LEGIONNAIRES STILL LEADING PIN CONGRESS

Salem Five Has Margin Of 109 Points In Major Contest

SEATTLE, May 7, (AP)—Several changes were expected to be made by midnight tonight in the standings of the 18th annual Northwestern International Bowling congress, with many "big" men from Spokane, Tacoma, Everett, Bremerton, Fernie, B.C. and Seattle opening fire. Today was the sixth day of the tournament, which ends next Sunday night. The Times five of Seattle rolled into third place in the five-man major class last night with a score of 2,649, and the H. J. Frolich Clothing company five of Everett, Wash., forged into fourth place with four pins less. The Portland Recreation company of Portland, riding in third place since last Saturday, was forced into fifth.

Tacoma in Seventh
In the commercial five man division, the Pacific Match company of Tacoma slipped into seventh place, with 2,374. The City Lumber company of Tacoma and the South Tacoma Merchants No. 1 took eleventh and twelfth respectively, with scores of 2,553 and 2,531.

These were the only changes made last night in the various classes of the tournament. Tonight, however, several class "A" teams are to swing into action and several shifts are expected.

Georgie Dixon's Slugging Gains Decision For Him

PORTLAND, Ore., May 7, (A.P.)—Georgie Dixon, local negro middleweight, outslugged Cowboy Jack Willis, San Francisco, to take a 10-round decision here last night. Both gave plenty and Dixon's right eye was out of commission from the third round on. Dixon went down in the second round from an apparent left punch but after Referee Louttit gave him a brief respite, he resumed the battle with a furious rally.

Eddie Volk, Portland and Ray Archer, Tacoma, put on a fast six-rounder, the best bout of the evening, Volk winning the decision.

Jack Lewis failed to show up for his bout with Lou Sauer so Johnny Carlson substituted. The referee stopped the bout in the fourth when Carlson was out on his feet. Tiger Jensen outfigured Battling Krause, North Dakota, in four rounds, and Johnny Snell tamed Wildcat Novilla in the second round of the curtain-raiser.

EARLY PERFORMANCES OF FASTEST HUMAN WERE ONLY MEDIOCRE

His Greatest Thrill Was Not in Breaking the Century Record But in Catching Forward Pass for a Touchdown and Victory for His Prep Team.

By W. D. Griffith
Director of Ohio Relays
The entry of George Simpson into the sport which has brought him nation-wide fame was more or less an accident and his debut on the cinder path was unimpressive. Like many other school boys, he entertained hopes of becoming a star in football, basketball and baseball. In fact, these sports occupied almost all his time.

In gear with its motor running, an auto started from scratch with George Simpson, fastest human, and was beaten in a speed test of 100 yards at Pittsburgh after Simpson had led his Ohio State track to victory over the Pittsburgh Panthers in a dual meet. The auto used first and second speeds but the early lead Simpson was able to take proved too much handicap for the machine, which was rapidly overhauling the fastest human near the finish line. The novel test of speed was conducted by the Pittsburgh Press recently.

The 1922 baseball season of the Columbus schools was nearing the end when George read of a junior high school track meet to be held in conjunction with the city high school meet at Ohio State University. He determined to run in the contest and, since there was no equipment at his school, he bought spiked shoes and got out his basketball suit to wear.

With his ability to place in this new sport—he ran second in the century in 10.5 seconds and fourth in the 220 that went at a fraction above 23 seconds—there came encouragement and a determination to report for track at East High the next year.

Greatest Thrill From Football
Simpson's love for football, which was still evident last fall when he reported to Coach Sam Williamson's Ohio State varsity squad, netted him three letters as a halfback at East High. The greatest thrill he ever received from sports was not when he shattered the record for the century but when he was rushed into a high school football game in the closing minutes and caught a long forward pass for a touchdown that brought victory to East High.

During 1924 and 1925, the performance of Simpson were but those of the average high school sprinter and not until 1926 did the shadow of the Ohio Express begin to creep across the record book.

He started his long series of spring achievements by winning the 50-yard dash of the Michigan interscholastic meet in 5.5 seconds, a national record. On the outdoor track in the spring, he continued to pile up marks. He turned the century of the state interscholastic in 9.3 seconds and the furlong in 21.7 seconds. Throughout the season, his marks remained consistently at 10 flat or better. And so contented has the Ohio boy been since that time that only two occasions—a preliminary heat at the Rice relays when the field was facing a strong wind and again at the Penn relays in 1925 with the track ankle deep in mud—has he failed to "break" 10 seconds.

Culminating his scholastic career, Simpson staged one of the most brilliant performances of all time at Stagg Field, Chicago, in the national interscholastic. He ran in the anchor position of his spring relay team that finished ahead of an unusually fast field. He won the 100-yard dash and the 220, equaling the national record of 9.3 seconds in the century and turning in a seasonal 21.5 seconds in the furlong. And the mark of 43.3 seconds for the 440-yard relay, which still stands in the record books, was greatly due to the running of George Simpson.

Broke Fresh Spring Records.
A light schedule of training designed to improve his form and conserve his speed for varsity competition was given the Columbus boy when he entered the state university in the fall. Even this did not keep him from establishing new yearling marks of 9.3 and 21.4 seconds in the century and furlong.

