

BUSTER MARTIN TAKES NAP IN SECOND CANTO

Tulsa Policeman Walks Into One of Primo's Big Bertha's

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Primo Carnera, Italy's man of magnitude, for the fourth time showed his punching ability to an American ring audience when he sent a swift right to the jaw of Buster Martin, Tulsa, Okla., policeman, and ended a scheduled 20-round contest after 56 seconds of the second stanza had elapsed at the arena last night. Martin was on his feet during the nearly four minutes of the two rounds but had to be carried out after Carnera made an effective contact.

Primo Slow In First
The behemoth came out slowly for the first round and Martin apparently started with the attitude of staying with the Alpine Goliath as long as possible. Primo attempted to add another first round K. O. to his string but the policeman kept at a distance, when possible. Carnera failed to display a great amount of effective timing of punches and missed frequently, Martin diving for the big boy's abdomen and hanging on, until Primo wrestled free.

Carnera landed a few left hooks which made Martin wobble on his feet and instead of dancing out of range, the Tulsa staggered away. The crowd cheered as Martin went to his corner at the bell.

Buster made a costly mistake in the second, after clinching a few times, when he tried to lead with a right to Carnera's head, only to have the big one's right collide with his jaw. Martin's head hit the canvas with a thump and he lay perfectly still during the count. Carnera helped Buster's seconds carry the conquered gladiator into the corner.

Believe It or Not! Bat Wants a Fight

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Shades of Goldfield and Reno! Batting Nelson is yearning for a ring comeback.

No sooner had the former world's lightweight champion read about Charlie White's comeback campaign that he thrust out his chest and challenged him. "If White is good enough to come back, so am I," the once durable Dane said. "There is many a good sock in these fists of mine and the fight romoters, who are digging the cemeteries for good fighters, can throw away their spades."

Nelson wants to meet White in the latter's comeback try at Jack Dempsey's show at the Coliseum, February 22.

Count Didn't Count With Izzy

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher N. Y. Giants)
No spring training trip would be complete without Izzy Kaplan, the pudgy little New York photographer and an institution in that city.

One spring one of the Yankees had won several ducks in a shooting meet and hit on a perfect place to park them: namely, Izzy's bath room.

Through some subterfuge, he obtained Kaplan's key and the live ducks were placed in his bath tub.

When Izzy returned to his room later he heard strange noises coming from the bath room and rushed down to the desk for a bodyguard to investigate.

Just before the U. S. entered the world war, and Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, was recalled by his government, Izzy was assigned to get a good picture of him the day he sailed. It was a very serious undertaking, but nothing daunts Kaplan's audacity.

The Count had a very serious grim look in his face, which didn't suit Izzy.

"Hey, Bernstein," he yelled at the astounded ambassador, "push your bat back and smile, will ya?"

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 12 (AP)—In a thrilling and desperately contested basketball game here last night, Washington State stopped the conference leading University of Washington Huskies, 29-26. The outcome was in doubt until the final gun.

The Huskies took the lead but once, in the middle of the second half, but hung on desperately throughout the contest. The Cougars led, 15-9, at the half. It was the fine teamwork of the States that brought victory.

Claud Smith Gets Into Running by Beating Bayless

Claud Smith battled his way into a tie for second place in the three-cushion tournament at the Klamath Recreation last night by a decisive victory over Bill Douglass in the shortest game of the entire tournament. Smith also made the highest run, making 6 in his 21st. He played billiards worthy of an expert, making 3 in the 10th and 29th, and 2 in each of four other frames. The final score was: Smith 30, Douglass 15 in 47 innings.

Adams lost his last game in the tournament to Bayless 23 to 30. He scored a 3 in each of two frames and a 2 in each of four others. Bayless seemed to play a lifeless game excepting towards the finish when he made a 2 in each of 6 frames and a 3 in one other. The game went 88 innings.

The postponed game between Perry and Norin was played last night with Perry the winner, 30 to 21 in 78 innings. Perry went through the entire tournament without losing a game. The tie between Howard and Smith for second place and Brandon and Bayless for fourth will be played off at 8 o'clock tonight.

The standing—

Name	W.	L.
Perry	7	0
Howard	5	2
Smith	5	2
Bayless	3	4
Brandon	3	4
Douglass	2	5
Adams	1	6

