ELKS, LEGION CELEBRATION HAPPY EVENT

More Than 600 People Enjoy Stunts, Program, Dance Last Night.

Klamath Falls looked like a long-haired community last night when 600 men and women assembled in the local Elks lodge hall for the first whoopee session preliminary to the forthcoming Days of '49 celebration to be held here July 3 to 6, inclusive.

Pep prevailed throughout the evening with all signs pointing to an outstanding success for southern Oregon's biggest celebration.

Zerby Pictures Village

Long whiskers vied with short, sickly-appearing crops for special prizes distributed by the American Legion post and Elks lodge, sponsors of the approaching celebration.

Clyde S. Zerby, director general of the event, was introduced to the big crowd and outlined a few of the features of the Days of '49 show. Director Zerby painted a promising picture of the picturesque '49 village to be erected as the scene of the show. He pictured the three-mile long parade of local citizens garbed in the quaint costumes of the hardy pioneers.

Parade to Attract

"The mammoth street parade," Director Zerby prophesied, "will be one of the greatest events of the entire show. The parade will attract news reel men here from all of the big movie companies and Klamath Falls' unique event will later be shown in motion picture houses throughout the world, broadcasting the community's enterprise and spirit."

Johnnie Houston was master of ceremonies. In rapid succession he presented several feature acts that won hearty applause.

Program Interests

Mrs. Perry DeLap and Mrs. J. H. Jefferson gave a Dutch act so successfully that they were forced to return for another number.

George Cunning, masquerading as an African medicine man, succeeded in making hair grow on "Bill" Houston's head, believed by friends to be somewhat shy of hirsute adornment.

Cactus Pete Loyd DeLap and Sure Shot Cal Gary Cozad put on a shooting act, but spared the lights.

Predict Biggest Celebration

There were numerous whisker prizes. Glen Jester took first prize for the longest crop of whiskers. Joe Devine annexed the award for the handsomest man possessing a crop of chin shrubbery. Mayor Watters was a close second.

Stan Clark was the prize winner for the blackest whiskers. Several other awards were made.

The meeting was not all whoopee. E. S. Veatch, exalted ruler of Klamath Falls lodge No. 1247, predicted the biggest celebration of its kind ever to be held on the Pacific coast. On behalf of his order he voiced appreciation to the citizens of the community for the splendid and whole-hearted cooperation displayed thus far in the Days of '49 celebration.

Stage Big Dance

Leon Crawford, commander of the local American Legion post, asserted that "everything points to an outstanding success." He likewise expressed appreciation for the helpfulness already displayed by the local Moose lodge and other organizations in Klamath Falls.

Mayor Watters made a forceful plea to the large audience to give unstintingly to the Salvation Army when that organization launches its annual drive for funds next week.

Many couples remained to dance following the meeting.

Many Friendless Given Succor by Salvation Army

A woman called at the Salvation Army. She had been deserted by her husband, leaving her to care for three little children. Mother and children were sorely in need of food and clothing. She was given temporary relief at the headquarters and the Army later sent her food and cared for her until other assistance was available.

A man, his wife and their boy called at the barracks. Their home and belongings had been burned; they were without necessary food and were hungry. The Army officers did not start unwinding red tape, as is often done, to find out if the people were worthy of aid. They were willing to work for what they received and the Army saw to it that they were fed. This family had just buried their little girl, which took all of their savings.

Every-Day Occurrences

These are just instances of the every-day life of the Salvation Army corps. Their mission is to minister to the needy, find work for the unemployed, and any other mission that tends to relieve the suffering of mankind. Great care is taken to give aid where it is needed most, and not to provide charity. In effect, the Salvation Army is an emergency organization, for its funds are too limited to take in and care for any individual or group for any length of time. It establishes contact with the world in a manner not followed by any other organization.

Need $5,000

The Klamath Falls corps needs $5,000 to carry on its work the ensuing year. There is but one way to obtain this money, and that is by popular subscription. The campaign opens next Tuesday morning under the direction of Andrew Collier and an able corps of committees. If every citizen does his bit the campaign will be over in a hurry and the Army will be put in a position to carry on the work it has done so nobly in the past.

A spoonful of vinegar to each quart of rinsing water will sometimes revive faded colors in cloth, particularly when the fading has been caused by the use of washing soda and strong soaps in laundering. The garment is wrung thoroughly and dried as quickly as possible.

(1) The girl at the left means the Court of St. James, not "St. Johns." (2) To be presented before the court, the girl at the right should have a train on her dress. (3) She also is required, according to custom, to wear ostrich feathers in her coiffure. (4) Divorced women are never presented before the court. (5) The scrambled word is PROSTRATE.

Sheriff Expected To Return Today

Sheriff Lloyd L. Low, and Deputy Sheriff Dale Mattoon are expected to return this evening with R. L. Leonard wanted here on a larceny charge, and now being held in Red Bluff.

Because Leonard refused to waive extradition, Sheriff Low was compelled to journey to Salem, Oregon's capital, to obtain extradition papers, as well as going to Sacramento to secure the signature of Governor Young of California, to make the papers legal.

Sheriff Low and Deputy Matoon left Klamath Falls Thursday afternoon.

Change of Time In S. P. Schedules Takes Place 15th

The previously announced change in the time schedule for the Southern Pacific trains will become effective on June 15, was the announcement made today by C. M. Biggs, local agent. Transcontinental and overland trains and the Shasta route train schedules on the S. P. will be included.

Overnight schedule arriving and departing from Klamath Falls will be as follows:

Northbound:

Westcoast 16—Arr. 9:53, Lv. 10:07.

Cascade 18—Arr. 6:51, Lv. 7:01.

Klamath 8—Arr. 9:30, Lv. 9:45.

Southbound:

Westcoast 15—Arr. 4:37, Lv. 4:52.

Cascade 17—Arr. 7:15 Lv. 7:25.

Klamath 7—Arr. 6:58, Lv. 7:0[illegible]

Material improvement is made in overnight service as Klamath No. 7 leaves Klamath Falls at 7:08 p. m., instead of at 7:35 p. m. as at present and will arrive in San Francisco 8:50 a. m., instead of 9:50 a. m. This adds a full hour to the business day.

A perfect pump will lift water 34 feet at sea level, but the practical limit is 22 feet. At 5000 feet elevation the water lift is reduced to about 18 feet.

RAY TIMES RACE

LONDON—The invisible ray of the photo-electric cell is to be used to time dog races at White City. The beam is focused across the winning line on a disc resembling a microphone, and the timing instrument, started by electrical contact from the starting trap, stops when the beam is broken by the head of the leading dog.
