TIGER COMES FOR CONTEST WITH ESKIMO

"Tex" Assembles Big Talent For Next Friday Night.

The boxing fans are in for something good Friday evening, when the dark-hued Tiger Bob Robinson makes his initial appearance here. Coming with a rap of winning 16 out of his last 17 fights, he wants to show the fans that he is one of the best boys of his weight on the coast. He boxed the last five main events in Eureka, Calif., winning three knockouts, one decision, and the other was called a draw. The boys Tiger met there were Tiger Johnny Cline, the favorite boxer here, whom he stopped in the sixth; Frankie Denny, Johnny O'Dowd, K. O. Sullivan and Lefty Cooper. He has nice praise from the press wherever he appears, as he is an audience pleaser, always forcing the battle, and is very dangerous, for he packs a knockout wallop in either hand. The fans will like this boy.

Eskimo Going Good
Cleggorn is in great shape. After his great victory over the famous Red Uhlman, this Eskimo wants to win over Robinson, so when he arrives in San Francisco after his fight he will be in line for some good matches. He has already been offered a match with Chick Devlin, the much talked about scrapper from Larry White's stable.

Crim Faces Jackson
The semi-final six rounds finds the popular Steamboat Jackson facing that shifty boxer, Jack Crim. The fans are all for "Rowboat," as in his last seven bouts he has not lost a decision. He always mixes it to the delight of the crowd.

Crim has been working out every evening with Cleggorn, and is in great shape. If he gets over he wants Pat McFadden, then Carlo Ginnotti on a winner take all basis. What a crowd that will draw. Carlo stated last evening he will fight this dark skinned shiek for nothing; says Crim doesn't belong in the same ring with him.

Huff in Trim
Another bout causing a lot of interest is the special event between Billy Huff, veteran Indian boxer, and Pat McFadden, king of the lumber jacks. Huff is training Gene O'Grady, and has had two fights in the past ten days, winning one at Bend and a draw with Jackson at Medford. Both were good bouts, so he can be relied upon to give Pat a tough evening. The better have made Huff a 10-8 favorite.

Dairy Coming Strong
Dairy will turn out strong to root for their heavyweight champ when he hooks up with the pride of Damon Savage's stable, Battling Bunker. A K. O. is sure to be on the list here.

The curtain raiser will be a wow. Two green heavies, Red Spence and Jack Straka. One is sure to sleep for the required ten seconds.

All in all, it is a good fight program—above the average—and a packed house is looked forward to.

Tickets were put on sale today at the Mecca. Phone 153.

AMPLIFIER HAS TOO MUCH PEP

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 16, (AP)—Knut Rockne is convinced his 1929 football team is alert above all things.

Because of his ailing leg, Rockne directed his team in practice yesterday from an automobile and by means of a radio amplifier. The varsity was topping Wisconsin plays consistently so he called his assistant, Tom Lieb, and whispered a complicated badger formation.

The reserves tried it and so completely did the varsity stop it that Rockne was mystified. Later, he discovered the reason. The whispered conversation boomed out so loudly the players heard and memorized it yards away. For later whisperings the amplifier was turned off.

LEWIS DOWNS REYNOLDS

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 16, (AP)—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight champion of the world, defeated Joe Reynolds of Salt Lake City, Utah, in two straight falls here last night. Lewis won the first fall with a headlock in 42 minutes and the second, also with a headlock, in eight minutes.

AGED WOMAN SLAYER

SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 16, (AP)—Mrs. Laura Mathilda Titus, white haired and wrinkled by seventy years of life, today killed her 73-year-old husband with an axe. The victim, James Titus, married her 49 years ago.

The investigation of the capital may not reveal that Washington is dry, but so long as they keep printing the Congressional Record there will be one very dry article there anyway.

Cubs Must Return Mere $2,000,000

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher N. Y. Giants)
I have it on good authority, that William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, will have to return approximately $2,000,000 to Chicago fans, because of lack of accommodations in his ball park for the World Series.

This is a peculiar condition that could never happen in any other big business outside of baseball. The lines of business could snap at the idea of returning the money of satisfied customers, who were imploring and begging the company to take it.

