MALIN HIGH TO GIVE PLAY

On the evening of November 22, a cast selected from the Junior and Seniors will present J. C. McMullen's three act farce, "Fixing It for Father." The proceeds will be turned in to the school treasury.

The cast, which was selected by Mr. Street and Miss McAllister, is as follows:

Professor John Riedon, Richard Jackman; Elinor and Beatrice, his daughters; Ethel Kamard and Anna Zumr; Dick Cunard, his brother-in-law; George Havilina; Emma Blanchard, his Theosophist sister-in-law; Helen Honrik; William Merion, his boyhood friend; Louis Kallina; Harold, Merton's son; Claude Layman; Harry Chalmers, in love with Beatrice; Frank Kamard; Jack Derton, in love with Elinor; Mervyn Wilde; Fanchon LaVonde, the widow; Carrie Kucera; Aunt Lise, a negro servant and permanent fixture of the Riedon household; Emma Kallina.

The play is expected to be a huge success. It is being coached by Miss Judy, but the stage and business managers have not yet been selected.

The plot centers around the Professor, who becomes engaged by his brother-in-law, Dick Cunard, to the widow, Fanchon LaVonde. Complications arise thick and fast until the end, when he finally is disengaged by his two daughters and their suitors, and falls heir to $20,000 on finding a long lost will.

LADIES, USE DISCRETION!

The other night during the play practice our honorable coach entered the portals of the Malin Union high school, presumably for the purpose of attending to some affairs of his own in his room. He slammed his door a couple of times, walked half the length of the hall and back, and was quiet for awhile.

The play cast, which was unaware of his identity, became quite curious, and a certain young thing strolled over to the door and peered into the darkness, but saw nothing, so practice was resumed.

A few minutes later, coach walked out of his room, slammed the door, and sauntered down the dark hallway to where a light could be seen shining through the English room door. Just before reaching the entrance of the lighted room, he was startled by a head which stuck out the door, uttered a frightened little shriek, and was quickly withdrawn.

He paused a moment, then took the two or three remaining steps to the door, peered in, and having satisfied his curiosity, turned and started to amble back. "Ere he got a dozen feet, a hideous, angry shout rent the air. He stopped, terrified, in his tracks for an instant, and then made a terrific leap which carried him past the corner, and was out of the building before our dramatic coach, Miss Judy, who had neither recognized him till too late, nor anticipated the result, was able to step back into the room.

Once outside, the coach was able to regain his former stature, unfasten his belt around his neck, where it had slipped when he shrunk so rapidly a few seconds before, and to pull his shirt back over his head and brush his hair back into position.

As this he received severe shock he has received during his stay here, it is doubtful if his heart is still in a normal condition. Therefore, we humbly beg the two members of the faculty who represent the weaker (?) sex to desist, if possible, till after football season is over, at least, because if he receives another one or two, both his health and sanity will be imperilled, and Malin high will be temporarily without a coach, which would be a calamity indeed.

KLAMATH FALLS PLAYS MALIN

Malin is to play Klamath Falls this coming Friday at Malin. The team has practiced all last week, and has shown a good standing. It isn't as heavy as the team was last year, but it is in a very good condition to play.

The game will be a hard struggle on the part of both teams.

AMBITIOUS

"Now, boys," said Miss Judy, "I want you to write me a composition on the subject: 'What I Would Do if I Had Fifty Thousand Dollars.'"

Joe Misovsky sat idle until the papers were passed out, and then handed in a blank sheet.

"What does this mean?" demanded the teacher sternly. "Where is your composition?"

"That's it," replied the boy; "that's what I'd do if I had fifty thousand dollars."

STUDENTS ENJOY HUNTING

Three of the students of Malin, Louis Kallina, George Havilina and Mervyn Wilde, went duck hunting during the week end, and shot and their limits.

EDITORIAL

Take Your Chance

If you ever get a chance to obtain a thorough education, take it!

There are too many people who think they will go through life, and be prominent men and women, with only a grammar school education.

