

NEWS IN BRIEF

Masquerade Is Success—

The masquerade given by the Business and Professional Women in the club rooms of the City Library Monday night was a great success. About forty guests were present all in costume. The prize for the funniest costume went to Miss Thelma McAlpin, who was a clown, and prizes for the best characters to Leda Parker and Miss Lillie Darby, who were pirates. The rooms were cleverly decorated in Halloween spirit, and fortune telling were enjoyed throughout the evening.

High School Forum—

The Chamber of Commerce Forum Wednesday noon will be devoted to the different functions of the high school. Wilson Wiley, district attorney, will be chairman, and Paul Jackson, principal of the Klamath Union high will be the speaker. Several short talks will be made by students on various school activities. Ben Wilson, student body president, and Guido Robustelli, football captain will speak. The girls sextette, under the direction of Miss Harriett Baldwin will furnish the music.

To Attend Banquet—

Miss Cecelia Beyler of Astoria, state president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, will be in Klamath Falls to attend the banquet given for Miss Ruth Rich, the national field secretary of Business and Professional Women's clubs. The banquet will be given November 15th, according to Mrs. Lee Parker, chairman of the southern Oregon district.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 29.—Mr. Gene Ripley, whose "Believe It or Not" column amazes readers all over the country daily, might find more material from the Oregon State football squad. Somewhat of a national record is claimed by the Orange gridmen who point to the fact that there are seven married men on the team. Pete Miller, big tackle, is the oldest, being 29 and has two children, while six other players—Tige Larson, Johnny Essman, Charley Troyer, Lionel Cross, Harry Kent and John Nagel are also in the ranks of the Benedicts.

YES!

"Would you say 'yes' if I asked you to marry me?" he asked cautiously. "If I should say 'Yes,'" she replied, with equal caution, "would you ask me?"—TH-BUS.

JUDGE RETURNS FROM MEETING

Judge Fred R. Goddard has returned from a meeting of the Northern California, Southern Oregon Development association which has just concluded in Crescent City. Others from southern Oregon who attended the session were C. E. Gates, state highway commissioner of Medford, and Ted
