

CITY ZONING TO BE DELAYED

Airport Contract Signed Charter Election Is Postponed

The new city zoning ordinance which is ready for passage is held up for at least one week by action taken at Monday night's council meeting.

A petition presented by property holders of Pine and Hill streets, west of Third to First street, requested their property be included in Zone 2 as a restricted residential and first-class apartment property.

Tabled for Week

Several of the council did not wish to consider the petition at this time, stating if the property holders wished to erect an apartment house in their district they could do so by vote, and that if action was taken on the petition it would hold up the zoning ordinance for at least another week.

On the other hand, several members thought the petition contained too many signatures to be disregarded or denied. Upon a motion from Councilman Lambert, Butler, Van Camp and Lambert voted to lay the petition on the table for a week. Councilman Olds cast a contrary vote, saying it was his belief the ordinance should be passed as soon as possible. Councilman Hishon was mute in the voting.

Petition Denied

Upon recommendation of C. C. Kelley, city engineer, the petition from property holders in the vicinity of Mansonia street to have the parking strip out from 11 to 6 feet was denied. Kelley stated the property in this section was long enough to stand the 11-foot parking, and if the council started cutting in one district, there would be similar requests from other property holders.

Would Change Law

An ordinance was passed which will make it unnecessary for the city to publish matter to be voted upon at the special election on the proposed charter change, but which will make it necessary to change the date for the special election, originally set for June 27. The new ordinance will probably make the election at least a month later.

Mayor T. R. Watters explained the ordinance amends a former city law which makes it necessary to advertise in the local newspapers the matters to be voted at a special election. There is also a state law which required the printing of pamphlets and the sending of them to all registered voters within the city limits. It is necessary to fulfill the law, and the council felt other advertising would be unnecessary. City Attorney Schaubert stated an ordinance would be prepared for next meeting revoking the special election ordinance.

Laid on Table

The ordinance providing a license fee for contractors or others doing electrical wiring was laid on the table for a week.

May Petition Commission

Councilman Van Camp reported that no action has been taken in providing shipping receipts with lights and water mains, although they have properly petitioned for such service from the California Oregon Power company. The city attorney advised that if no action is taken by next Monday night that the petition of the shipping residents be sent to the public service commission and let that body take action on the matter.

Contract Ordinance

An ordinance was passed authorizing the mayor and police judge to enter into a contract with W. D. Miller for the construction of oil run-ways at the municipal airport.

A request from the Eagles' lodge to sponsor the operation of a carnival company here the latter part of May was denied by the council.

Upon the recommendation of Keith Ambrose, chief of police, it was voted to revoke the restaurant license of William H. Brooks. The place was recently searched by the police and liquor was found, according to records.

Attorney Talks

An attempt has been made to get rid of the popcorn van near the corner of Eighth and Main streets. David Vandenberg, attorney, was present at last night's meeting in behalf of the owner of the business and argued that since the van is not a building, it cannot be prohibited under the zoning ordinance. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Permits Granted

Licenses to operate during 1930 were granted the Anchor lunch, Wright cafe, Star Drug fountain lunch, Arthur's lunch, Modern fountain, E. H. Lawrence fountain, Palace of Sweets, and Willard coffee shop, upon recommendation of the police committee.

Fourteen building permits, aggregating $27,178, were granted.

CRESTED WHEAT GRASS SOLVING RANGE PROBLEM

For the past several years various experiments have been carried on by the County Agent's Office in trying to find a good dry land grass adaptable to this district. At the present time Crested Wheat Grass seems to have more possibility than any other known dry land grass.

200 pounds of seed have been secured and are being tried out of various types of dry land in Klamath county. A report just received from Morrow county states as follows:

"Although growing on some of the drier hill lands which were unprofitable for the growing of wheat it stays green throughout the major part of the summer and is the earliest tame pasture grass found growing in the grass nurseries in which grass varieties have been tested by County Agent Smith. An important characteristic of this grass is that it produces an abundance of seed. Though the stand may be thin the first year, enough plants come the next year to thicken the stand."

Good seed is rather difficult to secure, the best supply being in the North Dakota. All seed used in Klamath county this year is from this source, the seed apparently being of very fine quality. Checks on the experimental plantings will be made throughout the season by the local County Agent's Office and a complete report made next fall.

A scene from "The Vagabond King," a Paramount Picture starring Dennis King With Jeanette MacDonald, Warner Oland, O. P. Heggie, Lillian Roth

O. P. Heggie has won a throne! He wears the royal purple as King Louis XI of France in Paramount's all-talking and singing presentation of the glamorous romance "The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King, at the Pelican theatre, starting today.

