

LOCAL CHAPTER WILL INITIATE MANY MEMBERS

Initiation of a large class of new members into the Mt. McLaughlin chapter of Knights of Columbus will be held Columbus Day, Sunday, October 12, stated George P. Donahue, grand knight of the council. The initiation will be concluded by a banquet at 7 o'clock in the parish hall.

All knights are expected to meet at the parish hall at 7:45 Sunday morning and march in procession to the church, where they will receive communion. Following the mass, the ladies of the Altar society will serve breakfast for all those desiring at the parish hall. All knights, relatives and friends are invited to the breakfast.

Three Degrees
The initiation will be held in the Odd Fellows hall at Fifth and Main streets. The first degree will be given at noon, the second at 1 o'clock. The Klamath Falls team will put on the first and second degrees. At 2 o'clock the third degree work will be put on by the Eugene team.

The banquet will be held at 7 o'clock in the parish hall, and will be served by the ladies of the Altar society. At the banquet State Deputy Loneragan will present District Deputy Carmody of Bend and Past Grand Knight Thalhofer of this council emblems for having the best district and council in the state.

Best Council
The Mt. McLaughlin chapter will be presented with a bust of Columbus for being the best council in the state jurisdiction. Reservations should be made through members of the Knights of Columbus.

WILL AUCTION COOKING RANGE

To the highest bidder!
That is the only restriction on sale of the $135.00 Full Automatic Westinghouse electric range used by Miss Helen Goodwin in her "model kitchen" at the Herald and News cooking school.

K. G. Klahn, local sales manager of the California-Oregon Power company, believes that so many women will be attracted to the Westinghouse after seeing Miss Goodwin work with it, that he will auction the range by sealed bids at the schools on Friday.

Each woman attending will be given a card, on which her bid is to be placed, and the bids will be put into a locked box. An impartial list of observers will inspect the bids and on Friday the range will go to some fortunate Klamath Falls woman.

Dining Rooms and Nooks Flourish In Modern Era of Hospitality

PERIOD EFFECTS ARE POPULAR; LIVELY WALLPAPER, CURTAINS AND DRAPES LEND CHEERFUL ATMOSPHERE TO ROOMS

First aid to hospitality is an attractive dining room or breakfast nook such as this. Modernistic polka-dotted red and white wallpaper and red and yellow plaid curtains with black glazed chintz valance, combine with a rag rug in red, yellow and brown, a seagrass table, open cupboard and a few maple comb-backed chairs to make a most inviting table. The cloth is red and yellow and the china yellow.

It is going to be stylish to entertain at home this winter. The new modish introduces hospitality as one of its winning aces.

That being said, dining rooms are bound to come into their own. For since time immemorial the high spot in entertaining at home has been to break bread. Many Americans no longer boast enough to have an honest to goodness dining room, table, buffet, a dozen chairs, serving tables and so on. Those that have are fortunate, for with such equipment there are infinite varieties of furniture on the market now.

But there is on reason why everyone, even apartment dwellers, cannot have a dining nook. Not a built-in nook. Rather a corner of the living room which can be made to assume the dignity of a dining room.

Cheerful Note Important
If you have a dining room, be sure it is dressed up just right for this winter. It should have some lively, yet simple design in its wall paper, or some pleasing tone to its tinted or painted walls, if they are not papered. Curtains and drapes are most important and some floor covering that adds cheerfulness to the room. Above all, a dining room should be cheerful as a first aid to appetite and digestion.

Period dining rooms are very popular right now. Combining pieces of this period and that is done and can be most effective when good taste has directed the composition of the room. Painted furniture is by no means passe and for the family of limited income it is a boon, since a few evenings' hard labor will be well repaid by the way your dining room takes on when done. For the dining nook, the task of furnishing must necessarily depend on what the rest of the living room has. If you have a preference for the modern but do not want to carry it too far, you can combine modern furnishings with simple line furniture of other periods and the result is excellent.

Casement Window Adds Touch
Such is the solution of a comfortable, cheery and most pleasing dining nook in the end of a large living room. The nook happens to boast a casement window, which helps the scheme immeasurably, since it can be curtained in the gay plaid of the rest of the room and yet look as if it was designed just for this corner.

The wall paper of the room is very new, a small intermitted polka dot in soft red on a rich cream background. The woodwork is all cream. The whole room goes in for hooked and handmade rag rugs, so this corner has its own rag rug that has reds in it. There is a gate leg table which folds up to stand demurely under the window, seemingly only a resting place for a few books and magazines. There is an open faced cupboard, with drawers for silver and linen at the side and its old porcelain and a few pieces of modern porcelain make it a decorative asset.

There is a Windsor chair and a couple of straight chairs and, when occasion demands, there are chairs of similar design to be brought from the bedrooms to accommodate additional guests.

In setting up the table in this cozy dining nook, you might use either plain damask or one of the new plaid linen cloths that is very modern and yet a bit old-fashioned too. With cream colored dishes, red crystal and a few cream candles, you can dress up a company table beautiful enough to please any guest. With little effort, the living room can be rearranged after the meal to look its own comfortable self.
