

The Evening Herald

O. G. Crawford, Editor

Published every afternoon except Sunday by The Herald Publishing Company at 123-125 South Fifth street, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Oregon, on August 20, 1906, under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

MAIL RATES PAYABLE IN ADVANCE		By Mail	Outside	Delivered by Carrier	In City
Three months	$1.75	$1.75	Three months	$1.75	$1.75
Six months	$3.25	$3.25	Six months	$3.25	$3.25
One year	$5.00	$5.00	One year	$5.00	$5.00

ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION

Represented nationally by M. C. MOGENSEN & CO., Inc.

New York
 Detroit
 Chicago
 Los Angeles
 Portland
 Seattle
 San Francisco

Copies of The Herald and News, together with complete information about the Klamath Falls market, may be obtained for the asking at any of these offices.

Member of the Associated Press
 The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use or republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Monday, April 28, 1930

Dirty Work?

THE Astoria Budget works itself into a frenzy over the opening of the Corbett campaign in Clatsop county, home of Governor Norblad. "Dirty work at the crossroads," cries the Budget in resentment of this outrage.

The people of Astoria had Governor Norblad among them for a long time, long enough to become fairly well acquainted with him, says the Oregon Voter. If some Astoria residents feel that even their intense local pride cannot enable them to view the possibility of his election with complacency, the Budget is fully justified in becoming alarmed. But it should confine its discipline to its home environs.

It is in attempting to fasten odium on Corbett headquarters at Portland that the Budget betrays itself into a questionable position. Rather, it should go out of its road to express appreciation to Corbett for having shut off every attempt to use his headquarters to besmirch the name of any other candidate. Having lived with Norblad, and appreciating his vulnerability, the Budget ought to know that Corbett headquarters would be bombarded with shovelfuls of "dirt" dug up by Astorians and others with intent to damage Norblad's reputation. Shovelfuls of dirt and dynamite. Corbett has been too decent to use any part of this material, and with indignation has stamped out every attempt to use it at his opponent's expense.

Meantime, democratic managers have been gathering in every bit of Norblad dirt, including the Astoria sweepings, and are storing it up as campaign ammunition in the event of what they hope—Norblad's nomination as the great opportunity to elect a democratic governor next November. Corbett's nomination they recognize as equivalent to election, and the democrats want anybody but Corbett named by the republicans.

Halt! For the moment we had forgotten. The Budget is a democratic newspaper.

Where Is Our "Isolation"?

BUSINESS CONDITIONS WEEKLY, issued by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, points out that Great Britain's unemployment situation seems to be getting worse instead of better, and that signs of an improvement are not as yet very clear.

That, of course, is already known. But the publication points out that it is more of our concern in the United States than we ordinarily think.

"Great Britain," it remarks, "is exceeded only by Canada as a market for exports from the United States. Last year Great Britain bought goods from the United States amounting to nearly $850,000,000, or 16 per cent of the United States' total exports. A business revival in the United States depends to a certain extent upon improvement in Great Britain. This helps to explain the unreasonableness of expecting a quick recovery in business as a result of efforts by the United States to solve, domestically, a problem international in scope."

What, in view of such a fact, becomes of our "splendid isolation" that some politicians seem to prize so highly?

Mr. Ford has shown the farmer how to raise bigger and better crops. Now if he'll show them how to get rid of the crops at bigger and better prices he will be a real benefactor.

EDITORIALS FROM OVER THE NATION

JANUARY DISCOUNT

Liberty: It was a cold January afternoon when Robert returned from school with his grade card for his mother's inspection and signature.

"But, Robert, what is the trouble? Why have you such poor grades this semester?" she asked.

"There's no trouble, mother," was the quick reply. "You know they always mark things down after the holidays."

2,286 CURED OF MARGIN TROUBLE

Frank Sullivan in the New York World: The committee which was appointed by this department last fall to succor multi-millionaires affected by the drop in the market has submitted its final report.

The committee reports that the work of rehabilitation has been practically completed and that all but $7,000,000 of the $65,000,000 subscribed to aid the stricken magnates has been paid out. The $7,000,000 will be held by this department for a suitable length of time, and if at the end of that time no worthy charity is found to receive it, it will be torn up.

