

KLAMATH MAY HAVE TOURNEY

The honor of starting an annual Southern Oregon tennis tournament will probably go to Klamath Falls since tentative plans are under way for holding a tourney of this kind here July 4, 5 and 6. It was announced last night by members of the Klamath Falls Tennis club.

Medford, Ashland, Bend and Grants Pass players will probably participate in the event which will be held at Moore park courts. This will be the first tourney of this kind ever held in this section of the state.

Mayor T. B. Watters, speaking in behalf of the park board, stated last night that the board will cooperate in every way possible, and additional improvements will be made at the park before the tournament.

Many Notables To Attend Days of '49

Mayor T. B. Watters has received many letters from prominent persons throughout the state accepting the invitation of the mayor and the executive committee of the "Days of '49" celebration to attend the big event here July 3, 4, 5 and 6. "It looks now," the mayor stated, "like we will have a great many of our state officials here during the big show. Many of the letters received indicated that the guests plan to spend at least two of the four celebration days here."

New Law Partnership Started In Klamath

Hardin C. Blackmer, attorney of this city, formerly in the office of D. V. Kykendall, and Robert R. Rittenhouse, recent arrival from Oklahoma City, Okla., have formed a law partnership and have opened offices in the Loomis building. Rittenhouse has been a practicing attorney for 10 years and has wide experience in the practice of oil and gas law, coming from a state where the oil industry is the principal business. Mr. and Mrs. Rittenhouse are residing at 919 High street.

AT THE KLAMATH THEATRES

BESSIE LOVE, RAYMOND HACKETT and NANCY PRICE in "THE GIRL IN THE SHOW"

The fact that "The Girl in the Show," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking production which will open Sunday at the Pelican Theatre, presents a play within a play, and that, none other than the immortal "Uncle Tom's Cabin," offers something promisingly new in the way of picture entertainment and enables us to give an interesting parade of American dramatic statistics.

Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett, Frank Nelson and Mary Doran do not play all of the "Tom" show—scenes on the stage during a performance are interspersed with the backstage plot in "The Girl in the Show"—but they go far enough in their interpretations to give them a place in the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" honor roll.

Miss Love as "Little Eva" has as forerunners in the part Mary Pickford, Eva Tanguay, Francine Larrimore, Pearl White, Mrs. Edwin Booth, Mabel Taliaferro and Fay Templeton.

"Simon Legree" has been played by Theodore Roberts, John J. Sullivan and others, before Raymond Hackett, quite the youngest of all, plays it for the "Ed Bondell U. T. C." troupe of "The Girl in the Show."

Frank Nelson was preceded in the part of "Uncle Tom" by Wilton Lackaye, James K. Hackett, David Belasco, Denman Thompson and Joseph Jefferson.

Mary Doran's "Topsy" of "The Girl in the Show" is the latest of a line which includes Fred Stone, Laurette Taylor, Rose Melville ("Sis Hopkins") and Emma Dunn.

The romance of Hattie Hartley, fourth of her family to play "Little Eva," with Mal (Raymond Hackett), is woven into the dramatic plot with strong threads of comedy, concerned with the trials of a troupe stranded in Centralia, Kansas. Edgar Selwyn directed this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking picture. He sembled for Big 4 Film Corporation's all-dialogue western picture, "Beyond the Rio Grande," which is scheduled to play at the Pine Tree Theatre Sunday and Monday.

First and foremost in the lead is Jack Perrin—"Gentleman Jack" of the irresistible smile and the irresistible fist—wearing some of the most convincing looking plaid shirts you ever saw, and his white Arabian horse, Starlight, who is a star in his own right, having appeared in several starring vehicles including "Starlight the Untamed."

Mr. Perrin was for many years under contract to Universal and appeared in such westerns as "The Adorable Savage," "The Torrent," etc.

Then, there is Franklyn Farnum, also an ex-Universal favorite with a tremendous reputation on the stage, in the movies and in vaudeville, for his finished acting. Mr. Farnum will be remembered for his work in "The Drug Store Cowboy," "Billy the Kid," "So This Is Arizona," etc., among other things. He plays the heavy part.

Buffalo Bill, Jr., is also in the cast. His work as a star in productions named after him for Pathe is well remembered. "Roarin' Bronco" being one of the most amusing of them all. Bill is one of the finest horsemen in the cowboy world and is always sure to add a little thrill in riding action to his own.

Pete Morrison, an old rodeo star, is also in the cast as are Henry Roquemore, one time minstrel end man, musical comedy star, and Edmund Cobb, star of Universal western serials, and a member of the cast of "The Life of Buffalo Bill" and "Days of '49."

The leading lady is Charline Burt, a very pretty girl who is an excellent equestrienne and has appeared in a number of westerns. Her first talking picture experience was with Lupino Lane in "Buying a Gun." Emma Tansy, famous character woman and portrayer of mother roles, is also in the cast.

AT THE LIBERTY
Ken Maynard, the sea of action stars in his latest western feature for First National Pictures, "The Glorious Trail," is coming to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday. This is Maynard's most talked off picture. It combines all the elements of dramatic action with the famous stunts of the saddle for which this popular star is noted.

The story is an original written especially for Ken by Marlon Jackson and tells of the stringing of the first telegraph wires that connected the east with the west. While the story is historical in theme, it is one of the fastest and most thrilling pictures Ken has ever made. It is replete with action, stunts and novelties designed to hold an audience spellbound from the first flash to the final flicker.

The supporting cast includes Gladys McConnell, Les Bates, Jimmy Bradbury, Jr., Frank Hamey, Billy Franey and Chief Yoylache.

Kangaroo Court Session To Be Held Again This Evening

Bigger and even better is the announcement for the kangaroo court for 8 p. m. Saturday on the steps of the Elks temple. More police, more action and many more prisoners is the prediction of Chief of Police Dale Mattson and Assistant Chief Byron Teed.

The personnel of the court will remain the same except Judge Lloyd DeLap who has been recalled, on account of the many complaints of the prisoners who came before his bar. One of the chief complaints was that there was no foot rail in front of the judges' bar.

Other complaints also figured in his recall, such as inhuman treatment of the criminals who stood trembling before him.

The new judge for Saturday night, it is understood, slings a mean line of comedy well sprinkled with stiff fines. Those in the know claim that he too will last only one session as the customers are hard to please. The patrol wagon Saturday night will carry some of the most prominent men and women.

TED THYE WINS
WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 21 (AP)—Ted Thye, Portland wrestler, won from Al Karasick here last night, scoring a freakish fall over the Russian to decide the match. Karasick was apparently about to throw the Portlander over the ropes when he lost his balance and fell backwards into the ring with Thye. Thye pinned the Russian down for the second fall to win the match.