Surely they must have some reasons, some arguments for this idea. They have, but what are those ideas? Just ask one such person, and here's the kind of an answer you'll receive for your trouble:

"School! An education! I can look at Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Edison! They didn't have such a grand education, and they were certainly successful!"

Arguments? No. Merely mis-constructed ideas. Facts? Yes; but just try to imagine what miracles those justly famous men could have wrought with even a high school education! Those men were geniuses! Every person who thinks that because he has no inclination to continue his schooling that he is a genius is mistaken. Rather, he is a fool.

Do you, my friend, think that it was by any plotting that Lincoln and Edison escaped schooling? It was not! They were hungry for knowledge, and would have jumped at the chance of a thorough elementary education.

The facts of their poor schooling was given to the world to encourage, rather than discourage education. Lincoln and Edison put what education they did acquire to the best use, and so should we. A college diploma does not mean a comfortable seat in the presidency of a big business, or in the spotlight of the world, but it does mean that a person is better equipped to obtain such a position.

Get your education thoroughly, so that you can put it to a practical use and go into the world to serve others as well as yourself—then you might be successful and contented. No man or woman should be content to stay in the same rut forever and a day—and few are. Work and be worth something. Don't be a good-for-nothing droid.

Scratch—Scratch

"Scratch, screech, scratch, screech," is heard too often in the school room, when a student is busy scratching something on the desk for memory.

Why should the pupil scratch initials, pictures, dates, advertisements, and other things on the desks at school?

There is no reason for scratching up the desks. Would anyone of you students think of scratching up your mothers piano or other fine furniture? Of course you wouldn't, so why should you scratch up the desks at school?

These desks belong to you and your parents as much as anyone else's. They are bought with the taxation money your parents paid. So why not realize what you are doing, and not scratch up the desks?

"ORANGE M" ORGANIZED

The five lettermen in the school, with Mr. Fisher as advisor, have organized a club called the "Orange M" association.

There being five officers to be filled, Frank Maynard, with the most letters, is president; Louis Kallina, with next to the most, is vice president; George Havilina, secretary; Mervyn Wilde, treasurer, and Stephen Kandra, sergeant-at-arms.

This club was formed to induce more students to get out and try to make their letter in some sport, in order that they may join this association for letter men only. This organization will also cause greater competition in making the athletic teams.

A constitution was drawn up by the six founders of this association. A very serious initiation will be required before any student making his letter can become an "Orange M" man.

FIRST AID

The girls of Malin high school have organized a first aid club. Miss Wetzel, a health nurse of Klamath Falls, is the instructor.

There are about fifteen girls who are willing to take the course and accomplish something from it. It will be given every Wednesday from 2:40 to 3 o'clock.

TOO PERSONAL

Edwin Stastny: "Mother, why hasn't papa any hair?"

Mother: "Because he thinks so much, dear."

Edwin: "Why have you so much, mother?"

Mother: "Go away and do your lessons."

BOOK WISE

Professor Street went into Cunningham's book store and asked: "Have you a copy of 'Who's Who and What's What,' by Jerome K. Jerome?"

Cunningham replied: "No, sir; but we got 'Who's He and What's He' by Rudolph Kunz."

MALIN WINNER OVER MERRILL

The Malin eleven met the Merrill team last Friday at Merrill. The score at the end of the period stood 25 to 0, with Malin on top.

Both teams played a good game, although Malin was stronger, which helped Malin to win.

Substitutes: Streeter, Havilina, Stastny and Petrack.

The Malin girls defeated the Merrill girls in volleyball Friday. The final score was 47 to 32. Both teams did some very good playing.

The Malin players were: Agnes Brazil, Rita Hundley, Helen Honrik, Emma Kallina, Marjorie Kos, Carrie Kucera.

Substitute: Blanche Kos.

ENROLLMENT HAS INCREASED

There are seventy-five students enrolled in the Malin high school this year. This is a very large increase over last year's enrollment. In fact, it is the largest number of students that have enrolled since the high school was started.

The new study hall is crowded to its full capacity. The twenty-seven freshmen who enrolled this year in place of the thirteen seniors that graduated last year, accounts for some of the enlargements in the student body.

There are also many new students whom we are very glad to see attend our school.
