

LOCATE BODY IN UPPER LAKE

Hunting Tragedy Ended By Discovery Of Burt's Body

The body of Samuel E. Burt, 41, who was drowned November 24 while duck hunting in Upper Klamath lake was discovered about 2:30 Thursday afternoon by Charles Kieseling who resides in this city at 1023 North Sixth street. The body was recovered and brought to the city last night by Deputy Sheriff Dale Mattoon and Deputy Coroner Charles Larsen.

Kieseling was fishing on the lake with Walter E. Johnson and Dale McCormick, both of Klamath Falls, when he located the body about one-fourth of a mile southwest of Eagle Ridge in Shoal bay, straight east of Doak point. This is approximately six miles from the place where Burt and his hunting companion, Edward Syfert, are believed to have drowned when their boat was punctured by ice.

Burt was clad in the heavy coat, boots and other hunting clothes which he had worn when last seen. In pockets of the coat a bill-fold and other papers were found which definitely identified him. A watch in his pocket had stopped at 4 o'clock. The hunters were last seen at 2 o'clock on November 24. In his pockets was 63 cents in change.

The body was recovered and brought to this city by Charles Larsen of the Whitlock funeral home, and Dale Mattoon, deputy sheriff, after it had been placed in a casket and lifted 35 feet straight up a bank near Eagle Ridge. The sheriff's office was notified of the discovery of the body at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and it was 9 o'clock last night before it had been brought to this city.

Wife Survives
Syfert's body was discovered on February 22, at the mouth of Thomas creek by Grant Fouch, a trapper.

Burt is survived by his wife, Alvina L. Burt, who resides here; three brothers and two sisters. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. The remains are in the care of the Earl Whitlock funeral home.

BANGKOK, Siam—One of the most interesting sports in Siam is that of fish fighting. Fighting fish are bred the same as race horses and game cocks. They are taken into a hall and placed in a bowl of strong glass. They fly at each other and change colors all during the fight. Do you see what's left out of this Rice Pudding Recipe?

Beat 2 eggs and add 1 1/2 cups hot milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. Pour mixture over 2 cups of steamed rice. Bake in buttered dish set in a pan of water, for about 45 minutes at 325°, or until custard is set.

Of course you know what's left out! Sugar! And if you add one-half of a cup you will have perfect results and a most nourishing dessert in the bargain. Try this recipe soon.

As the palatability of a pudding depends upon sugar, so does the taste appeal of certain familiar foods depend upon a dash of sugar. For example, canned or fresh vegetables, also stewed fruits, are much more appetizing when flavored thus.

Try a dash of sugar in stewed corn, peas or carrots. And don't forget that cereal sprinkled with sugar tastes better.

The more you enjoy healthful fruits and vegetables the more you will eat of them. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing when flavored with sugar. And no doctor will restrain you from using a dash of sugar any more than he will restrain you from using a pinch of salt. The Sugar Institute.
