

COMMISSION TO LET CONTRACTS ON COAST ROAD

Mile Stretch Will Cost $100,000 Because of Heavy Rock Work

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21. (A P.)—The state highway commission, at a special meeting here yesterday, authorized one mile of grading on the Oregon coast highway in Douglas county at a cost of $100,000. The unit will be north of Gardiner and will be financed on a co-operative basis.

Financed Jointly
The commission received assurances that Douglas county will contribute $20,000, the road district at Gardiner will contribute $5,000 and as these offerings are on a 25 per cent basis it will mean the cost of the unit will be $100,000. Construction at that point is extremely heavy, commissioners said, as most of the road will have to be blasted out of solid rock.

Bids for this project will be advertised at the March meeting and work probably will start in early summer.

To Preserve Indian Art
Indian paintings on a cliff near the John Day highway, east of Dayville, will be preserved. These paintings are a part of property owned by the Eastern Oregon Land company. The land company yesterday decided to the state, through the commission, one and one half acres, an area sufficient to preserve the markings of the Aborigines. The paintings are several miles from the picture gorge which is at the head of the gorge leading to the world famous fossil beds of the John Day country.

Will Eliminate Curves
To eliminate two bad curves on the Crater Lake highway near Prospect, the commission ordered a project of one half mile grading, bids to be opened at the March meeting.

Rejection of the low bid of the Willamette Construction company on the Nimrod-Belknap section of the McKenzie highway was decided on, the bid bond was declared forfeited and the work will be re-advertised at the March meeting.

4-H Club Leaders To Organize Here

A meeting of the Klamath county leaders of 4-H clubs will be held in the banquet room of the Pelican Grille March 1, at which time an organization will be perfected to conform with the state organization of local leaders, Frank Sexton, local leader, states.

The object of the association is to promote the greater cooperation between national, state and local club workers, to promote better understanding, instructions and harmony in all organizations and projects of Klamath county. Mr. H. C. Seymour, state club leader, will be present at the meeting and will assist in the organization. Officers to be elected are president vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

The largest bell in the world is the "Czar Kolokol" in Moscow, made about 250 years ago and weighing more than 100 tons.

Today in Klamath's Theatres

For many months the talking picture industry, the press and the public of the entire world has been speculating on James Cruze's first talking picture, "The Great Gabbo," now at the Vox.

His Hollywood studios have been literally besieged by relays of newspaper correspondents and feature writers. The photoplay trade press, too, has been keen in legitimate desire to discover all it could for its thousands of exhibitor-subscribers.

Herewith, for the first time, James Cruze, Inc., the famous director's own organization, publishes all the salient facts about "The Great Gabbo," James Cruze's first all-dialogue production, which heralds this distinguished director's entry in the field of talking pictures.

The title is "The Great Gabbo;" it is also the screen name of its principal character. The star is Erich von Stro-heim, one of the screen's most remarkable and widely publicized personages. "The Great Gabbo" is von Stroheim's maiden effort as a talking picture star.

The featured player is Betty Compson. A talented artist, gloriously girlish and beautiful beyond description. The talking screen's most renowned feminine star in her greatest rendition. The author is Ben Hecht, famous short story writer, novelist and dramatist. His literary masterpieces are many, and noted for their keen penetration of human motivations and reactions. His plots are unusual and sparkle with dramatic situations and intelligent wit.

Four Rail Employees Given High Rating
H. N. Mooney and M. C. Howell, locomotive engineers; W. A. Strickland and R. H. Atkins, locomotive firemen, are the Klamath Falls railroaders receiving distinguished mention in the current issue of the Southern Pacific Bulletin for their outstanding performances in saving fuel while operating their locomotives during the past month, according to A. S. Rosenbaum, general agent for the company here.

The fuel saving campaign is one of the most important activities promoted by the railroad among its engine service employees and there is keen competition for the awards made monthly and annually. The local men won in competition with the 300 other enginemen on this division of the railroad.

License Issued
A marriage license was issued yesterday at the office of the county clerk to Vincent Havina, 2, farmer, Tule Lake, Calif., and Rose Krejci, 21, Malin.
