FISH PLANTING SHOWS GAIN IN STATE IN 1929

New Policy of Game Commission Helps Angling

When the annual report for the year ending September 30, 1929 is completed it will undoubtedly show a much greater planting of fish than did the previous year. One reason for the increase is the fact that many of the small fish that might have been planted earlier were held until they were of a size to better withstand conditions in swift running streams, and defend themselves against other fish. In the past year very many of the large plantings have been of trout running from five to nine inches in length. It is believed by Harold Clifford, state game warden and Matt Ryckman, superintendent of hatcheries that the holding of fish in the hatcheries until they reach a size of approximately six inches greatly lowers the mortality of the trout and this works to the decided advantage of the angler.

Fines Heavier
An average number of arrests for violation of the game laws has been made during the past year, but the fines levied by justices of peace in the various districts have been heavier. Thus the state game commission will receive and increase in revenue from the fines. One half of the amount of each fine goes to the game department and the remainder to the county in which it was levied.

Guinea Fowls Thrive
Guinea fowl, raised at the game farms of the state game commission and liberated in various sections of the state are thriving according to reports that are coming in from deputy wardens. They are rapidly acclimating themselves to wild conditions, and, in time, it is believed that they will increase to such a degree that an open season will be permitted.

Popular Attraction
The exhibition of game birds and fish made by the game department at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland proved one of the most popular attractions. It was particularly interesting to visitors from other states. Large crowds were continually in evidence about the bird pens and the miniature hatchery.

Intelligent Birds
The actions of the Chinese pheasant during the open season puts him almost in a class by himself when it comes to intelligence. With scatter guns banging, and dogs in the field many pheasants sought sanctuary in the towns and cities. It was no uncommon sight in the suburban sections of Portland to see Chinese roosters feeding contentedly in vacant lots. With the season closed these same birds migrate back to their regular haunts, knowing, seemingly that their lives are no longer in danger.

To Take Eggs
Employees of the game commission hatchery department will this week start the taking of eggs at East Lake, near Bend. The eggs will be taken to the Fall River hatchery. The taking of eggs from Elk lake will be abandoned this year due to the presence of the worm parasite which took a heavy toll of fish from the lake during the last few months.

McEWAN DRILLS WEBFOOTS FOR PASSING GAME

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 6, (AP)—The University of Oregon football squad will hold several stiff scrimmages this week to prepare the team for its four big games ahead the first of which is with Oregon State college here November 15.

Then comes the University of Hawaii game at Portland, November 23. St. Mary's follows and will be met at San Francisco Thanksgiving Day and the final tilt is with the University of Florida at Miami, December 7.

All season long Oregon has been weak on pass defense. Stanford ran the Webfoots dizzy with their long spirals. Idaho slipped over a few but did not take advantage of them to score. Washington made almost all of its yardage via the air and the Ultras caught the Webfoots flat footed.

Inasmuch as Oregon State and Hawaii both have strong passing attacks, defense against forward passes will be the chief dish on this week's menu. Captain John McEwan, Webfoot coach, announced.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 6, (AP)—At a meeting of the Marion county game protection association last night considerable sentiment was shown in favor of a change in the deer hunting season to get away from the forest fire period. It was believed the season might be opened in August. Governor Patterson was criticized for closing the season because of forest fires, several members declaring that hunters are not a fire menace. A split hunting season was proposed.

Opal Brought Bad Luck to the Rube

by his toppling of Dolan in the second round. Dolan rallied in the latter rounds, but his blows lacked power. The highlight of the evening was the four-round battle which Mickey Dolan won over Jimmy Kelly. Dolan had Kelly wozy in the first round with a terrific barrage of head blows and knocked him down in the second for a count of nine with a right to the chin, but Kelly was tough and came back gamely. Charley O'Leary made short work of Terry McHugh in another preliminary, scoring the only knockout of the evening in the first round. Jack Lewis took a well earned four round decision over Chuck Sunski. Lewis fought the entire battle with a bloody cut on his cheek. Young Jess Willard won over Young Peter Jackson, four rounds, and Al Straub and Bobby Drucker went four rounds to a draw in the curtain raiser.