At the beginning of its task the relief committee had to change its name. It had begun its work under the official title of the Committee for the Succor of Multi-Millionaires. However, it was found that as soon as a millionaire who had dropped a good deal on the market heard the word "succor" he misunderstood, and became violently agitated, often finishing by bursting into a prolonged fit of weeping. It was thought best, as a matter of fact, to avoid the use of that word, so the official title was changed to the Committee for the Rehabilitation of Stricken Multi-Millionaires. Things went much more smoothly after that.

Millions to the number of 4,573 were treated for post-crash neurosis, or, as it is popularly known, margin trouble. Of this number 2,286 have practically fully recovered. Some are still in a critical state. We have one patient up at the Neurological institute who is perfectly all right as long as he doesn't hear the word margin mentioned. But the minute you mention that tabooed word he goes into one of his spells, darts underneath the bed and remains there, trembling like an aspen, for hours. For instance, one of the nurses sent him into a tantrum the other day quite innocently. She came into the ward where he was cutting paper dolls out of old stock certificates and said, "Is Marge in?" She was simply inquiring for another nurse, Miss Marjorie Pattenbatten, but Mr. X, the pa-

Timely Quotations From People in the Public Eye

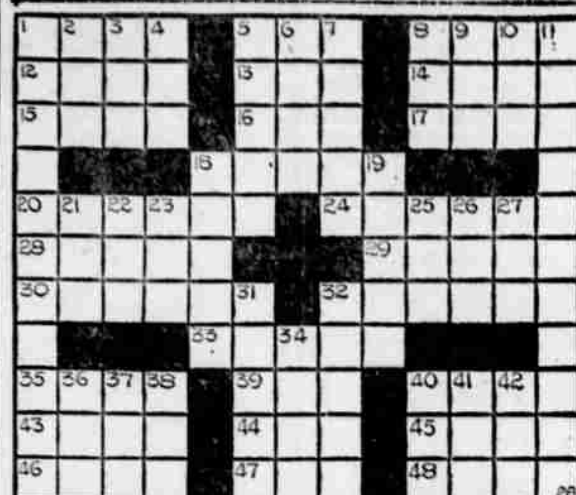

"Spring is the boyhood of the year."—Tennyson.

"There is a lot less drinking in the higher circles of society now than there has been."—Henry Ford.

"What I have done is due to patient thought."—Sir Isaac Newton.

"I can never have anything but the tenderest feeling toward Hollywood."—Adolphe Menjou.

"Central Cross"

HORIZONTAL

1 Periods.
 5 To total.
 8 Region.
 12 Spoken.
 13 By.
 14 Mineral used for powder.
 15 Divers.
 16 To gaze.
 17 Narrative poem.
 18 Pertaining to the ebb of water.
 20 Waits upon.
 24 Deadly.
 28 Retinue.
 30 Speech.
 32 Purpose.
 33 More profound.
 35 Mistake.
 37 Participle.
 39 Opposed to.

VERTICAL

1 To tame.
 2 Coin.
 3 To sunburn.
 4 Sneaky.
 5 Point in an orbit.
 6 Action.
 7 Reverie.
 8 Devoured.
 9 Knock.
 10 Prophet.
 11 Expedited.
 12 Tincture.
 13 Sweetheart.
 14 Eagle.
 15 Rodent.
 16 To emulate.
 17 Edge of fishes.
 18 Point.
 19 One.
 20 Fish.
 21 Drivelled.
 22 Trick.
 23 To card.
 24 Kimono.
 25 Encountered.
 26 Marble used as shoothen.
 27 Eon.
 28 Pigeon.

SATURDAY'S ANSWER

MIKEADO HORSES
 AVE VIE PEA
 NAY RAKER ALL
 U ELIDE E
 SATED S STEAM
 MINED STAYS
 WANDER HERESY
 A MATED U
 TALE GEE BRAK
 EWER OAT ALTO
 REGAIN SILKEN

Thoughts We've Been Thinking

(Continued from Page One)

things soon become common and transportation that at first seems impossible soon becomes a part of our daily lives.

