AT THE THEATRES

AT THE PINE TREE

A cast marked by the presence of both quality and quantity in unusually large proportions appears in Colleen Moore's first talking and singing picture, "Smiling Irish Eyes," which is showing at the Pine Tree theatre this week.

Undoubtedly, more accomplished players are seen in this First National-Vitaphone special than in any talking picture produced. An immense scene, representing an Irish fair, was photographed and recorded from so many different angles that Producer John McCormick required over 900 people, capable of playing effectively before both camera and microphone, in order to represent properly this interesting portion of "Smiling Irish Eyes." Thus has the popularity of talking pictures placed a larger premium on talent, and all but eliminated the "extra" player incapable of giving interesting characterizations.

Colleen Moore is ideally suited for the role she plays in "Smiling Irish Eyes," in which she enacts a sparkling Irish girl. Both by personality and dramatic talent is she equipped for a realistic interpretation of this charming character, while she acquires a delightful brogue to make her portrayal all the more convincing. She sings and talks in this Irish romance.

Opposite Miss Moore in the male lead is James Hall, whose engaging smile and excellent voice combine with splendid ability to make his characterization effective. Like Colleen, he sings several melodies in "Smiling Irish Eyes."

AT THE LIBERTY

The millions who have read Zane Grey's thrilling novel, "The Last of the Duanes," should welcome the William Fox screen version starring Tom Mix, which opened at the Liberty last night for a two days' run.

Those who have not had the pleasure of reading the book

AT THE PELICAN

Delicious humor, heart-tugging pathos and nerve-tugging thrills combine to make "Oh, Yeah!" Pathe's all-dialogue production which appeared yesterday at the Pelican theatre, one of the most completely satisfying screen entertainments ever presented at this popular theatre.

Bringing together on the screen for the first time Robert Armstrong and James Gleason, the team that scored such a tremendous international success on the state in "Is Zat So!", the picture proves a worthy successor to that great triumph. It is replete with laughs and moves along swiftly to a dramatic climax that is breath-taking.

"Oh, Yeah!" directed by Tay Garnett, is the story of two railroad brakemen who have the wanderlust and work wherever there is a railroad, but not for long. They never can stay put. That is, they can't anchor until they land in Linda, a railroad camp, and develop two perfectly good heart romances. The love affairs of these two hardboiled roustabouts is one series of rib-ticking occurrences.

TROY, Mont., Nov. 13 (AP)

A fire started racing through the business section of Troy early today damaging business property to the extent of $100,000 more or less was confined to one city block. Several residences were destroyed.

Colleen Moore is ideally suited for the role she plays in "Smiling Irish Eyes," in which she enacts a sparkling Irish girl.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her So Much

Kingston, Mo.—"I have not taken anything but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for 18 months and I cannot praise it enough. I weighed about 100 pounds and was not able to do any kind of work. My housework was done by my mother and my out-of-door work was not done. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and now I am well and strong and feel fine. I got my sister-in-law to take it after her last baby came and she is stronger now. I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. HARRIE V. EASTON, R. 1, Kingston, Missouri.

Freshmen Repair "O" At Eugene

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—University of Oregon freshmen bent their backs today over cement boards mixing concrete for a new corner of the great yellow "O" on the face of Skinner's butte.

Meanwhile officials of Oregon and of Oregon State were investigating the blast which was touched off early Saturday, rousing Eugene and tearing away a corner of the "O."

One chunk of cement, weighing 25 pounds, hurtled through the roof of a home near the butte but injured no one.
