Walsh Reservation Loses

The Walsh reservation was defeated on the first treaty roll call by a vote of 54 to 11.

Senators Reed republican, Pennsylvania, and Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, delegates to the London parley, argued that the reservations had no place in the treaty inasmuch as the construction of the ships was a purely domestic question. They have indicated they favored construction of the navy up to the size allowed by the treaty.

Ratification was urged during the day by Senators Wagner, New York and Thomas, Oklahoma, democrats.

Indications were that a vote might be had tomorrow. Opponents appeared tired and worn with the fight and the heat as temperatures seared record heights.

SENATE ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The work of the special session completed with ratification of the London naval treaty, the senate late today adjourned sine die.

East Main Grocer Opens New Store On South 6th St.

Three stores in three years is the record which George Bratton, well known Klamath merchant, has accomplished with the opening of his new store at 2243 South Sixth street on Saturday. The first store was opened three years ago on East Main, the second last year on Oregon avenue, and now the new modern market store is added to the list.

The new store is located in an attractive new stucco building, adjacent to the City Limits Service station, and is in charge of S. F. Perry.

General Market

The market will specialize in high quality fresh meats, and will carry a full line of smoked meats, delicatessen articles, vegetables and fruits in season, staples and other articles.

An investment of $6,000 is included in the stock and equipment.

"The public appreciates reasonable prices and quality plus service," Mr. Bratton stated. He also remarked that the high standard which the other two stores have set will be kept pace with.

An invitation to the public to visit the store was extended by Mr. Bratton.

Party Eatables Fatal to "Dingo," Valuable Canine

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 21. (AP)—Dingo, a husky dog who furnished the chief surprise at a recent surprise party incident to the return of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic crew, is dead.

Dingo belonged to Ensign Joseph DeGanahl, second in command of the supply ship Eleanor Bolling. Relatives and friends gave a surprise party for De Ganahl after his return. Dingo was an early, if uninvited, guest, and when the host went to the larder the cupboard was bare, Dingo having eaten the refreshments.

Shortly afterward he was stricken with distemper—not, it was believed, because of his feast—and he failed to recover.

Newells Find Hot Weather in South

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Newell who have arrived in their new home, Vicksburg, Miss., where Mr. Newell was transferred from here. A letter written to friends stated that the thermomter had reached 102 degrees on their arrival and very little relief obtainable.

Mr. Newell has been spending several weeks in western Oklahoma and northwestern Texas studying and investigating irrigation and flood control problems. Mrs. Newell recently had a narrow escape when the car in which she was sitting rolled down the cliff, turning over several times. She suffering bruises and cuts but is now recovered.

REASON FOR SPEED

BILLINGS, Mont.—Carrying one passenger who wished to arrive in St. Paul in time to be married, and another who desired to attend a dance in the same city Pilot George Hellett of the Mamer Air Transport Company, was inspired to such efforts that he established a new record for the line between Butte and Billings. He negotiated the 200 air miles in one hour and 15 minutes, or 25 minutes ahead of the regular schedule.

Klamath Tennis Team Defeated at Bend Tournament

The handicap of having the Klamath's No. 1, 2 and 3 ranking players out of the line-up at Bend Sunday proved too great and Bend emerged on the long end of the 17-3 score when the finals were computed.

The wins were scored by Huls and Sheehorn who each won their singles, and A. Austin with Lorraine Austin, who won their mixed doubles.

The Klamathites died game, however, fighting every game until the last point was played, but they were plainly outclassed by such players as Joe Dedericks, who is a member of the O. S. C. tennis team, Ken Ballantyne and Jack Glaser, a former University of Washington player.

Ballantyne took a hot 3 set match from Carter, 7-5, 7-9, 6-3. The Klamath team consisted of 7 men and 5 women.

Chinese tongues and several African dialects, told many interesting tales of the southland savages, among whom he has been living for many years.

"From my headquarters I can see, at almost any time, numerous heads of game.

"Most of the white men cannot penetrate deep enough into the mysterious primitive instincts of the savages, who have the cunning of wild beasts, to understand them clearly. Although most of them have not the intelligence of a 12 or 14 year old uneducated child, they are cunningly clever in bargaining with the few people they come in contact with, most of whom are Arab slave traders.

All Speak Swaheli

"There are innumerable tribes of these black men from the east coast to the west coast of Africa wit hthe old slave language, the Swaheli, running through from coast to coast. In nearly every tribe can be found one who can speak the language.

"Seventy per cent of the children born in those far lands die through superstitious practices. The laws and mysterious hoodoo superstitious practices of those natives are so imbedded in their minds that one cannot understand their natures. For instance, in case of death of a member of their family it is their custom to burn everything, including their humble hut, to the ground. To prevent this and to prevent further work, for they are the laziest people you can imagine, they take the sick person out into the woods, build a small fire enough to make him drowsy enough to fall asleep. The hyenas then destroy the body, pouncing upon the person before death comes."

