ELECTRIC VIOLIN

LONDON.—An electric violin, the notes of which are amplified by radio tubes, is causing no little comment in music circles here. The violin has no sound box although there are four regulation strings. Where the violin is played amplifiers and transformers cause the tube circuits to emit perfectly pure tones of far greater volume than those produced by an ordinary violin.

HANDLESS POSTMASTER

BELL, Cal.—This town has a handless postmaster in Charles C. M. McGonigal, 34, a World War veteran. After losing his hands in the war, he returned to this country and secured his present position. With special device on his arms, he handles the mail, drives an automobile and performs other duties required of his position.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of July, 1930.

LLOYD L. PORTER, Notary Public. My commission expires August 17, 1931. (SEAL)