CARELESSNESS with trees is inexcusable. The man who mows a tree is committing an act against the beauty of the city. Not long ago in the residence section a careless driver made a turn, bumped into a parking and with the hub of his car scraped an Elm tree that had been carefully nursed by the owner of the property for several years. The least the driver could have done would have been to apologize to the owner and offer to set out a tree some place in the city and care for it. Not so. Up until now no word has come from the driver.

The Garden club is doing everything possible to beautify the city and encourage tree culture, yet we have some careless people who tear down what others are lovingly trying to build.

MEDFORD again claims the spotlight by developing the winning orator in the Oregonian's state contest. Few better accomplishments can a young man have than to be able to speak before people in a way that carries conviction of thought. Medford is entitled to the many congratulations that are floating that way over the success of the young man.

THE National Lumber Manufacturers' Association has elected A. C. Dixon of Eugene as its president to succeed E. L. Carpenter of Minneapolis. Mr. Dixon is a man of ability, a successful lumberman and under his administration the national association will have proper leadership.

MOVING TIME
 Jocke: I can read your mind like a book.
 Joan: If you could, you would not be sitting there.—Answers.

LOTS OF SERVICE
 "How do you like my dress, Tom? Did you get it for my eighteenth birthday."
 "Certainly worn well, hasn't it?"—Tit-Bits.

You Save in buying

KC Baking Powder

Same Price for over 38 years

25 ounces for 25¢

You save in using it. Use less than of high priced brands.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS USED BY OUR GOVERNMENT

DAILY LETTER ON AFFAIRS AT U. S. CAPITAL

The Philippines Are Voicing Protest Again. The United States is now in a position to force the Philippines to accept the new law.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Once again the Philippines are complaining that we hold them by the scruff of the neck and try to kick them all over the house at the same time.

An eloquent little group of brown-skinned statesmen has been telling a congressional committee in Malay accent and impassioned tones that it would be outrageously unjust while the Philippine Islands are under the American flag to exclude them from the United States as we do Chinese and Japanese and as is proposed in a resolution introduced by Congressman Richard J. Welch of California.

A determined group of whites from Congressmen Welch's state has been arguing that there are altogether too many Filipinos in this country already and that only harm can come from allowing the entry of any more.

Hacks Plea for Freedom All of which gives the Philippines another chance to show their independence and lends more color to the new old contention that they are more of a liability than an asset. In a military sense they are just a bunch of islands at the other end of the world ready for some nation to grab in case of war. Our sugar interests protest that the mounting tonnage of duty-free Philippine sugar that is imported annually is a very bad thing and the same is said of tobacco and other Philippine exports. Now come people from the west coast to say that the Philippines are the exports from the islands are the Philippines themselves.

Congressman Welch has contended that the Pacific coast faces a grave problem as a result of "the third invasion of our country by a horde of nonassimilable Asiatics," citing recent race riots in California. The three coast states are frontiers of western civilization, he says, and to protect the country as a whole Congress must help them bar the Filipinos as it did in the cases of the Chinese and Japanese. Race riots are inevitable, in his opinion, as long as Filipino laborers continue to enter in competition with American workmen.

He gives the Filipino population of the United States as 140 in 1910 as against an estimated 50,000 in 1929, plus some 60,000 in the Hawaiian Islands, with immigration constantly increasing. The immigrants are practically all young males and work very cheaply. When unemployment hit California the trouble began.

Other distinguished Californians appeared before the immigration committee to support Welch's argument.

The Filipinos happened to have some worthy spokesmen right on the spot. In addition to the resident commissioners, Pedro Guevara and Manuel Oslas, their special independence mission had been here since December; Manuel Roxas, speaker of the Philippine House of Representatives; Manuel Briones, the majority floor leader, and Pedro Gil, the minority floor leader.

Also, came rushing from Los Angeles for the hearings Dr. Hilario Moncada, president of the Philippine Federation of America, heading a delegation to speak for Filipinos now living in the United States.