Mr. Gilson tells many more of the superstitious practices of these tribes, which are almost unbelievable.

there will "curtains" fo several tonight.

Jack shook hands with Joe Bickstaff, local promoter, whom he has known for several years, received the press, and then with his manager went to the Arcade hotel, where he and his manager are stopping.

That he is still the greatest drawing card in fistic circles and the idol of nearly every ring fan in the nation is proven by the fact that wherever he referees a card the house is sold out with as many outside wanting in as there are inside.

It was stated this morning that there are yet some choice seats for the card tonight. Many times he has doubled the number which formerly was a "capacity house" in cities throughout the nation.

"That reminds me, I must call my wife," Jack said, just before he left his hotel room. Mrs. Dempsey is known by her screen name of Estelle Taylor. She is now in Long Beach, Calif.

Jack asked about the card tonight, and had words of praise for Klamath as a fight town and for giving support that allows such well known fighters to appear here.

"What will we use, flies?" he asked of Harry Poole. "Fine," he said o learning that was the lure, and then Jack and Harry left for a fishing trip.

Late today they will return, and tonight Jack will greet his fanfriends at Poole's Pelican theatre from the ring.

Later, perhaps, he'll be there—not as an official—but to bring the title back to the United States.

The body of Mrs. Anderson, 48, was on the living room floor, beside her lay the handax.

The beds of Anderson and his son had been set afire. The flames were put out before they had spread to any great extent.

Sheriff Urch and the chief of police said the position of the bodies and the weapons and the manner in which the three were killed indicated the two men were killed by the woman, who then took her own life. Larsen was held for further questioning.

Baldwin Catches New Variety Fish In Lake Waters

This is a fish story.

J. A. Gordon, Lloyd Porter and Martin Swansen returned last evening from Lakeview with a fabulous tale of a fish with two rows of teeth on its tongue, said to have been caught by Zim Baldwin, well known Lakeview man.

"Believe it or not, Zim has discovered a lake full of these vicious, strange fish, which in appearance, size and coloring resemble the Loch Laven trout, with the exception of the teeth," Mr. Porter commented, also stating that Mr. Baldwin had the fish on exhibition in Lakeview, where it was attracting much attention.

The teeth are used to a good purpose, too, according to the fishermen, who stated that the strange acquatic denizen bit fish hooks in two, and it took a strong wire leader in place of an ordinary leader, which his teeth also penetrated, to drag him. It was necessary to use pliers to remove the hook from the fish's mouth, in order to save the hands of the fishermen.

Second Week of Boy Scout Camp Opens Tomorrow

The second week of the boy scout camp will open on July 22. The load of boy scouts will leave the Odd Fellows building at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the lake, according to word brought back from Oscar Hoover, scout executive.

A record attendance is indicated. Eighty boys will be at the camp during the second week. J. W. Scoggins, scout leader, will be in camp during the entire period as director. A number of the others, including Rev. Joseph Ewing, Rev. Broyles and Arthur McGehey are planning to remain there for some time.

Craft Work Stressed

Instruction in craft work is being stressed this year in the camp. The scouts are being taught how to make many useful things from leather and wood.

Notice is again given to the parents and friends of the boys that mail can be addressed to the Scout Camp, Lake O' the Woods, Ore.

Registrations are being handled at the chamber of commerce in the absence of the executive.

Friend of Americans

Sir Edward was a leader in measures taken by the British for the comfort of American troops during the war. He was the organizer of the "Fireside Friendship" movement in England for the United States flying fighters.

The Marquis of Dufferin also was reported to have been a passenger on the plane.

Witnesses said there was a terrific roar. The wings separated from the cabin and the fuselage, containing the passengers, fell straight down while the other parts of the machine floated off some distance. One wing came to earth two miles from the scene of the crash.

The second pilot, whose name was believed to be Shearing, was one of the victims.

Traffic Heavy

The plane, all metal, did not catch fire. It was said the machine belonged to the Henderson Flying Bureau of which the dead pilot was head, and had been lent to the Walcot company as traffic from Le Touquet today was particularly heavy.

BUYERS TO HEAR NOTED MERCHANT

Portland Buyers' Week Promises Interesting Merchandising Program

Merchants and buyers who attend Portland's Buyers' Week this year will be afforded the rare treat of listening to and joining in the round table discussions on present-day merchandising led by Fred P. Mann, nationally celebrated merchandiser and a member of the Committee of Distribution of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Under the auspices of the Trade and Commerce Department of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, Portland's 18th Annual Buyers' Week is scheduled for the week of August 4th to 9th.

Merchants throughout the country, and particularly from the fourteen western states considered as Portland's logical market area, are invited to attend with the inducement of railroad fares refunded on a minimum purchase of $500.00.

As in the past, Max S. Hirsch, Executive Chairman, states it is expected that buyers from the farthest corners of the country, as well as Alaska and Hawaii, will be in attendance.