As described by Dr. John S. F. Gile, Marsters sustained a fracture of the right transverse process at the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. Dr. Gile said that the injury would have no permanent effect on the player but it will keep him either in the infirmary or on side lines while his team plays Brown, Cornell and the Navy. The doctor said he was resting comfortably and would be allowed to resume his classroom work soon. This is the star's senior year.

RALPH GRUMAN NEW PROMOTER

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6, (AP)—The first boxing exhibition staged here since the recent decision of the Portland boxing commission to permit private promotion drew a fair sized crowd to the Armory last night. Frisco McGale, Seattle and Bob Jubb, Albina, shared honors in the two six-round main events. McGale winning over Jimmy Dolan and Jubb over Johnny Trambitas. McGale was the aggressor in his bout with Dolan and the decision was margined

by his toppling of Dolan in the second round. Dolan rallied in the latter rounds, but his blows lacked power. BEARS AWAIT BIG GRIZZLIES

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 6, (AP)—The fur will fly thick and fast here Saturday when the bone crushing Bears of California university and the hefty Montana grizzlies tangle in Memorial stadium. At least that was the indication on this end of the competition today, as the Golden Bears, unbeaten this season, prepared for further triumph by limbering up their gridiron machine.

ATTENDED TOURNAY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Devereaux returned Saturday evening from Portland where Mr. Devereaux played in the Oregon open championship at the Columbia country club. Unfortunately Mr. Devereaux got off to a bad start on the first day's play, and although he shot a 61 the second day, and a 58 the third day, he just missed qualifying.

TIGER-FELDMAN BOUT NATURAL

Fight fans will see one of the fastest middle weights in action when Willie Feldman, the flashy Jewish boxer clashes with Tiger Robinson at the Legion pavilion Friday evening.

Feldman has a nice record. Since coming to the coast he has defeated Homer Sheridan and Red Uhan, and lost close decisions to Maxie Rosebloom and Joe Anderson, both leading boys in the light heavy division. In his work out last evening, Feldman showed himself a great boxer and he hits with both hands. The fans will like this 21-year-old boxer.

Robinson, since his last bout here, when he made such a good showing against Cleghorn, fought a main event in Frisco with Frankie Warneke, the German, who in his five starts in the Bay City has taken the fans by storm and what a trouncing Tiger Bob gave Frankie. This will be a great fight here, fans, a big city attraction between a fighter and a boxer, which makes a great combination.

SEMI BOUT STRONG

The semi 6 rounds is a rematch. Teddy Miske, a newcomer from the south who is under the management of Bobby Ross and who has met the best boys of his weight, faces the ever popular Bent favorite, Billy Breeding. Last Monday at Medford they stole the show. For the full 6 rounds they stood toe to toe and fought it out to the satisfaction of every fan in the packed arena.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR STATE CLASH

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 6, (Special)—A capacity crowd for the Oregon-Oregon State homecoming game here, November 16, has been predicted by the A. S. U. O. ticket office. The grandstand seat sale has been heavy, and there are only a few reservations left in both the west and the east stands. The best seats, constructed in front of the stands on both sides of the field, still remain and are obtainable through advance reservation at the Oregon graduate manager's office.

Covered seats at the north end of Hayward field are not yet sold. There are also 2250 uncovered seats at the northern end which are still to go. About 4000 general admission tickets will be placed on sale at the field the day of the game. The grandstand seats are being sold for $2.50, the field seats along the sidelines and the covered seats at the north for $2.00, and the general admission at $1.50. AN official South American commission reports Chesterfield's blend as the "most desirable." In the Canal Zone, that international crossroads, Chesterfield is far and away the favorite. Tourists write of deliciously fresh Chesterfields in India, or that it is the one American brand in this or that French village.
