Grain Products Made by Nu-Life Mill in Klamath

Believing that the grains grown in Klamath county are unusually high in mineral content, and that they contain a large amount of vitamin B, A. M. Holton, formerly of Minnesota, has started a Nu-Life mill in Klamath Falls. Although Mr. Holton's mill is comparatively small, he has facilities for grinding a large amount of grain.

At his headquarters at 21 Main, Dr. Holton is manufacturing and boxing Nu-Life cereal, which is made from de-hydrated, sterilized grains, with the addition of caramel, malted barley, which makes the blended grains more palatable.

Uses Whole Grain—The whole grains are cut by steel, an dthe entire kernels are utilized, thereby retaining all the food value.

In addition to Nu-Life cereal, Dr. Holton manufactures fresh corn meal, barley grits, rye products and oat groats, utilizing ing Klamath county grains, which on account of the high elevation and volcanic ash analyze high in mineral content.

Dr. Holton, who is a scientific dietician, will hold a demonstration of his products at Crumbitt's Public Market, on Saturday, March 15.

A quality you would want if you knew all of the FACTS

FACT NO. 15. Have you ever noticed that your coffee varies in flavor from time to time? Of course you have! Everyone has that experience. Sometimes the fault is yours—some slight variation in the way you make it—for coffee flavor is the most delicate and sensitive thing that enters your kitchen. And because it is sensitive, the fault is often in the coffee itself. To maintain a uniform coffee flavor, calls for uniform methods in the factory, as well as in the home. There is one place in America where coffee methods never vary. They have no occasion to vary, because only one kind of coffee is made there. The place where coffee methods never vary is the Schilling roasting room. Good coffee is not being roasted today and a cheap grade tomorrow—or a cheap grade at 10 o'clock and a good grade at 11 o'clock. It is the only place where cheap coffee is never found. The finest things usually come from those who devote their attention to fine things only. There are many excellent coffees—but where is the finest apt to come from? Which one is apt to be uniformly good day after day, week after week?

FACT NO. 33. Schilling Lemon Extract contains 3 times the amount of lemon oil required by the United States Government Pure Food Department—3 times as much! And more than most any other you can buy. That is why it goes further—why it imparts a richer lemon flavor.
