool.

Ominous clouds of disagreement which overhung the conference Monday, rolled away at yesterday's meeting, and late in the afternoon announcement was made that an agreement had been reached.

For a time it had appeared the impasse might not be surmounted. The federal farm board men urged formation of the individual co-operatives, but co-operative leaders balked, and insisted upon retaining the individual characters of organizations.

The subcommittee drafting plans was expected to provide membership requirements liberal enough to include as many kinds of co-operatives as possible, and at the same time meet with the approval of the farm board, which will hold the purse strings of financial relief.

Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm board, was unofficially informed that farmers of the northwest were in dire financial distress and needed immediate aid.

To go from Boston to New York in 1775 by stage required a week; in 1885 by boat and rail, 15 hours; in 1920 by auto nine hours; and in 1928 by air, two and one-half hours.

HAD TO LIVE ON LIQUID DIET FOR WEEKS AT TIME

"There's something about Sargon that just fills you with new strength and energy and it's the most wonderful medicine I've ever taken. My weight has increased from 105 to 115—a seven-pound gain.

MRS. T. J. PATTON

"For nearly two years my stomach was in such an acid condition I was on a liquid diet for weeks at a time. Solid foods always started my trouble again. My whole system seemed to be poisoned and I was bothered constantly by constipation. To add to my troubles, I was taken with inflammatory rheumatism last February.

"Finally I started taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills. I began to feel better right away and now my health troubles are over. Every trace of rheumatism is gone and Sargon has completely overcome that acid condition. I can eat just anything I want without the least trouble. The Pills freed my system of impurities and never sickened me in the least. I just feel like a different person in every way and have more strength and energy than I've had in years."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. T. J. Patton, Spokane.

Sargon may be obtained in Klamath Falls at Magill Drug Co.

Stetsons and Loud-Colored Shirts Ruling Fashion

Cowboy Paraphernalia Heralds Approaching Western Class at Lakeview Where Mustangs are Not Classified as First Class Saddle Horses.

By ZEKE SQUEE
LAKEVIEW, Ore., Aug. 27. (Special).—The last year's entire output of John B. Stetson's broad-rimmed hat factory arrived here safely and the lids have been passed around until everybody seems to be affecting this type of headgear.

IN FACT, if there is a man in the neighborhood who isn't wearing a Stetson he hasn't stuck his head out of the house up until a quarter past 2 this afternoon.

THE SALE of loud-colored shirts has also been brisk during the past two weeks. In consequence, a stranger stalking about garbed in the ordinary 55-cent shirt chimes in about six flats out of tune.

THESE SHIRTS range in hue from a deep bass-drum red to a bright train-crossing-a-bridge yellow. In sooth, the rainbow and boiler factories have been entirely robbed of their tints and rumpuses by the shirt makers who sell goods in this territory.

SINCE LAKEVIEW itself has been decorated up to look like an unpicked Christmas tree, the town reminds one of a cross between a Coos Bay sunset and a horse ranch back in 1855.

CATTLE AND horses have arrived for the wild west part of the program. In the lot are some nags that look as though they had backslid from the church since the revival meetings last fall.

THESE MUSTANGS roll a mean eye. They also have a disagreeable way of slanting one ear toward the city water tank while pointing the other ear over in the direction of devilry.

THEN THEY switch their tails too profusely to be classified as good saddle horses and the wise equestrian would not rent one for an enjoyable canter out across Goose Lake valley.

THUS WE have our outlaw stock which has been brought here from Alturas and surrounding ranches to do their stuff while anxious crowds gaze.

WHY THESE nags have so natural a prejudice against horseback riding nobody can explain! They skin the cat; they dance the hula hula; they churn the air up into shaving lather, in vicious attempts to unseat the bold buckaroo who should be termed a hero for even agreeing to mount one of these sons-of-guns in the animal world.

So end that the attendance this year might surpass all previous seasons.

IN FACT, the whole-hearted support and cooperation of everyone in the Lakeview community is making the annual fall wild-west show ever increasingly popular.

Yours truly,
ZEKE.

SNOWDEN ASKS MORE FAVORS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 29, (AP).—Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, having obtained three-quarters of what he asked for in increased reparations under the Young plan, is now making a strong effort to have the bank of international settlements located in London.

He posed his question at last night's conference at which representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Germany and Belgium were present, but they refused to discuss the question in connection with the financial features of the plan.

Mr. Snowden declared he should have that concession for consenting to the reduction of his claim from 48,000,000 marks to 35,000,000 marks annually.

The line-up of the powers on location of the proposed international bank is expected to be about the same as on distribution of the reparations payments. Germany, Belgium and France want the bank in a neutral country. Italy's position is doubtful. Japan at the last moment seemed to have turned against Britain.

A Virginian raised some white blackberries. If that isn't the raspberries, our contention is that they are not black.