Heggie has gained thousands of new friends among the talking screen fans since he deserted the stage about a year ago for a career in the medium of the New York Show World. He is remembered as the lawyer in the late Jeanne Eagles' starring picture, "The Letter." He was the genius of Scotland Yard in "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu." He was the affable mayor in George Bancroft's "The Mighty." In the colorful "The Vagabond King" Heggie gives a portrayal of an historically authentic character—the type of role which brought him greatest fame on the stage in England and on Broadway.

He is seen in "The Vagabond King" as a petulant, weak-willed monarch who is confronted with the life of government which were so rife in the dark ages in which the action of the picture takes place. He allows Dennis King, as Francois Villon, rowdy-poet, to become king of France for a week. The manner in which King leads the vagabond rabble against the king's enemies, the Burgundians, and then lays himself open to death on the gibbet provides such screen excitement as few producers have been able to stir up in many a long day. Paramount has turned out this thrilling gem of song, romance and action in a manner which takes the breath away.

King's leading lady is Jeanette MacDonald, beautiful Broadway prima donna who advanced to the front rank of screen sopranos with her marvelous initial performance—that of Queen Louise in Maurice Chevalier's "The Love Parade." Warner Oland plays the treacherous Grand Marshal.

Lillian Roth, who made a great hit in "The Love Parade" is seen and heard in the singing role of Huguette.

AT THE LIBERTY

Glenn Tryon, co-star with Merna Kennedy in Universal's rousing farce comedy, "Barnum Was Right," now at the Liberty theatre, is one of those rare fan-makers of stage and screen who is funny in his own right. Tryon has a sense of humor that is distinctly his own—but you have to know him very well to find it out. He is very shy with strangers, and extremely quiet in circles where he is not well acquainted. He has a distaste for making public appearances, and avoids the places where film luminaries are generally in evidence.

AT THE PINE TREE

LIONEL BARRYMORE, MONTAGUE LOVE AND JANE DALY in "THE MYSTERIOUS ISLAND"

Abounding in rare fantasy and thrilling adventure, "The Mysterious Island," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's billion dollar all-color, sound and dialogue film opens at the Pine Tree theatre today.

Few films the screen has offered may boast the original, the variety and the well-balanced entertainment elements that are at once recognizable in this elaborate novelty. And, despite the bigness of its settings, the unusualness of its under-water background, its fantastic submarine people and their odd dwellings, "The Mysterious Island," more than any other play based on pure imagination, possesses a human appeal and a sense of realism that makes its exotic details plausible and impressive.

"The Mysterious Island" is not a starring picture and every member of the large cast merits unstinted praise for giving the colorful action of the play a faithful interpretation. Lloyd

TEMPERATURE HEELS.

LOS ANGELES.—Wren Francis J. Struck died recently one of the strangest wills ever admitted to probate came from his hands. He left an estate of more than $100,000, and in his will he specified that any of his relatives caught drinking would be disinherited. In addition, he asked his heirs to use no tobacco and be good law-abiding American citizens.

The deepest body of fresh water to be discovered as yet is Lake Kalkal, in Siberia. It is 5350 feet deep.

Hughes as Nikolai is at his best. Likewise Jane Daly, who, for a newcomer, shows marked emotional ability, not to mention her grace and beauty. Lionel Barrymore as Count Daktor adds another sterling performance to his list of screen accomplishments and Montague Love's villainy is beyond criticism.

FOR OREGON AND ITS PEOPLE

In the gubernatorial campaign now drawing to a close, Senator George W. Joseph is battling,—as he has always battled,—for the welfare of the State and its people.

HIS FIRST APPEARANCE in the political arena years ago was as the champion of the Australian ballot system so that the people might cast their ballot in secret without coercion.

HE NEXT CHAMPIONED the direct primary law so that the people themselves might nominate candidates to office without dictation from corporate interests or political bosses.

HE NEXT ESPOUSED the Initiative so that the people might enact their own laws; the Referendum so that they might nullify vicious legislation, and the Recall so that they might retire unfaithful officials from office.

IN THE 1911 SENATE he introduced a resolution recommending the adoption of the Equal Suffrage Amendment so that the women might enjoy the sacred right of the franchise on an equality with the men.

IN THIS SAME SESSION he introduced a bill creating a State Highway Board which was the forerunner of legislation resulting in our magnificent highway system and was instrumental in later sessions in releasing highway construction from the grip of the blacktop paving monopoly.

IN THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN Senator Joseph is making public development of our water power resources without cost to the taxpayers his major issue, to the end that Oregon may be liberated from the stifling and blighting control of the power monopoly and forge ahead industrially and agriculturally.

IN THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN Senator Joseph is also espousing the sacred constitutional right of free speech and justice to every citizen, the abolition of the Public Service Commission and a return to the home rule principle for the control and regulation of public utilities. All these principles are of vital importance to the State and its people.

Oregon needs Senator Joseph's wide experience in the business world, his rare executive ability and leadership in the executive chair to bring about the adoption of this comprehensive and constructive program.