The close of the school year saw Simpson break into "major" competition for the first time. To say that he broke in is putting it mildly. In the district A. A. U. championships at Cincinnati, the Ohio State freshman won the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds, equaling the recognized world's mark that had first been set back in 1905 by Kelly of Oregon.

Boston Red Sox Assume Role of Hard Luck Crew of Major Leagues, Losing 11 Out of 18

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Boston Red Sox already have gone a long way toward losing the role of "hard luck" team of the major leagues for the current season. The exact distance they have traveled is seven games out of the total of 15 they have played.

The ed Sox, with some fine pitching and often good playing behind it, have lost these seven encounters by the margin of one run each. Two went to Washington, two to Cleveland, and one each to New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. And added to this grief, there have been a few more games in which they have lost after seemingly having the victory sewed up, when their opponents suddenly came to life and pounded out big rallies in the late innings.

White Sox Turn Trick
The Chicago White Sox combined the two varieties yesterday in an even exchange for Out to nose out a 4 to 2 victory. Boston had a three-run lead, with Ed Morris doing a fine pitching job. Then came the fifth inning and a Chicago rally that drove Morris from the mound and produced four tallies. Eddie Durham finished the game without giving another hit, but it was too late, for Ted Lyons kept the Red Sox from scoring again.

Heinie Makes Trade
In an effort to prevent such defeats, Manager Heinie Wagner engineered a player trade with the New York Yankees that sent Pitcher Charley Ruffing to New York in an even exchange for Outfielder Cedric Durst. Ruffing has not won a game in his three starts this season, although he has come very close to it on two occasions, losing a pair of Boston's heartbreakers. Durst is expected to replace Earl Webb, whose holding has been rather unsteady.

The Yankees gave a good imitation of the Red Sox yesterday in losing a 7 to 5 decision to Cleveland. They lost a three-run lead in the sixth inning, and then just kept pace with the fans a pair of homers produced for the Indians. Earl Averill, Cleveland center fielder, pulled the day's best fielding stunt by starting two double plays.

A's Tie Cleveland
The Philadelphia Athletics won their sixth successive game, defeating the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1 behind the fine pitching of Rube Walberg, to hold their tie with Cleveland for the league leadership. It was Walberg's fourth victory in as many games. Washington held second place, a half game behind, by scoring three runs off Vic Sorrell in the first inning to beat out Detroit, 5 to 4.

The abrupt end of Brooklyn's seven-game winning streak was the feature of the National league's afternoon. The Robins could not score against Fred Blake, while the Chicago Cubs did a little better against Dazzy Vance, to win by a 3 to 1 score. All the runs came in the first inning with homers by Hack Wilson and Babe Herman providing the impetus.

Giants Outbat Pirates
The New York Giants went to an extreme long distance hitting to take their second successive

ANGELS CLIMB TO TOP ROUND IN COAST RACE

Win Wild Base Running Marathon From Red Killifer's Gang

By Associated Press
Downing the San Francisco Missions 16 to 13 in an exhibition of ineffective pitching and uncertain fielding, while the Oaks were taking Sacramento's measure, 7 to 1 the Los Angeles Angels today had climbed into the lead of the Pacific Coast baseball circuit. Their position was shaky, however, with both Oakland and Sacramento tied in second place, presenting, while the San Francisco Seals and Missions were not far behind.

McQuaid Gets Credit
Herb McQuaid contributed largely to the Angels' victory here yesterday, allowing 11 runs in the first five innings, while Skipper Red Killifer refused to remove him. Subsequently the Missions circled the bases 13 times, but Los Angeles managed to hold a slim advantage.

Sacramento's plunge from the league leadership was directly attributable to the highly effective hurling of Pete Daglia at Oakland.

Daglia, in turning in his fifth successive victory of the season, allowed the Senators only five well-scattered hits, one a homer by Marie Hoag in the fourth. Hollywood's Stars began a three weeks' home stand at Wrigley field by losing to San Francisco 9 to 3. Art McDougal, young star find, southpawed the Shieks into submission with ease, while his team mates pounded Frank Shel-lenback's offerings all over the lot for a total of 16 safeties. McDougal allowed 11 hits, but fanned eleven stars. Every Hollywood player who got in the game was struck out, while Gattina and Lee each whiffed twice.

Seattle and Portland were idle, rain causing a postponement of the scheduled contest at Portland.

Les Sailing Springs Surprise By Turning in Highest Score

Six more of the local bowlers tried for place in the finals of the Herald's Diamond Medal Tournament at the Klamath Recreation yesterday, and while some good totals were made, none displaced the leaders. The big surprise of the day was Les Sailing who was considered by many to have about as much chance as a snowball in the canal zone. He pounded the maples for the handsome total of 1513 pins but of course had the advantage of the maximum handicap, 40 pins to the game. But at that Les showed flashes of real form and turned in scores of 213 and 212 flat.

At Sherman, with only 10 pins handicap, deserved better breaks than he got in his nine games. He turned in four dandy scores of over two hundred but his fourth game was a heart-breaker. He seemed to have temporarily lost his stuff and no matter how he hit the pins, they broke badly.

Snyder, after a bad start in his first game, threatened to repeat his feat of a couple of weeks ago, but tired out after his sixth game and decided to bowl his other three games some other day.

Results of the games bowled yesterday:

Name	Hdcp.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Sailing	40	188	213	153	151	160	212	165	182	168	1913
