

IRON HORSES GROW BIGGER AND BETTER

Southern Pacific's Motive Power Doubles During Past 20 Years

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Good old Dobbin may be slow by passing from the picture as a modern beast of burden, but America's twentieth century "iron horses" are very much on the increase.

The giant steeds that snort and bellow over the railroads of the nation are not only greater numerically than they were twenty years ago, but are more powerful and enduring, according to a report issued here by J. H. Dyer, vice president of Southern Pacific Company, in charge of operations.

Whereas in 1910 this company owned 1,294 locomotives, the report shows it now operates 1,771 locomotives on the 3130 miles of its Pacific lines.

Tractive Power Increased
The increase in tractive power of the company's locomotives in the twenty-year period, however, was even more pronounced. Dyer's report shows that the largest of its rail giants of 1910 boasted a tractive power of 85,040 pounds, whereas the greatest of its "iron horses" of today has a tractive power of 112,760 pounds.

In 1910 the combined "engine power" of Southern Pacific's 1,294 locomotives was 37,526,000 pounds, as compared to the 1930 hauling capacity of its 1,771 locomotives, which is set at 78,284,750 pounds.

The longest regular through locomotive run on record is made daily by Southern Pacific's "4300 type" engines, hauling fast passenger trains the entire 357 mile journey between Los Angeles and El Paso, Texas.

Sodium Chlorate Spray Deals Death To Noxious Weed
Canadian Thistle is a serious noxious weed which has spread considerably in Klamath county in the last few years. Approximately a territory of 40 acres has been infested with this serious weed menace in this area.

Sodium Chlorate and alacide sprays were used by the County Agriculturalist, C. A. Henderson, in co-operation with a number of farmers in the late summer and fall of 1929. Demonstrations were carried on in co-operation with E. T. McKimmon of Olene, Brophy of Chiloquin, Clarence Walker of the Hancock farm in Langell Valley and R. S. Hopkins, superintendent of the Langell Valley irrigation district.

Campaign Successful
A check-up of the results obtained by these sprays shows that from 30 per cent to 100 per cent of the weeds have been killed. Three pounds of chemical to three gallons of water have proven to be an effective spray. Farmers who use this chemical solution find that best results are obtained from the infested area when sprayed from two to three times after the plants have come to full bloom.

The first spray should be applied in the latter part of July and the second about the 15th of August, and the last spray should be applied about the middle of September.

Second Station Wanted by City
Keith Ambrose has returned from Portland, where he conferred with the state fire marshal on the feasibility of establishing a second fire station in Klamath Falls.

Conferences were held with the fire marshal and the Oregon Insurance Rating bureau representatives, who will come to Klamath Falls within a few weeks to study the situation.

Prizes Offered For Best Story Of This Section

Stories on this section and other parts of Oregon for broadcast by the Empire Builders, a presentation of the Great Northern Railway, over a coast-to-coast network are being sought by radio station KGW, Portland, and prizes aggregating $500.00 will be paid for the three best stories. The contest will close October 1st.

The competition is open to amateurs and professionals as no technical knowledge of writing for the radio is required. The only requisite is that the story—which may be drama, melodrama, romance, adventure, comedy, or a combination of any of these—be entertaining, be adaptable for broadcasting and have as its locale sections of Oregon served by the Great Northern, Spokane, Portland & Seattle; Oregon Electric, or Oregon Trunk railways.

A pamphlet giving details and helpful suggestions to writers has been prepared by KGW. The prizes offered are first $250.00, second $150.00 and third $100.00.

HANGS FOR CRIME
SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Aug. 1. (AP)—Thomas Lebus, Ft. Bragg, Cal., woodsman convicted in Mendocino county of attacking and murdering 7-year-old Theresa Johnson was hanged today. He mounted the gallows at 10.02 and was pronounced dead 13 minutes later.

But on the legitimate stage he is equally incorrigible. He probably got his first talking picture assignment because he earned the reputation of an old soak in the recent musical show, "Rainbow." Long before that he was

TODAY IN KLAMATH'S THEATRES

AT THE PELICAN
Upright and law-abiding persons who see and hear Charles Ruggles in his second all-talking picture, "The Lady Lies," which comes to the Pelican theatre for a two-day run beginning today, and other persons who have seen him act previously may well shake their heads dolefully over Charles' career in the talkies.

First it was in Paramount's "Gentlemen of the Press" that Charley was fired from his job because he was an inveterate drunkard. Even after he lost his job Charley kept right on ploughing into the "laughing soup."

In "The Lady Lies," alas and alack-a-day, Charley is "drunk again!"
Now what about his real life record? Is he besotted and debauched?

"Never arrested yet, never picked out of the gutter, always able at least to take off my clothes and climb into 'beddy-hood' under my own power," says the virtuous Ruggles. "In fact," he adds, "if it is a press agent story, say I never drink at all."

AT THE LIBERTY
Antics of three women-fearing gobs make "Dames Ahoy," Universal comedy now at the Liberty theatre, one of the funniest pictures of the current season.

AT THE FOX
Russell Gleason, who plays a juvenile lead opposite Sally O'Neil, who with her sister Molly O'Day play the leads in "Sisters," the Columbia all-talking comedy drama now showing at the Fox theatre, is the son of James Gleason and Lucile Webster Gleason.

AT THE PINE TREE
"The Flirting Widow," First National and Vitaphone comedy, opens at the Pine Tree theatre today for a two-day engagement.

The production was adapted from A. E. W. Mason's "Green Stockings," a sophisticated comedy of manners which draws its characters from the English nobility. The story deals with a family of three daughters, the eldest of whom is unmarried and displays no inclination to enter the matrimonial estate. The girl's father declines to give his consent for the marriage of the youngest until the eldest is married.

The scheme to find a husband for the family's bachelorette supplies many farcical situations which are highlights of the picture.

Dorothy Mackall has the featured lead in "The Flirting Widow," with a supporting cast which includes Basil Rathbone, Lella Hyams, William Austin, Claude Gillingwater, Emily Fitzroy, Flora Bramley, Anthony Bushnell and Wilfred Nox.
