

Taylor Keeps Whereabouts Well Hidden

Officers Baffled In Search For Girl Attacker

Conflicting clues last night continued to baffle officers who are searching for Ted B. Taylor wanted here on a charge of attacking a nine-year-old girl who knew him as "daddy."

Officers yesterday followed information that Taylor was still in the city but the clues proved groundless as each place where Taylor might be or was said to have been hiding was visited.

Seen on Highway
One man who was familiar with Taylor stated yesterday he saw him M. day, the day he left, walking on the Ashland-Klamath Falls highway toward Ashland. He stated that Taylor was still dressed in the dark gray suit and was without hat or cap.

Another reported that he had seen a pair of greasy overalls lying on the same highway. Taylor was reported to have taken a pair of overalls from a box car.

Girl Innocent
Meanwhile the little girl who Taylor is alleged to have wronged lived in innocence of any wrong having been done, thinking that anything "daddy" did was all right.

Taylor had been living with the mother of the girl who worked in a local business for the sum of $15 a week. The mother of the girl had "kicked" Taylor from the apartment the week before he was suspected.

The attacks on the girl are said to have been made while the mother was at work.

Suspected Something
Taylor was taken home and put to bed Saturday night by an officer who found him fighting in a local pool hall. Later police investigated and Taylor was arrested at a local dance hall on a charge of being drunk.

On the way to the station he asked what the charge was. The officer told Taylor he did not know, but that he was wanted. Taylor the officer says then said, "I'll get a ride out of this all right."

Taylor escaped jail May 1, 1928, when he was serving a six months' sentence for bootlegging. Officers are still following all news and Eugene officers have been asked for his fingerprint identification.

Taylor is described as being about 28 years of age, five feet and seven inches tall, weight about 155, has dark hair parted in the middle and combed straight, a black mustache, dark complexion, dark "queer" eyes, and the back of his head is flat. Anyone seeing a man answering his description is asked to immediately notify officers.

TO DEDICATE COURT HOUSE

An invitation for Klamath residents to attend Courthouse Dedication day at Roseburg, Saturday, October 19, has been received by the Klamath Chamber of Commerce.

This celebration marks the completion of Roseburg's $275,000 courthouse building. It is located in the heart of the city and is considered the most beautiful and modern structure of its kind in the west.