Klamath Fighters Figure in Bout At Portland Arena

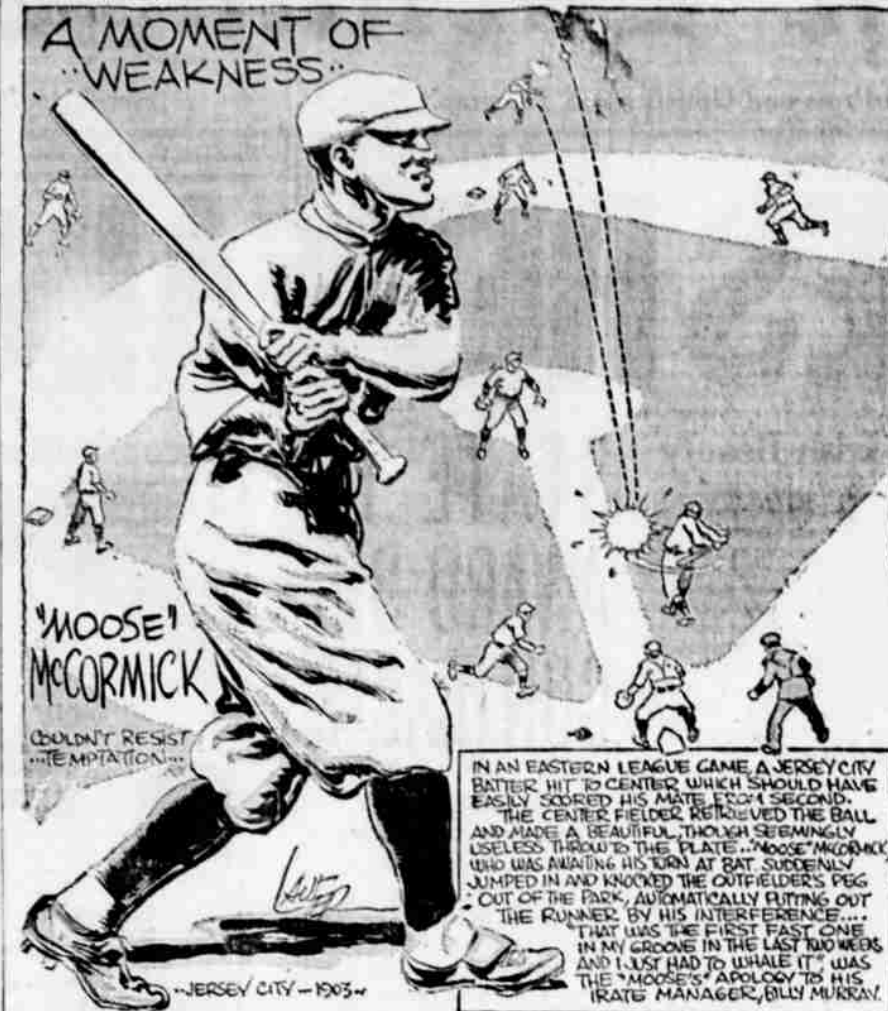

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 12 (AP)—Gene Grady, Ashtland, Ore., light heavyweight, won a tame six-round main event over George Rickard, Winnipes, here last night. The feature of the card was the six-round draw between Jimmy Anderson, Astoria, and Bruno Bertucci, Tacoma. The little fellows mixed from start to finish. Frankie Monroe, former Klamath Falls fighter, lost on a foul to Soldier Thompson, Minot, N. D. After going down with a claim of foul in the fourth, Thompson came back fighting. In a clinch that followed, Thompson was hit low but not hurt.

The referee disqualified Monroe. Kenneth Kent, the Hood River knocker-out and Ray Clarke, Bellingham, were stopped by the referee in the fourth round for failure to fight.

Bob Mariele, Portland, took a six-round decision from Tiny Hays, Independence Soldier Dugas, Vancouver barracks and Billy Jenkins, Portland, put on a fast four-round curtain-raiser, the soldier taking the decision.

Hack Happy Over Outcome Of $20,000 Damage Suit

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sauling Edward Young, a Chicago Cub, is free at last from all the trouble his swinging fists have stirred up on and off the baseball field.

The final case against him was decided in his favor yesterday by a superior court jury, which acquitted him on charges of assaulting "Hack" Wilson, fighting cage milkman, and rejected Young's suit for $20,000 damages.

Had Seven Witnesses
Flanked by seven witnesses, Wilson won his case in short order against the milkman, who charged that the pudgy Cub outfielder beat him severely during the Cub-St. Louis Cardinal game, June 21, 1928. The jury deliberated only 25 minutes.

Young testified he went to the game sober and joined other fans in booing Wilson for failing to get a hit. Toward the end of the game, he said, Wilson vaulted brought before President John Heydler of the National league last summer for fighting with Pete Duschene and Ray Kip of the Cincinnati Reds, was elated with the verdict. He shook hands with the jurors and even wanted to be friends with Young.

With his arrival from Florida, Comiskey is expected to lift the fighting first baseman's suspension and then mail him a contract for the 1930 season.

New Pins Lower Bowlers' Scores

Brand new pins in the Mercantile Bowling league at the Klamath Recreation last night, held the scores down to quite a low level.

Ed Arthur's Lunchers took all four points from Connolly Bros. with a very small total and only one score of the double century mark.

The Golden Rulers did likewise to the Montgomery-Warders but with a somewhat better exhibition of what the game is like, or should be.

Oregon Stagers lost two games to the Blue Bird Barbers but tied them for total pins.

Hapless Victoria Drops Hot One to Battling Eskimos

SEATTLE, Feb. 12 (AP)—They are calling the Seattle Eskimos the "point-a-minute" team of the Pacific coast hockey league today.

Of course the Seattle sextet didn't score a goal every minute in its contest with the Victoria Cubs here last night, but the Eskimos did pile up one every six minutes for a total of 10. The homeless Cubs failed to land a point although they rained many a wicked shot at Goalie Hal Winkler.

Three of the ten goals were figured in seconds. The second was made 16 seconds after the first, the seventh was scored 20 seconds after the sixth and the eighth was added 10 seconds later.

The victory put the third place Seattle team within four points of the league leading Portland Buckaroos and gave the Eskimos the honor of having scored the largest number of goals in a single game this season.
