was attained. When headwinds buffeted her, the R-100 slowed down to 12 or 15 miles an hour, but rode steadily on under perfect control.

The time of crossing was approximately 57 hours. Cardington, despite the bad weather, turned out in force to greet the air adventurers. The R-100 dropped her mooring cable at 11:30 a. m., after circling the airframe and was fastened to her mast 12 minutes later.

It took an hour and 22 minutes to bring in the airship from the time it was sighted over the field. Lord Thompson, minister for air, greeted the home-comers at the top of the landing tower, after they had been examined by the customs officers. In entertaining the airship, Lord Thompson broadcast a speech and regular British Broadcasting company announcers were on the air with a continuous description of the arrival and mooring of the airship.

One tragic incident marred the return of the voyagers. Edward Lill, a prominent member of the Chipping, Solihury district council, fell dead while watching the R-100 as crew men tied her to the mast.

Most of the spectators dispersed with all formality and lay flat on their backs on the ground, the better to see what was going on above them.

Passengers and crew were unanimous in their belief that the trip had proved beyond question the feasibility of transatlantic commercial airship communication.

AIR PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

The aviation officials came by air, however, landing at a temporary flying field ten miles from camp, where the president's mail is delivered. Evidence of duplication in the government's air activities was understood to be a subject of the conference. The president recently referred to the bureau of efficiency for a study of the controversy of aerial coast defense, a service claimed by both the army and the navy.

S. P. Advertising Gets Recognition

Southern Pacific advertising again received public recognition when the company's exhibit was awarded a first place in the competition at the convention of the Pacific Advertising Clubs association, at Spokane, in June.

The competition included all forms of Pacific Coast advertising, the company's exhibit naturally being entered in the travel advertising section. A fine silver cup went with the award, the trophy being donated by the Western Auto Supply company. Southern Pacific's advertising was reorganized in 1927, and the material issued since that time has created much favorable comment. The campaign carried on in national magazines during the last three years has been considered one of the outstanding railroad advertising campaigns, and the local advertising in on-line territory has also attracted new and progressive lines.

Advertising was one of the factors in a fine passenger traffic showing of Pacific Lines last year, when an increase in traffic was enjoyed as compared with a decrease for most major railroads.

May Stock Upper Lake With Bass

The regular monthly meeting of the Klamath Sportsmen's association will be held at the chamber of commerce rooms Monday evening, August 18. Several matters of importance will be brought before the meeting, one of the chief subjects being the stocking of upper Klamath lake with bass.

This question has been before the sportsmen before and met with such determined resistance that advocates let it drop. It now appears that there is some reason for reviving the subject and it will be taken up at Monday's meeting. It is claimed that the upper lake is losing out as a trout haven and that in order to maintain its reputation as a fishing center some other breeds of fish will have to be planted. The matter will be threshed out at this meeting, which is scheduled to open at 8:00 o'clock.

Marriage License Bureau Kept Busy

Five marriage licenses have been issued during the past two days at the office of the county clerk in the court house.

Korret Winter, 24, lumberman, and Ella Ward, 21, were issued a license to wed. Both gave their address as Klamath Falls. Roy E. McCracken, 25, filer, and Bertha Carpenter, 21, waitress, both of Sprague River, also secured a marriage license. Arthur Piddler, 22, projectionist, and Vera Moore, 19, secured a marriage license late Friday afternoon and were married at midnight Friday.

Two couples secured licenses Saturday morning. They were Daniel E. Shumire, 21, laborer, and Margaret Dean, 18, both of Klamath Falls; and Hayden S. Shoemaker, 21, carpenter, and Ruby Knight, 22, nurse, both of Klamath Falls.

Grants Pass To Entertain Tennis Teams Tomorrow

At least five cars are going to Grants Pass Sunday, August 17th for the return inter-city tennis tournament with that city. Klamath won from the Pass boys and girls here two weeks ago, but on strange courts and after a long car ride will have a real battle on hand to score another victory. However, the Klamath team will enter the tourney with its strongest possible lineup and can be depended upon to put on a good exhibition.

Most of the Klamathites are driving over to the Pass Saturday after work and cabins are being reserved at a camp ground there so that all may bivouac together and Grants Pass has arranged a big picnic and a swim in the Rogue river.

that the terms of the deed or the bequest were carried out.

If the gift were made it is said efforts would be made to have the federal land department set aside permanent lanes leading to the water holes, since there is a growing tendency to surround the old watering places with the newly-permitted 640-acre homesteads.

Brown, as owner of the Wagon-tire springs, was always willing for the range stock to use them, but the stock were cut off when another citizen of the district surrounded the springs with homestead filings.

courts.

An unpaid note for $600 on commission.

Checks totalling $600 either

made payable to or endorsed in

A cancelled check for $500

Cancelled checks of $600 and $100 endorsed in the name of an

circuit court judge.

A ledger sheet which is headed

"period end, Nov. 12 inclusive"

shows receipts of $429,646.75

and net profits of $75,135.37.

Investigators believe this was the record for one week of the gambling

and bootlegging enterprises of the Zuta-Moran-Alieffo

syndicate.

One of the disbursements in this sheet — "East Chicago, $2500"—is believed to refer to

officials of the East Chicago police station. Names of various resorts in and near Chicago are listed with receipts as high as $123,598.76. One disbursement

of $1,454 to "George M. personal" is believed to have been made to George "Bugs" Moran,

one of the leaders of the gang.

The rest of Zuta's records will be made public only after they have been carefully investigated.

Patrick Roche, chief investigator, expressed belief the evidence will have a definite relationship to solving of the Lingie slaying. Zuta's death was considered by many a sequel to the reporter's and police have investigated under the theory that

Zuta, ally of Moran, plotted assassination of Lingie, a friend of Al Capone, Moran's arch

enemy.

"We have not gone far enough to be able to say how many more

will be hit before this mess is cleaned up," Roche said. "It's going to be too bad for some of those whose names are mentioned but we are going to push

this inquiry to a finish."