They all stressed the desire of the Filipinos for independence and protested exclusion on grounds of morals, law and precedent, while admitting their helplessness. Whereas the Californians had pointed out that England had permitted Canada and Australia to bar Hindus—subjects of the British Empire—they pointed out that Hindus were not barred from England itself and that dependent people had never at any time been barred from moving to the "mother country."

Oppose Color Line Roxas expressed his own pride

ENJOYMENT OF FOOD IS HELPFUL IN PROMOTING HEALTH

Most Foods Can Be Made More Pleasing to the Appetite by Using Sugar as a Flavor

When meals please the taste, the flow of digestive juices is promoted with the result that digestion is materially aided.

Pleasing the appetite, however, does not necessarily depend upon serving out-of-season or expensive foods. As a matter of fact, the familiar foods which should be eaten for their vitamins, minerals and roughage, can be made most taste-appaling by the use of one of the most inexpensive foods that comes into the home—sugar.

For example, many vegetables, canned or fresh, are more delicious if seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Vegetable and fruit salads have a new appeal when served with a French dressing to which sugar has been added to the oil, lemon juice and salt. And if sugar is sprinkled on the breakfast cereal its flavor is pleasantly developed.

Balanced meals which are eaten with relish show their effect on the entire system. Not only will body vigor be assured, but, according to dental authorities, there will be improvement in the teeth and gums. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO IN KLAMATH

The trial of the case of the court house injunction was taken up in circuit court this morning at 9 o'clock. H. F. Murdoch, the plaintiff, had secured the services of Rutledge and Kent as attorneys, and Mr. Rutledge made a statement of his client's side of the case, and what would attempt to be proven by the evidence. Attorney Drake stated that it was a suit in equity, and the defendants would reserve the right to make a statement in reply before the case was submitted to the judge.

The farmers under the United States irrigation system in Klamath county have made a good showing in the payments of their building and maintenance charges. The payments for the building charge for 1911 and maintenance charge for 1912 are payable at the land office at Lakeview by May 1. Up to today 80 per cent of the payments have been made, practically all of these being made through the Water Users' Association office and forwarded to Lakeview by the disbursing agent of the reclamation service.

All the timber lands in the Crater Lake National forest east of the divide will have been cruised by the end of the summer, says the Medford Mail Tribune. H. D. Foster with a crew of ten men will leave Medford the middle of May and superintend the work until it is completed.

Several new candidates entered the race for city offices today. Early this morning it developed that A. L. Leavitt was not to have a clear field for police judge. The friends of J. B. Mason circulated petitions this morning to place him in nomination for that office.

About 30 Rebekahs and 60 Odd Fellows observed the anniversary of the order by attendance in a body at the Grace Methodist church Sunday. Special music had been arranged for the occasion, consisting of a quartet composed of Mrs. Gable, Mrs. Wagner, Mr. Upp and Mr. Walton. Mrs. Wagner also gave a solo.

The test taken by Rev. George H. Pease was from 1 Samuel, 30, 25: "But the lad knew not anything only Johnathan and David knew the matter."

IT'S IN THE NAME An old golf professional was invited to play in an exhibition match at Hitehin, England. On hearing his caddy call it "Hitehin," he said: "I suppose this is where the scratch golfers come from."

—Tit-Bits.

Black Soil Free

All you pay is the hauling.

PIONEER TRANSFER CO.

907 Klamath Ave.

Office Phone 1744

Res. Phone 1494

Res. 2002 Oregon Ave.

MARTIN EITING, Prop.

Optometrist

103 S. 7th St.

No Drops Used—No Time Lost

Dr. Arthur M. Linn

United States

PEERLESS

TIRES

Mileage, Safety,

Appearance and Comfort equal to many high-priced tires

On any basis you compare them—mileage, safety, appearance or comfort—these Peerless Tires excel all tires of the same price, and equal many higher priced tires!

You get exceptional quality, an extra-thick tread and a record of performance exceeding that of any tire in this price class.

Costs Less and—Guaranteed for Life!

29x4.40 $6.30 29x4.50 $6.90 30x4.50 $7.00 31x5.00 $9.60 Other sizes equally low

TIRE EXCHANGE

Telephone 780 RED PIPER 624 Klamath Ave.