And it also shows the inherent honesty of professional baseball. I remember several world series, particularly the 1914 and 1915 and 1927-28 ones, that the owners figured in advance to go six games, and sold tickets accordingly, that were finished in four and five games. In all of these series the owners had to return several hundred thousands of dollars in checks for tickets that had already been sold.

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 16, (Special)—Dehla Hawkins, Klamath Falls, a junior in home economics at Oregon State College, has been honored with an appointment to the editorial staff of the Oregon State Monthly, a magazine published by the alumni association of the college. Dehla will work on the women's section of the publication. The appointment is the result of meritorious work in Journalism and membership in Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic sorority.

WRIGLEY HAS EYE ON 1930 CHAMPIONSHIP

Cub Owner Planning To Strengthen Battery.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16, (AP)—William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the downhearted Cubs, promises some more interesting news items for the hot stove league this winter.

Back home from Philadelphia where his Bruins absorbed their final world series knock out punches, Wrigley already is planning and looking forward to 1930. His big bank roll is out again and he is after one or two established pitching stars and a third baseman who can hit as well as field.

Wants Dazzy Vance.
Dazzy Vance, speed ball king from Brooklyn, is reported to be one hurler Wrigley is desirous of buying while third baseman Whitney of Philadelphia also is linked in the rumors flying around Cub circles.

Wrigley, who refused to discuss the Rogers Hornsby deal last winter until it was sealed, admits a move is on to strengthen the Cubs for another National league pennant dash in 1930 and another try for a world's title.

"We'll be back next year stronger than ever and maybe we'll have some breaks, too," he said.

Refund Ticket Money

The Cub team, which received a rousing homecoming reception yesterday, was scattered today, while the business office began the task of making refunds for the sixth world series game that never will be played. A special window will be opened in the Boulevard Bridge bank tomorrow and those holding tickets for the game will be reimbursed. Approximately $200,000 will be sent back to fans.

"POP" CRAVES BEAVER SCALPS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Oct. 16, (AP)—With the two-fold purpose in mind of defeating Oregon State Saturday, and the Trojans of Southern California a week later, Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner today continued experimenting with his football aggregation in the stadium here.

In yesterday's workout, the Cardinals displayed their modes of defense in preparation for the Trojan attack, the second team executed the defensive plays against a practice eleven using U. S. C. maneuvers. Red Marks and Dusty Allen, who were playing roles of Russ Saunders and Jim Musick of the Trojans were unable to make much headway against the second squad. Ray Dawson gave a good exhibition, stopping half a dozen plays before they were fairly started. He was filling the place usually occupied by Pete Heiser, at guard.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16, (AP)—Hack Wilson has been playing baseball for many years but he can't make out the mental attitude of the fans.

"When I'm going great, you ride me; when I don't deserve credit, you cheer me," the pudgy Cub outfielder told a cheering crowd which met the team on its return from Philadelphia and the world series. "I can't figure you out."

The Hit That Won the Series

In a furious ninth inning rally that brought the world series championship cup safely into their hands, the Athletics defeated the Cubs on the former's home grounds Monday. Photo shows Bishop of the Athletics singling into left field, the hit that started the rally.

Sport Fan Writes Letter; Liked Reports of World Series Tilts

That the fans really enjoyed the world's series reports presented this year at the Pine Tree theatre for the sixth successive time is evidenced by letters which the Herald has received since the series.

One of the letters from an ardent sports fan follows:

"To The Editor:
"I attended every game of the world series at Poole's Pine Tree theatre. I enjoyed them immensely. The one thing that made the games exciting and tense beside affording the fans with a round of real amusement was the unique way of announcing each play, by our esteemed friend, Jack Franey.
"I am afraid, if it were not for the way Jack put it across, that the returns would have been rather flat, regardless of the 'Dick' Merrill finish of the fourth and fifth games.
"Faney is an ardent admirer of the Athletics and proved it by his many antics during the series. Jack looked just like the A's felt and when it looked as though the A's were done for, Jack looked the same way; and when the A's hit, especially home runs, Jack would dance across the stage and jump up and down, giving the fan, who got in for nothing, his money's worth.
"I believe I am right in saying that all fans who attended the world's series at the Pine Tree are with me in thanking Jack for his splendid and humorous announcing during many stolen lunch periods.
"Otto Ellis comes in for his share of thanks. He was a Chicago fan, and the two of them made much amusement for my fans. We wish to thank Mr. Poole and the press for their hearty co-operation. See you next year."
A FAN.