This year special buying opportunities have been arranged by the various Portland manufacturers and jobbers which, it is expected, will add greatly to the attendance of this already popular event. Style presentations, factory visits, merchandising conferences and an interesting program of entertainment for both the visiting merchants and buyers and their families are planned.

As stated above, an important feature of Portland's Buyers' Week this year will be the round table discussions under the leadership of Fred P. Mann, known throughout the country as a practical merchant and dynamic speaker on modern merchandising. Mr. Mann, whose general store in Devil's Lake, North Dakota, a city of 5,000 population, does a volume of business aggregating more than half a million dollars a year, is constantly in demand for events of the nature of Buyers' Week and is appreciated as much in the largest cities of the country as in the smallest.

The Buyers' Week Executive Committee considers itself very fortunate in having obtained Mr. Mann, as it is his first visit to the Pacific Coast and will be his only visit to the Northwest this year. The NATIONAL MAGAZINE says of him: "To read about Fred Mann is one thing, but five minutes after you have met him for the first time you understand why he keeps selling things. It is the idea uppermost in his mind. He forgets the word 'buy', for, as he insists, you must keep yourself, as well as the goods moving. . . . When you hear him talk you do not wonder at what he has accomplished, for he is a forceful speaker and believes that selling things is a necessary function for social development. He makes selling a gospel of good cheer and carries his message far and wide with the zeal and enthusiasm of a crusader."

Buyers' Week is open to attendance by all merchants and buyers regardless of whether or not they are affiliated with any merchants' organizations. All who contemplate attendance are requested to contact with Mr. E. N. Weinbaum, Manager of the Trade and Commerce Department of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, whose department will act as a "clearing house" for all inquiries and who will arrange hotel accommodations and other details.

The entertainment feature of Portland's Buyers' Week is one which always attracts widespread appreciation.

CONFLAGRATION CAUSES DAMAGE

the lumber of the Big Lakes Box company, located dangerously close to the burning piles, was not lost through fire although some of it was damaged through being charred and smoked until it will have to be recut and finished.

Two box cars of the Southern Pacific, in the Ewauna yards, being loaded, were destroyed and the icing platform of the company was damaged by the flames which swept almost the extreme north end of the yards to the S. P. rail lines.

Horses Taken From Barns

Horses in the barns of the Big Lakes mill were removed and all efforts were concentrated in wetting down the roofs and sides of the buildings which were blistered by the intense heat. Every available hose line in the city was being played on the fire which was almost under control by midnight.

Distribution plants of many of the major oil companies, located across from the Ewauna plant, were in danger at all times and the officials were using every precaution to prevent the fire from catching on the plants.

The fire was greater than that of two years ago, when the yard wasn't as heavily stocked. More lumber was destroyed than previously.

Thousands of people and hundreds of cars filled every available space to watch the flames.

Light Service Injured

The fire destroyed the power and light transmissions of the California Oregon Power company which carry the electric current to eastern and southern Klamath communities. Merrill, Malin, Tule Lake, Olene, Bonanza and Sprague River were left without lights until Sunday evening.

City traffic officers and police shut off the traffic on Sixth street during the fire and routed cars on Spring street as they came over the viaduct.

No one was injured either in the traffic, which was crowded, or in fighting the fire, it was learned.

EXCESS WEIGHT

Not Health Criterion Chiropractors' Claim

Rex Beach wrote a story entitled "Too Fat to Fight." It was about a persistent, plump individual who wanted to enlist in the army and who was turned down because of his excessive avoirdupois.

Too fat to fight? Life itself is a fight—a constant struggle for the prizes that go with efficient work. How many men—and women, too—are too fat to fight efficiently in the battle of life?

Excessive avoirdupois is disease. Any abnormal body condition is disease. All disease is removable—that is, the CAUSE of disease—is removable. And without cause there can be no disease.

The body of a man is a machine. It was never intended that this machine should be clogged up with excessive fatty tissue. When it is so hampered it is because the machine is not perfectly adjusted.

The motive power of the body machine is vital energy. The vital energy is transmitted, normally, to every body part along the nerve system.

Every standard text book on physiology will tell you that growth processes are under control of the trophic (nutrition) fibers of the nerves. When abnormal fatty tissue develops it is proof that vital energy is not being properly distributed by the nerves throughout the body.

If distribution was normal the body activities would be kept in normal bounds. There would be no excessive storing of fat. The excess would be dissolved and removed.

The science of Chiropractic concerns itself with adjusting the body machine to normal so that vital energy may be transmitted properly throughout the body. This is done by adjusting the bones of the spinal column so that they do not press against or pinch or squeeze the main trunk nerves as they branch away from the spinal cord. With pressure on nerves removed, vital energy is transmitted normally.

If you are "too fat to fight," have a Chiropractor adjust your body machine to normal. Of course, Chiropractic can not change the naturally plump and heavy set person to the slim and wiry type. But the tendency of Nature is toward a middle ground. You can get rid at the EXCESS fat by means of Chiropractic. You may still remain plump and well rounded.

Go to a Chiropractor today. Get your body back to normal.