Cleveland First Baseman Is Most Valuable Player

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 16, (AP)—Low Fosseca, Cleveland first baseman and new batting champion of the American league, is the "most valuable player" of the league for 1929, based upon the decision of a committee of baseball writers representing each city in the circuit.

At the request of the sports editor of the Associated Press, this committee named by the baseball writers covering the world's series, cast its ballots in the absence of an official selection by the American league, which abolished this year the award it had made annually since 1922. The National league makes its last official selection this year, to be announced later.

The veteran Fosseca won the unofficial contest from contenders in the ranks of the world's champion Athletics because he was rated high on seven of the eight lists prepared by the baseball experts.

Dykes Second

Jimmy Dykes, whose all-around infield play was a vital factor in the success of the A's, was the favorite choice among the Mackmen and finished second in the vote. Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Mickey Cochrane also figured high, causing "split ballots" that kept any one member of the champions from heading off Fosseca.

players figured in the voting. The members of the committee casting ballots for the American league's "most valuable player," for announcement through the Associated Press: Harry G. Salsinger, Detroit; John B. Keller, Washington; John G. Hoffman, Chicago; Ford C. Frick, New York; Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland; Paul Shannon, Boston; Sid C. Keener, St. Louis; William Dooly, Philadelphia.

BOY VIOLINIST MAY LAWFULLY PLAY IN STATE

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 16, (AP)—Yehudi Menuhin, California musical prodigy 12 years old, can lawfully appear in an evening concert in Portland, notwithstanding his tender years, says an opinion by Attorney General Van Winkle to Stephen G. Smith of Portland, member of the board of inspectors of child labor. To do so the boy will have to get a permit from the judge of the juvenile court.

A statute of 1902, the opinion says, prohibits, in general terms, any employment of a child under 16 after 6 o'clock in the evening. A later statute, enacted in 1909, allows the appearance of children under 16 at public entertainments if a permit is gotten from the juvenile judge.

"It is a rule of statutory construction," says the opinion, "that where there is a general statute and also a specific and particular statute upon a subject, the specific and particular statute prevails."

Tickets On Sale

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16, (AP)—Ticket sales to the concert to be given by Yehudi Menuhin, 12, California violin prodigy, was resumed today after Attorney General Van Winkle handed down a verdict yesterday that Yehudi's appearance did not break the child labor law.

TURNER SELECTS WOODAL

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16, (AP)—Tom Turner, president of the Portland baseball club, announced today that Larry Woodall, catcher for the Ducks, would succeed Bill Rodgers, resigned, and manage the team next year.

HUSKIES FEAR ANCIENT RIVAL

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 16, (AP)—Still feeling the sting of last Saturday's 48 to 0 defeat registered by the Trojans of Southern California, the University of Washington Husky is considered the "underdog" in the scheduled Washington-Washington State football game at Pullman, Wash., next Saturday. Thirty-three Huskies will leave here tomorrow night for the Cougar Lair.

In a long hard scrimmage late yesterday, the super varsity eleven twice scored on the Washington first team. The Huskies seemed to lack the fight and slip so necessary for a winning eleven.

In an endeavor to make his line function as a unit, Bart Spelman, line coach, donned a headgear and battered the forward Giants around to show them how it should be done. Coach Enoch Bagshaw had more hard work planned for today in a hope that the Huskies would find themselves before the Cougar battle for the State championship.

Probably that dog that won the prize recently for having the most fleas started from scratch.

Just Naturally Good

Good tobaccos . . . made good by Nature, not by "artificial treatment." That's the secret of OLD GOLD'S goodness

A chef may be able to make a doubtful steak taste good by artificial flavoring and sauces . . . But it's still dangerous to your stomach.

So it is with cigarette tobaccos. "Heat-treating" is useful to "set" and "sterilize" the tobaccos . . . and all cigarette makers have used it for years. But "heat-treating" cannot take the place of good tobacco in making a honey-smooth cigarette.

Better Tobaccos make them smoother and better . . . with "not a cough in a carload"
